Globalisation Domestic Politics And Regionalism The Asean Free Trade Area:

Globalisation, Domestic Politics and Regionalism Helen E.S. Nesadurai, 2003-09-02 This book examines the relationship between globalisation and regionalism through a detailed analysis of the ASEAN Free Trade Area AFTA project. It analyses how the interaction between globalisation and domestic politics shaped the evolution of AFTA over the past 10 years, arguing that although AFTA was triggered primarily by the pressures of globalisation, it was a tussle between the imperatives of growth and domestic distribution that shaped the way economic cooperation unfolded and the forms it took.

Regionalism and Globalization in East Asia Mark Beeson, 2017-08-24 This book examines the distinctive evolution of the political and economic relationships of East Asia. It does this by placing East Asian development in the unique historical circumstances that have underpinned its rise to power over the last few decades. This detailed analysis provides the basis for an assessment of a unified East Asian region.

Global Politics of Regionalism Mary Farrell, Björn Hettne, Luk Van Langenhove, 2005-08-20 This book explores the phenomenon of regionalism. In a seeming contradiction to globalization, there is a growing tendency for countries to enter into regional arrangements as a response to the pressures of operating in a global marketplace. But regionalism is also emerging as a phenomenon in its own right, serving distinct purposes and taking different forms in different areas. The contributors explore how these patterns impact on wider issues such as global governance, democracy, and trade. The book reviews the major theoretical approaches to regional cooperation, including perspectives from international relations, political economy, economics, and sociology. It is divided into three main sections: theoretical approaches to regionalism; issues of regional cooperation such as security, monetary issues, identity, and integration; and an exploration of specific case studies including the Middle East, Africa, the Americas, China, Europe, Asia, and the Pacific. With an international range of contributors including Björn Hettne, Louise Fawcett, and Andrew Hurrell, this in-depth and multi-disciplinary guide will be of interest to students across the social sciences and to the wider policy community.

The Contested Rescaling of Economic Governance in East Asia Shahar Hameiri, Jeffrey D. Wilson, 2017-10-02 One of the apparent contradictions which has puzzled observers of East Asian politics is why, despite the region's considerable economic integration, economic governance institutions remain largely underdeveloped. This book stems from the observation that the study of actual forms of economic governance in Asia has been impeded by the dominance of a regionalism problematique. Scholars have focused on the emergence or not of regional multilateral institutions, seeking to evaluate these institutions' capacities to enforce disciplines on Asian states. However, they have also neglected prior and more pertinent questions regarding the causal determinants of regional economic governance.

which animate the contributions to this collection What factors shape the scale and instruments of economic governance in Asia and how and why is economic governance being rescaled between the sub national national and regional levels In the chapters of this book the contributors explore the social and political struggles over the scale and instruments of economic governance They identify and explain the emergence of a wide variety of regional modes of economic governance explain the factors shaping the spatial scale of economic governance in Asia and discern the patterns of regional integration to which they give rise This book was originally published as a special issue of the Australian Journal of International Affairs
