General Issues In The Study Of Medieval Logistics:

General Issues in the Study of Medieval Logistics John Haldon, 2006-01-01 Logistics is a central concern for military strategists but the study of logistics in the past entails far more than merely military aspects The study of resources and their production distribution and consumption in pre modern societies of road networks and communications and of transportation is an essential precondition so that the study of logistics is also the study of pre industrial social economic and spatial organisation This volume presents a series of papers dealing with the methodological technical and historical issues associated with the study of logistics in all its aspects and in particular demonstrates the value of modern computer modelling and of integrating archaeological historical and environmental research techniques and agendas into a common project

Logistics of Warfare in the Age of the Crusades John H. Pryor, 2006 How were the Crusades made possible This volume is the first to bring together experts from the fields of medieval Western Byzantine and Middle Eastern studies specifically to address the logistics of Crusading It deals with questions of manpower types and means of transportation by land and sea supplies financial resources roads and natural land routes sea lanes and natural sailing routes Of particular importance is the attention given to the horses and other animals on which transport of supplies and the movement of armies depended

Muslim Expansion and Byzantine Collapse in North Africa Walter E. Kaegi, 2010-11-04 This book investigates the failure of the Byzantine Empire to develop successful resistance to the Muslim conquest of North Africa , Beyond the Burghal Hidage John Baker, Stuart Brookes, 2013-03-27 As the title suggests Beyond the Burghal Hidage takes the study of Anglo Saxon civil defence away from traditional historical and archaeological fields and uses a groundbreaking interdisciplinary approach to examine warfare and public responses to organised violence through their impact on the landscape By bringing together the evidence from a wide range of archaeological onomastic and historical sources the authors are able to reconstruct complex strategic and military landscapes and to show how important detailed knowledge of early medieval infrastructure and communications is to our understanding of Anglo Saxon preparedness for war and to the siting of major defensive works within their wider strategic context The result is a significant and far reaching re evaluation of the evolution of late Anglo Saxon defensive arrangements Winner of the 2013 Verbruggen prize given annually by De Re Militari society for the best book on medieval military history

The Archaeology of Byzantine Anatolia Philipp Niewöhner, 2017 This book accounts for the tumultuous period of the fifth to eleventh centuries from the Fall of Rome and the collapse of the Western Roman Empire through the breakup of the Eastern Roman Empire and loss of pan Mediterranean rule until the Turks arrived and seized Anatolia The volume is divided into a dozen syntheses that each addresses an issue of intrigue for the archaeology of Anatolia and two dozen case studies on single sites that exemplify its richness Anatolia was the only major part of the Roman Empire that did not fall in late antiquity it remained steadfast under Roman rule through the eleventh century Its personal history stands to elucidate both the emphatic impact of Roman administration in the wake of pan Mediterranean collapse Thanks to Byzantine archaeology we now know that urban decline did not set in before the fifth century after Anatolia had already be thoroughly Christianized in the course of the fourth century we know now that urban decline as it occurred from the fifth century onwards was paired with rural prosperity and an increase in the number size and quality of rural settlements and in rural population that this ruralization was halted during the seventh to ninth centuries when Anatolia was invaded first by the Persians and then by the Arabs and the population appears to have sought shelter behind new urban fortifications and in large cathedrals Further it elucidates that once the Arab threat had ended in the ninth century this ruralization set in once more and most cities seem to have been abandoned or reduced to villages during the ensuing time of seeming tranquility whilst the countryside experienced renewed prosperity that this trend was reversed yet again when the Seljuk Turks appeared on the scene in the eleventh century devastated the countryside and led to a revival and refortification of the former cities This dynamic historical thread traced across its extremes through the lens of Byzantine archaeology speaks not only to the torrid narrative of Byzantine Anatolia but to the enigmatic medievalization

Archaeology and Urban Settlement in Late Roman and Byzantine Anatolia John Haldon,Hugh Elton,Jim Newhard,2018-11-22 Analyses the evolution of a provincial Byzantine urban settlement based on the results of an interdisciplinary collaborative project

Cavalry Jeremy Black,2023-08-30 An original and unique work that will fill a huge gap in the field of military history and be of interest to both scholars and general readers It is a picture of the universal role of cavalry in warfare from earliest times to the present and future This book covers the role of horses and essential mobility in shock action in warfare in the classical world in the major civilizations of China and India Steppe cavalry in the middle ages with Islamic and European conflict the social politics in Christendom with knightly valor and war with non Christian forces including the Muslim invasion of Europe Islamic Spain and conflict with the Mongols The early modern period covers the Asia and North Africa and the Ottomans a major field of warfare continuing up to the modern period and the time is notable for the introduction of horses in the Americas a new phase in cavalry history The modern period from Napoleon to the First World War is the history of the mobility of cavalry in European warfare and in imperial expansion and empire building but the concept of cavalry redundancy arises in the maelstrom of 1914 1918 with artillery bombardment trench warfare and the role of infantry The long transition period leading up the present and future is fascinating for both cavalry and infantry with the development of tanks and armor And here is a fascinating and original concept of cavalry transformation and not cavalry survivalism with modern and post modern development of drone warfare from horses to drones as a new cavalry for reconnaissance and combat

