Exports, Trade Policy and Economic Growth in Eras of Globalization Edward M. Feasel, 2018-06-13 This book provides an excellent resource for understanding the forces in international trade liberalization over two centuries that have brought us to this point where the successes, setbacks, and the countervailing forces now vie for the public's mind and support the outcome of which will determine the future progress of increased globalization or lack thereof. The book also examines whether trade policy has indeed promoted exports in the vast number of countries which increasingly look to trade agreements to gain a competitive edge and to what extent export-driven growth has been an important force in advancing economic development around the world. In doing so, the book examines one of the most controversial issues in economic development: the promotion and significance of export-led growth.

The Politics and the Economics of Integration in Asia and the Pacific Shiro Armstrong, 2011-11-03 The shape of economic integration in the global and regional economies and the extent to which goods, services, and factors of production move more or less freely across borders depends not only upon underlying economic conditions but also upon politics. Whether integration is market-led as has been the case in Asia or institution-led as in Europe, there are political elements that affect all forms of regional and international economic integration. While geopolitics influences international economic integration, so too does domestic politics. Economic integration in Asia has been driven by rapid unilateral trade and investment liberalization, and while trade and investment patterns have been determined largely by comparative advantage, political forces have also affected patterns of economic interdependence. The form that regional institutions take and their effectiveness also depends on political relations between countries. The particular circumstances in Asia and the relationships between regional economies have profoundly shaped regional institutions and will continue to do so. The chapters in this volume draw on papers originally presented to the 33rd Pacific Trade and Development Conference held in Taipei in 2009 to look in original ways at how politics shape economic integration and its various dimensions in Asia and the Pacific and globally.
