Women and National Socialism in Postwar German Literature Katherine Stone, 2017 In recent years historians have revealed the many ways in which German women supported National Socialism as teachers frontline auxiliaries and nurses as well as in political organizations In mainstream culture however the women of the period are still predominantly depicted as the victims of a violent twentieth century whose atrocities were committed by men They are frequently imagined as post hoc redeemers of the nation as the rubble women who spiritually and literally rebuilt Germany This book investigates why the question of women's complicity in the Third Reich has struggled to capture the historical imagination in the same way It explores how female authors from across the political and generational spectrum Ingeborg Bachmann Christa Wolf Elisabeth Plessen Gisela Elsner Tanja Döckers Jenny Erpenbeck conceptualize the role of women in the Third Reich As well as offering innovative readings of celebrated works this book provides instructive interpretations of lesser known texts that nonetheless enrich our understanding of German

German Literature in a New Century Katharina Gerstenberger, Patricia Herminghouse, 2008-10-01 While the first decade after the fall of the Berlin wall was marked by the challenges of unification and the often difficult process of reconciling East and West German experiences many Germans expected that the new century would achieve normalization The essays in this volume take a closer look at Germany's new normalcy and argue for a more nuanced picture that considers the ruptures as well as the continuities Germany's new generation of writers is more diverse than ever before and their texts often not only speak of a Germany that is multicultural but also take a more playful attitude toward notions of identity Written with an eye toward similar and dissimilar developments and traditions on both sides of the Atlantic this volume balances overviews of significant trends in present day cultural life with illustrative analyses of individual writers and texts

Parting Ways Stephen F. Szabo, 2004-09-30

Germany and the United States entered the post 9 11 era as allies but they will leave it as partners of convenience or even possibly as rivals The first comprehensive examination of the German American relationship written since the invasion of Iraq Parting Ways is indispensable for those seeking to chart the future course of the transatlantic alliance In early 2003 it became apparent that many nations including close allies of the United States would not participate in the U S led coalition against Iraq Despite the high profile tension between the United States and France some of the most bitter opposition came from Germany marking the end not only of the German American special relationship but also of the broader transatlantic relationship s preeminence in Western strategic thought Drawing on extensive research and personal interviews with decisionmakers and informed observers in both the United States and Germany Stephen F Szabo frames the clash between Gerhard Schr der and George W Bush over U S policy in Iraq in the context of the larger changes shaping the relationship between the two countries Szabo considers such longer term factors as the decreasing strategic importance of the U S German relationship for each nation in the post cold war era the emergence of a new German identity within Germany itself and a U S foreign policy led by what is arguably the most ideological administration of the post World War II era

Germans Going Global Anke S. Biendarra, 2012-10-30. Germans Going Global is the first monograph in English to address in depth the interrelatedness between contemporary German literature and globalization. In an interdisciplinary framework and through detailed readings of a wide variety of texts, the study shows how the challenges globalization has posed for Germany over the last two decades have been manifested and reimagined in aesthetic production. Analyses of the literary marketplace and public debates illuminate the more material sides of this development. The study also analyzes the ways in which German language writers born between 1955 and 1975 such as Christa Kracht, Th. Meinecke, J. Hermann, S. Berg, F. Illies, K. R. Ggla, J. v. D. ffel and G. Hens respond to the pressures of globalizing factors and how these have influenced notions of authorship and literary aesthetics. It shows how narratives dealing with the neoliberal work world, global travel and the aftermath of 09/11 implicitly comment on contemporary debates on globalization, its socio-economic nature and the impact for local culture. By presenting a literary history of the present, Germans Going Global deepens the reader's understanding of contemporary Germany and its cultural production.

Kirche zwischen Auftrag und Bedürfnis Cla. Reto Famos, 2005. Generations in Twentieth-Century Europe Stephen Lovell, 2007-09-26. The concept of generation is ubiquitous in common parlance and public discourse; it is used to explain family relationships, consumer preferences, political change and much else besides. But how can generation be used by historians? Do generations really exist or are they constructed and manipulated by social and cultural elites? In pursuit of answers to these questions, this book ranges from World War I to the baby boomers and from Spain to the Soviet Union.

Ethical Approaches in Contemporary German-language Literature and Culture Emily Jeremiah, Frauke Matthes, 2013. Building on a long tradition in German language literature and culture, this volume focuses on contemporary engagements with ethical concerns in literary texts, essays and films. There has been an ethical turn in the literature, culture and theory of recent years. Questions of morality are urgent at a time of increasing global insecurities. Yet it is becoming ever more difficult to make ethical judgments in multicultural, relativist societies. The European economic meltdown has raised further ethical difficulties, widening the gap between rich and poor. Such divisions and difficulties heighten the widespread fear of the other in its various manifestations. And in the German context, especially, the past and its representation offer ongoing moral challenges.

These ethical concerns have found their way into recent German language literature and culture in texts that deal with history and memory Timm Petzold Schoch Strubel materiality Krau Overath gender Berg Schneider age and generation Moster Pehnt Schalansky religion especially Islam Senocak Kermani Ruete and nomadism Tawada The relationship between self and other the connection between particular and general the personal and political consequences of individuals actions and the potential and danger of representation itself are issues that are vital to the shaping of our future ethical landscapes as this volume demonstrates Contributors Monika Albrecht Angelika Baier David N Coury Anna Ertel Tilmann Kppe Emily Jeremiah Alasdair King Frauke Matthes Aine McMurtry Gillian Pye Kate Roy Emily Jeremiah is Senior Lecturer in German at Royal Holloway University of London Frauke Matthes is Lecturer in German at the University of Edinburgh

German Literature in the Age of Globalisation Stuart Taberner, 2004-11-01 Literary fiction in Germany has long been a medium for contemplation of the nation and questions of national identity From the mid 1990s in the wake of heated debates on the future direction of culture politics and society in a more normal united country German literature has become increasingly diverse and seemingly disparate at the one extreme it represents the attempt to reinvent German traditions at the other the unmistakable influence of Anglo American forms and pop literature A shared concern of almost all of recent German fiction however is the contemporary debate on globalisation its nature impact and consequences for local culture In its engagement with globalisation the literature of the Berlin Republic continues the long established practice of reflection on what it is to be German This book investigates literary responses to the phenomenon of globalisation The subject is approached from a wide range of thematic and theoretical perspectives in twelve chapters which taken together also provide an overview of German fiction from the mid 1990s to the present The book serves both as an introduction to contemporary German literature for university students of German and as a resource for scholars interested in culture and society in the Berlin Republic