Local Economies? ,2016-04-26 The Roman economy was operated significantly above subsistence level with production being stimulated by both taxation and trade Some regions became wealthy on the basis of exporting low value agricultural products across the Mediterranean In contrast it has usually been assumed that the high costs of land transport kept inland regions relatively poor This volume challenges these assumptions by presenting new research on production and exchange within inland regions The papers supported by detailed bibliographic essays range from Britain to Jordan They reveal robust agricultural economies in many interior regions Here some wealth did come from high value products which could defy transport costs However ceramics also indicate local exchange systems capable of generating wealth without being integrated into inter regional trading networks The role of the State in generating production and exchange is visible but often co existed with local market systems Contributors are Alyssa A Bandow Fanny Bessard Michel Bonifay Kim Bowes Stefano Costa Jeremy Evans Elizabeth Fentress Piroska H rshegyi Adam Izdebski Luke Lavan Tamara Lewit Phil Mills Katalin Ottom nyi Peter Sarris Emanuele Vaccaro Agn s Vokaer Mark Whittow and Andrea Zerbinì

Visual Heritage in the Digital Age Eugene Ch'ng,Vincent Gaffney, Henry Chapman, 2013-12-04

Heritage is everywhere and an understanding of our past is increasingly critical to the understanding of our contemporary cultural context and place in global society Visual Heritage in the Digital Age presents the state of the art in the application of digital technologies to heritage studies with the chapters collectively demonstrating the ways in which current developments are liberating the study conservation and management of the past Digital approaches to heritage have developed significantly over recent decades in terms of both the quantity and range of applications However rather than merely improving and enriching the ways in which we understand and engage with the past this technology is enabling us to do this in entirely new ways The chapters contained within this volume present a broad range of technologies for capturing data such as high definition laser scanning survey and geophysical survey modelling including GIS data fusion agent based modelling and engaging with heritage through novel digital interfaces mobile technologies and the use of multi touch interfaces in public spaces The case studies presented include sites landscapes and buildings from across Europe North and Central America and collections relating to the ancient civilisations of the Middle East and North Africa The chronological span is immense extending from the end of the last ice age through to the twentieth century These case studies reveal new ways of approaching heritage using digital tools whether from the perspective of interrogating historical textual data or through the applications of complexity theory and the modelling of agents and behaviours Beyond the data itself Visual Heritage in the Digital Age also presents fresh ways of thinking about digital heritage It explores more theoretical perspectives concerning the role of digital data and the challenges that are presented in terms of its management and preservation

Routes and Roads in Anatolia from Prehistory to Seljuk Times Lutgarde Vandeput, Stephen

Mitchell, 2025-08-05 Turkey has always been a crossroads and therefore offers an ideal location to study interaction between individuals and human communities and societies through time Interaction has always necessarily involved movement which in turn did not occur randomly in the landscape but was instead focused on routes and roads that secured faster and easier connections There is substantial evidence that exchange networks already existed in Anatolia at least since the Neolithic period with goods traveling over long distances From the second millennium BC onwards textual evidence has improved understanding of traveling routes The Roman long distance road network has been a focus of research over decades but local roads and pathways around individual sites are still mostly unknown Byzantine roads have also received attention whereas the Seljuk road and routes system is less well known It is likely that the younger roads and routes are overlying older ones at least partially but these palimpsests of older roads are hardly researched In this volume experts from different disciplines using a variety of methods and approaches aim to transcend the present fragmentation of knowledge and create a new level of understanding of connecting road and route systems in Anatolia throughout time for the first time

Cyprus in the Long Late Antiquity Panayiotis Panayides, Ine Jacobs, 2023-01-24 Cyprus was a thriving and densely populated late antique province Contrary to what used to be thought the Arab raids of the mid seventh century did not abruptly bring the island's prosperity to an end Recent research instead highlights long lasting continuity in both urban and rural contexts This volume brings together historians and archaeologists working on diverse aspects of Cyprus between the sixth and eighth centuries They discuss topics as varied as rural prosperity urban endurance artisanal production civic and private religion and maritime connectivity The role of the imperial administration and of the Church is touched upon in several contributions Other articles place Cyprus back into its wider Mediterranean context Together they produce a comprehensive impression of the quality of life on the island in the long late antiquity

Turkish History and Culture in India, 2020-08-17 This interdisciplinary volume addresses the history literature and material culture of peoples of Turkish origins in India over the eleventh to eighteenth centuries Although many ruling dynasties and members of the elite in this period claimed Turkish descent this aspect of their identity has seldom received much scholarly attention The discussion is enriched by a focus on connections and comparisons with other parts of the broader Turko Persian world especially Anatolia Although discussions of Turkish Muslim rulers in India take account of their Central Asian origins and connections links with Anatolia stretching back to the medieval period were also important in the formation of Turkish society and culture in India and have been much less explored in the literature The volume contains contributions by some of the leading scholars in the field

The Limits of Universal Rule Yuri Pines, Michal Biran, Jörg Rüpke, 2021-01-21 The first comparative study to explore the dynamics of expansion and contraction of major continental empires in Eurasia
