Advertising in a Changing China Frank Bittner, 2007 Since the introduction of economic reforms and an open door policy in 1978 China has been proclaimed as the emerging powerhouse of the twenty first century The Chinese market s attractiveness to international marketers has also received significant boost as a result of the country s admission into the World Trade Organization WTO Accordingly advertisers look at China and perceive tremendous opportunity in 1.3 billion Chinese consumers which represents one fifth of the world population in what is called the world s largest market Being viewed as a new frontier for consumer good investment does not mean that advertising in China is simple On the contrary many Western business firms which have invested their capital into Chinese businesses have suffered setbacks or even failure Thus it is important to understand that despite the dramatic impact of economic reform and the drive for modernization over the past two decades the Chinese market has many special characteristics that make it a challenging place in which to do business including making advertising in this market This book examines the key barriers constraints that foreign firms should be mindful of in order to develop a viable advertising strategy in a changing China in which abundant opportunities await those that can fulfill it

Market Entry Strategies in Eastern Europe in the Context of the European Union Michael Klug, 2007-11-03 There are many reasons why firms decide to extend their business operations by entering foreign markets Whether it is a defensive step aimed at avoiding the consequences of saturating domestic markets or an offensive strategy based on the expectations of unusual profits the most common market entry drivers are widely discussed and understood What remains open is the most intriguing question of the selection of a particular market entry mode and the factors determining the right choice On a theoretical ground the problem may be reduced to the issue of how many links of the Value Chain should be moved abroad in the process of international expansion In practical terms the choice of a market entry mode means a set of decisions taken in each particular case of a firm going international The complexity of the task involves many different areas like the amount of risk the scope of control the level of capital involvement and financial efficiency This is one of the reasons why there is no universal theory explaining the optimal way of making a successful market entry The multitude of views on this subject does not make the question easier International Marketing Klaus Backhaus,Joachim Büschken,Markus Voeth,2017-03-24
