Generally Speaking Sandra Shores Brown, 2013-08-08 Behind me stretch four generations of military lives This book is for the most part the story of my life as the daughter of a two star general and the wife of a three star general It recounts the fascinating lands I was either fortunate enough to reside in or visit and as an adult I went into these civilizations and continents with fire in my belly to capture the cultures the landscape and the people with my two Nikons hanging off my neck Even after retirement it was hard to shed my peripatetic life style so I went to China Bali Kuala Lumpur and Singapore It's a story about doing the best you can with the cards you are dealt about making your way through difficult moments and supporting your children and your husband and keeping it all together The military is not an easy life but it is a good one And I do not hesitate to recount some of the more wretched events For the most part it has been a charmed life I write about unique incidents having a gun fired at my car on an early morning trip to the airport in Bangkok Of a shoot out in a Pamplona Spain square and of being reunited with a childhood friend in Oslo Norway then a young prince and at the time of the visit the Crown Prince and now the King During our two year Italian Odyssey we received a letter from the Countess Chinigo of Ravello for a dinner at her villa above the Amalfi Coast We did not answer But on the second effort we did and thus visited her numerous times in her little gem of a villa I was a lucky lucky woman Generally Speaking Madeline J. Smith,Kristen L. Tarantino,2019-07-29 This extensive overview first surveys the history of general education in the United States It discusses how the recommendations of stakeholder groups have shaped general education in recent decades Subsequent chapters detail best practices and findings in the assessment of student learning as it relates to the general education curriculum across institutional types The discussion then turns to the larger impact of general education on culture and society as students navigate life beyond the undergraduate experience The final chapters will provide insight into how various institutions are innovating through the general education curriculum as well as a discussion on the keys to maintaining the relevancy of this curriculum throughout the 21st century and beyond Perfect for courses such as Assessment of Student Learning Higher Education Administration Academic Issues in Higher Education Introduction to Foundations of Higher Education Generally Speaking Eviatar Zerubavel,2021 In this invitation to concept driven sociology defying the conventional split between theory and methodology as well as between quantitative and qualitative research Eviatar Zerubavel introduces a yet unarticulated Simmelian method of theorizing specifically designed to reveal fundamental often hidden social patterns Insisting that it can actually be taught he examines the theoretico methodological process revolving around the epistemic and analytical acts of focusing generalizing exemplifying and analogizing by which concept driven researchers can distill generic social patterns from the culturally historically and domain specific contexts in which they encounter them empirically Disregarding conventionally noted substantive variability in order to uncover conventionally disregarded formal commonalities Generally Speaking draws on cross cultural cross historical cross domain and cross level analogies in an effort to reveal formal parallels across disparate contexts Using numerous examples from culturally and historically diverse contexts and a wide range of social domains while also disregarding scale Zerubavel thus introduces a pronouncedly transcontextual generic sociology Exploring the Nature, Content, and Frequency of Intrapersonal Communication Thomas M. Citizen Support for Democratic and Autocratic Regimes Marlene Mauk,2020-04-30 Citizen Support for Democratic and Autocratic Regimes takes a political culture perspective on the struggle between democracy and autocracy by examining how these regimes fare in the eyes of their citizens Taking a globally comparative approach it studies both the levels as well as the individual and system level sources of political support in democracies and autocracies worldwide The book develops an explanatory model of regime support which includes both individual and system level determinants and specifies not only the general causal mechanisms and pathways through which these determinants affect regime support but also spells out how these effects might vary between the two types of regimes It empirically tests its propositions using multi level structural equation modeling and a comprehensive dataset that combines recent public opinion data from six cross national survey projects with aggregate data from various sources for more than 100 democracies and autocracies It finds that both the levels and individual level sources of regime support are the same in democracies and autocracies but that the way in which system level context factors affect regime support differs between the two types of regimes The results enhance our understanding of what determines citizen support for fundamentally different regimes help assessing the present and future stability of democracies and autocracies and provide clear policy implications to those interested in strengthening support for democracy and or fostering democratic change in autocracies Comparative Politics is a series for researchers teachers and students of political science that deals with contemporary government and politics Global in scope books in the series are characterised by a stress on comparative analysis and strong methodological rigour The series is published in association with the European Consortium for Political Research For more information visit www.ecprnet.eu The series is edited by Susan Scarrow Chair of the Department of Political Science University of Houston and Jonathan Slapin Professor Department of Political Science University of Zurich

Federal Railroad Administration,1920 Assessing Attention-Deficit/Hyperactivity Disorder Arthur D. Anastopoulos,Terri L. Shelton,2005-12-27 Over the past two decades the assessment of Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder AD HD has evolved into a sophisticated balance of science and clinical judgement essential for arriving at reliable and valid diagnostic de sions Because of the precarious mix of clinical and empirical skill needed to evaluate children with this disorder diagnostic practice in this area has been found wanting by many critics In fact a 1998 National Institutes of Health consensus panel concluded that existing diagnostic treatment practices point to the need for improved awareness by the health service sector conce ing an appropriate assessment treatment and follow up A more consistent set of diagnostic procedures and practice guidelines is of utmost importance p 21 Drs Arthur D Anastopoulos and Terri L Shelton have designed a book that addresses this need A number of themes are highlighted throughout the text Perhaps the most important is that the assessment guidelines set forth in this book represent a balance between science and practice The authors account for the realities of clinical practice in an age of managed care while challenging clinicians to heed the lessons of empirical research Although the use of empirically based assessment procedures may at times fly in the face of cost constraints e g systematic evaluation of medication effects the authors present a strong argument for them Further they call upon their vast clinical experience to provide concrete suggestions for translating research findings into effective evaluations Reports from Select Committees of the House of Commons, and Evidence, Communicated to the Lords Great Britain.
