Educational Enactments in a Globalised World, 2009-01-01. Acrylic oil, glue stick, and layered canvas, 1830 x 2075. Collection of the artist. What does it mean to learn and educate in these social and historical times? This edited collection engages an international group of education thinkers in a series of ongoing intercultural conversations that speak to the challenges and possibilities of engaging with education, difference, and diversity in a globalised world. Shifting across a range of geographical, theoretical, institutional, and disciplinary contexts, the contributors identify in their own empirical and theoretical research work examples of localised solutions to the problems of diversity for the practice of education. These educational enactments illustrate the interactions of localised and global level discourses within contexts of educational policy and practice and allow an exploration of how abstract notions of education are applied through education as a practice and/or subjective experience. Mindful of the structural limitations imposed by the regime of globalisation, the book explores the challenges and the agentive possibilities of working across cultural and material boundaries and provides multiple venues in which to transcend the limitations of addressing educational issues through a single lens. Engaging with both the challenges and the complexities of intercultural conversations in relation to issues of diversity and difference, the book's contributors recognise that their role as educators compels them to engage with the dilemmas as well as the productive possibilities of what it means to learn and to educate within such interesting times.

The Political Economy of Global Citizenship Education, Vanessa De Oliveira Andreotti, 2016-03-16. This edited collection offers analyses of global citizenship education within and across different national contexts. This book illustrates the contingency of definitions, the complexities of juxtaposing demands and priorities in different educational contexts, and the difficulties and tensions of asking a question that is arguably one of the most pressing of our time: how should we live together in interdependent ecologies in a finite planet? In the discipline of education, where market imperatives and the dictatorship of effective, replicable results have laid siege to independent debates, this book aims to emphasize the importance of raising our intellectual game as educators to interrupt new and old problematic patterns of engagements, representations, uncomplicated solutions, and conceptual straightjackets. Contributors to this volume address the tensions between homogenizing universalisms and parochial specifisms, ethnocentrisms and relativisms, deficit theorizations and romanticizations of difference, fantasies of supremacy and paralyse in guilt, the global and the local. The chapters take different approaches to map the origins, meanings, workings, ethics, politics, and implications of initiatives, approaches, and conceptual frameworks related to the ideas of globalization, citizenship, and education in different sites of knowledge.
