Just Capitalism Brent Waters,2016-10-01 Just Capitalism is a Christian moral defense of economic globalization as a system that is well suited to provide the necessary material needs that are prerequisite for human community and flourishing Global based market exchange offers the development and distribution of the goods of creation for humans to enjoy and share Globalization also offers the most realistic and promising way of exercising a preferential option for the poor Waters argues that economic globalization and thus capitalism is a necessary condition for sustaining human life but not a sufficient condition for enabling human flourishing Even though globalization is generally compatible with Christian theological and moral claims and can realistically facilitate the well being of the human family it must be reoriented toward koinonia human community communication fellowship as the global economy s primary goal in order to help

actualize human flourishing Readers will gain insight about how economic globalization and thus capitalism is good for the human family and can be made better by certain reorientations that are compatible with Christian moral values Waters provides a mature and civil counterargument against knee jerk condemnations of economic globalization and capitalism

Non-Governmental Organisations in International Law Anna-Karin Lindblom,2005 Even when governments have no democratic basis they are regarded as the sole representatives of their populations on the international plane and take important decisions on their behalf It is therefore important that other voices can be heard in international fora alongside governments NGOs have an increasingly important legal and political role and use several different avenues for their work such as lodging cases before international courts and other bodies and participating in international meetings and conferences This book explores these possibilities for the participation of NGOs in international law Victims, Atrocity and International Criminal Justice Rachel Killean,2018-07-03 While international criminal courts have often been declared as bringing justice to victims their procedures and outcomes historically showed little reflection of the needs and interests of victims themselves This situation has changed significantly over the last sixty years victims are increasingly acknowledged as having various rights while their need for justice has been deployed as a means of justifying the establishment of international criminal courts However it is arguable that the goals of political and legal elites continue to be given precedence and the ability of courts to deliver justice to victims remains contested This book contributes to this important debate through an examination of the role of victims as civil parties within the Extraordinary Chambers in the Courts of Cambodia Drawing on a series of interviews with civil parties court practitioners and civil society actors the book explores the way in which both the ECCC and the role of victims within it are shaped by specific political economic and legal contexts examining the gap between the legitimising value of the imagined victim and the extent to which victims are able to further their interests within the courtroom Democracy's Deep Roots S. Schneider,A. Hurrelmann,Zuzana

Krell-Laluhová,F. meier,Achim Wiesner,2015-12-11 Does the democratic nation state remain a legitimate regime form in the current age of globalization This book uses a novel analytical approach to probe this topical question drawing on a comparative study of legitimization discourses in the media of four Western democracies Switzerland Germany Britain and the United States Government-Nonprofit Relations in Times of Recession Rachel Laforest,2016-04-24 Government Nonprofit

Relations in Times of Recession brings together contributions by international scholars to examine how the relationships between governments and nonprofit organizations have shifted as a result of the global recession Each chapter provides a detailed analysis of the impact of the recession on government operations and on the nonprofit sector It is essential reading for academics and practitioners interested in the current policy agendas with regard to the nonprofit sector This book is the sixth volume to emerge from the Public Policy and Third Sector Initiative in the School of Policy Studies at Queen's University and is based on the Tenth Annual National Forum of the Initiative which brought together public servants experts and practitioners to discuss the evolution of government nonprofit relations Contributors include Nicholas Acheson University of Ulster John Butcher Australian National University John Casey City University of New York Gemma Donnelly Cox Trinity College John A Healy Atlantic Philanthropies Rachel Laforest Queen s University Barbara Levine Carleton University Carmen Parra University Abat Oliba Ceu Colin Rochester University of London Bj rn Schmitz University of Heidelberg Steven Rathgeb Smith American University The University of Washington Marilyn Taylor University of London Evren Tok Hamad Bin Kkalifa University and Meta Zimmeck Roehampton University The End of Sovereignty? Transatlantic Policy Consortium. Annual Colloquium,2006 The second volume of the Transatlantic Public Policy Series comprises contributions by members of the Transatlantic Policy Consortium TPC The 17 provocative contributions focus on the concept of internal and external sovereignty which is critical on both sides of the Atlantic It is not easy to articulate the domain and limits of the state s control of its resources its capacity to coerce activities within its borders its powers to treat other states as co equals across a border or even implement its own defense trade or regulatory policies The volume provides a unique insight into these problems from a European and US perspective The Oxford Handbook of Civil Society Michael Edwards,2013-07-04 Broadly speaking The Oxford Handbook of Civil Society views the topic of civil society through three prisms as a part of society voluntary associations as a kind of society marked out by certain social norms and as a space for citizen action and engagement the public square or sphere
