Globalisation Human Rights And Labour Law In Pacific Asia:

Globalisation, Human Rights and Labour Law in Pacific Asia Anthony Woodiwiss, 1998-04-30 Anthony Woodiwiss's pathbreaking book was the first substantive contribution to a sociology of human rights. In it, he takes up the question of whether so-called Asian values are compatible with human rights discourse and argues against human rights issues being the major obstacle to East-West co-operation. Dr Woodiwiss's sociological and post-structuralist approach to the concept of rights and his incorporation of the transnational dimension into sociological theory enable him to demonstrate how the global human rights regime can accommodate Asian patriarchy while Pacific Asia is itself adapting by means of what he calls enforceable benevolence. His studies of Hong Kong, the Philippines, Malaysia, and Singapore highlight similarities between Pacific Asian and Western societies and offer a positive view of the social forces obtaining in these territories. Law and Labour Market Regulation in East Asia Sean Cooney, Tim Lindsey, Richard Mitchell, Zhu Ying, 2003-08-29 This edited collection examines the labour laws of seven industrializing East Asian societies: China, Indonesia, Malaysia, South Korea, Taiwan, the Philippines, and Vietnam, and discusses the variation in their impact across the whole region. Leading scholars from each country consider both laws pertaining to working conditions and industrial relations and those that regulate the labour market as a whole. Legislation concerning migrant labour, gender equality, employment creation, and skills formation is also examined. Adopting their own distinct theoretical perspectives, the authors trace the historical development of labour regulation and reveal that most countries in the region now have quite extensive frameworks. This book will be particularly useful to people interested in the place of labour law and law in general in contemporary East Asian societies. Law and Society in East Asia Christoph Antons, 2017-07-05 The massive and complex process of change in East Asia over recent decades has brought about a transformation in the nature of law and legal institutions in the region. Whilst the process of change has to some degree mimicked western models of law and legal change, there have been significant differences in approach due to the different social foundations of East Asian societies. The more obvious of these has been the variety of ways in which rule of law ideas have been adopted in many East Asian countries where the role of the state is more dominant when compared with Western models. This volume brings together a selection of the most important writings on East Asia of researchers in recent years and shows the broad range of questions which researchers have been addressing about the effect of law reform and legal change in societies dominated by traditional values and political forces and at a time of massive economic change. Employment Relations in the Asia-Pacific Region Peter Holland, Julian Teicher, Richard Gough, 2013-09-13 This book focuses on new developments in employment in Asia. The context for this discussion is provided by the processes of globalisation and the associated debate on labour standards. Individual chapters focus on issues such as the role of NGOs as surrogate unions, employment regulation in export processing zones, social protection, and the impact of political reform on the employment relationship. This volume was previously published as a special issue of the journal Asia helps pluralise the rule of law as a universal principle which moderates power and may be variously implemented The book examines the reception of the rule of law within the Singapore legal order and how it interacts with constitutional principles like the separation of powers and democracy in the design of constitutional institutions and forging of structural and rights oriented judicial review It considers how the rule of law contoured by legal communitarianism sustains a managed democracy in relation to legislation governing internal security public assemblies religious harmony and online falsehoods It questions whether the chilling of political speech by strict laws on political defamation and contempt of court has been significantly defrosted by important developments which seek ordered liberty through a more calibrated form of review Lucid and engaging this book will be of interest to researchers working in constitutional law Welfare Capitalism in East Asia I.
