Nation-state Berch Berberoglu, 2003 As transnational capital has become a mighty force controlling the economies of advanced and less developed capitalist countries around the world capitalism and capitalist relations of production have spread to and dominated societies and social relations in remote parts of the globe The resulting globalization of capital has given a free reign to the transnationals to impose on society capitalist practices on a global scale such that only the biggest and most powerful capitalist monopolies have become the real beneficiaries Special Bibliography Series, 1957

is as high as never before Nevertheless many authors repeatedly invoke the anachronism of the nation state and its end through denationalization Since the beginning of the 21st century it seems that the nation states are losing ground no country in the world can still make its own economic policy without external influence The effects of globalization should lead to the end of nation state governance and make the nation state as a form of political organization obsolete In the further course of the essay this assertion requires a confrontation and juxtaposition of both concepts and their current perception with the respective historical context
