Globalization Institutions And Regional Development In Europe:

Globalization, Institutions, and Regional Development in Europe Ash Amin, 1994 What are the economic prospects for Europe in a globalizing world One popular view suggests that Europe will be swamped by global forces another suggests the rise of a new localism leading to a Europe of regions This book argues that neither of these accounts is correct Through the application of an institutionalist perspective the authors expertly advance the case that regional economic prosperity will depend upon the degree to which regions are able to mobilize flexible institutional strategies This timely and insightful book will appeal to a broad range of readers including students and professionals in economics geography sociology international business planning and European studies

Institutions, Discourse, and Regional Development Henrik Halkier, 2006 Why are some regional development strategies adopted and others rejected Only limited systematic attention has been paid to the politics of regional policy including the role of institutions discourse and political debate in shaping this major area of public policy The book develops an institutionalist approach to the study of regional policy capable of spanning major European development paradigms and accounting for the dynamic relationship between organisations policies and political discourse This conceptual framework is then applied to the Scottish Development Agency a development body famed across Europe for its innovative policies but surrounded by political controversy in Scotland A detailed study of corporate strategies policy implementation and the wider British environment questions existing interpretations of the organisation which tend to vilify anti interventionist Thatcherites or glorify shrewd development professionals Instead the author proposes an alternative synthesis which highlights the interplay between institutions discourse and regional development in the politics of regional policy

Regional Development Research in China: A Roadmap to 2050 Dadao Lu, Jie Fan, 2011-12-27 As one of the eighteen field specific reports comprising the comprehensive scope of the strategic general report of the Chinese Academy of Sciences this sub report addresses long range planning for developing science and technology in the field of regional development research They each craft a roadmap for their sphere of development to 2050 In their entirety the general and sub group reports analyze the evolution and laws governing the development of science and technology describe the decisive impact of science and technology on the modernization process predict that the world is on the eve of an impending S T revolution and call for China to be fully prepared for this new round of S T advancement Based on the detailed study of the demands on S T innovation in China s modernization the reports draw a framework for eight basic and strategic systems of socio economic development with the support of science and technology work out China s S T roadmaps for the relevant eight basic and strategic systems in line with China s reality further detail S T initiatives of strategic importance to China s modernization and provide S T decision makers with comprehensive consultations for the development of S T innovation consistent with China s reality Supported by illustrations and tables of data the reports provide researchers government officials and entrepreneurs with guidance concerning research directions the planning process and investment Founded in 1949 the Chinese Academy of Sciences is the nation's highest academic institution in natural sciences. Its major responsibilities are to conduct research in basic and technological sciences; to undertake nationwide integrated surveys on natural resources and ecological environment; to provide the country with scientific data and consultations for government's decision making; to undertake government assigned projects with regard to key S T problems in the process of socio economic development; to initiate personnel training; and to promote China's high tech enterprises through its active engagement in these areas.

Foreign Direct Investment and Regional Development in East Central Europe and the Former Soviet Union David Turnock, 2017-11-28 With the achievement of further EU and NATO enlargement a critical political and economic lens is now focused on East Central Europe and to a lesser extent the other former communist states. Economic growth in each transition state and more broadly the region pivots around the prospects for foreign direct investment (FDI) with decisions on where foreign investors will locate their projects now vitally important. This book, the first one devoted to a geographical survey concentrating specifically on FDI in the region, brings together a wide range of prominent authors from the US and Europe including the late Frank Carter to provide a timely and critical examination of the importance of foreign investment. It presents a detailed analysis of location patterns and their significance for regional development with particular emphasis given to the important socioeconomic and political consequences of uneven distribution of FDI across the region and its constituent countries. Divided into two parts, the book first deals with general overarching themes and issues before applying these to more specific country case studies. The second part deals with regional studies focusing broadly on the Western Balkans and Bulgaria before looking at specific economic sectors in individual countries. Globalizing Regional Development in East Asia Henry Wai-chung Yeung, 2013-09-13 Significant historical and geographical differences account for the many processes and trajectories of regional development in East Asia. These historical and geographical specificities in East Asia have prompted serious re-examination of existing theories in regional development and in particular the new regionalism approach associated with such ideas as the learning region, institutional thickness, relational assets and regional innovation system. This book brings together a group of leading researchers specializing in local and regional development in East Asian economies. Through in-depth empirical studies of specific regions and localities, these authors offer fresh and innovative perspectives on how regions evolve and develop over time in the world's most dynamic macro regional economy. In particular, their work points to the critical importance of local and trans-local processes in shaping regional development trajectories. The book is timely given that the debate on the nature and dynamics of regional development in both academic and policy circles has now moved on. From the earlier focus on endogenous regional assets such as localized networks of association and trust, scholars and policymakers are now analyzing the complex relationship between economic globalization and regional change. This high-calibre collection makes a significant contribution to the literature on local and regional development in Asia and provides an important resource for researchers, students and policy makers interested in East Asia.

This book was published as a special issue of Regional Studies Grzegorz Gorzelak, John Bachtler, Maciej Smętkowski, 2018-10-24 This book provides an up to date assessment of the main processes and dilemmas of regional development and regional policy in the newer European Union Member States in Central and Eastern Europe and neighbouring countries It highlights the difficulties of balancing the demands within the new Member States for rapid regional growth and development with firstly the demands of the European Union overall that restructuring and development should conform to the aims and principles of EU common policies and secondly with budgetary constraints The book covers a wide range of issues including global and national challenges to regional convergence and cohesion regional dynamics city networks and border issues the effectiveness of policy responses at national and European levels including an assessment of policy experiences from outside the new Member States and likely future developments

Governance, Institutional Change and Regional Development Mike Danson, Henrick Halkier, Greta Cameron, 2024-11-01 This title was first published in 2000 This volume addresses the prominent role given to institution building institutional change and governance in the regional development strategies and policies The establishment of the Scottish Parliament Welsh and Northern Ireland Assemblies and the arrival of regional development agencies in England highlighted the need to put the initiatives into some context drawing on experience from across Europe on the critical factors in the determination of the potential and success of regions Central to the discussions presented here by a group of European experts are the question of governance how does an ongoing process of institution building affect the ways in which regions and localities are governed including questions of democracy participation regional self determination public private partnerships networks and accountability and the consequences of new modes of governance and institutional change for regional development strategies and policies particularly in the context of large scale industrial restructuring and city region and urban regeneration

Innovation and Regional Development in China Ingo Liefner, Yehua Dennis Wei, 2013-07-24 Although China is now the factory of the world there is no reason to expect that it will always be content with manufacturing labor intensive goods for foreign corporations Scholars must now ask What is the current level of innovation in China And how can we face this challenge and renovate industrial production and innovation capacities in developed countries This edited volume investigates the unique characteristics of Chinese innovation and regional development China's policy framework and the role that transnational corporations play in China's increasing innovation activities This book contributes to the heated debate regarding pathways for technology progress and regional development in developing countries and identifies the ways in which local production networks respond to different configurations of external linkages Linking patterns of global and local production networks with the trajectories of technology development and regional development allows the authors to theorize and test whether and how particular configurations of production networks generate divergent long term local productivity growth and technological development outcomes Innovation and Regional Development in China

The Future of Europe's Rural Peripheries Lois Labrianidis, 2017-11-30 Bringing together case studies from Germany Greece Poland Portugal and the UK this book examines the contribution of entrepreneurial ventures and new technology in stimulating economic development in rural locations It looks at instances of good practice in terms of both public and private initiatives and develops a coherent combination of policy objectives facilitating the long term economic development of the countryside Firstly analyzing the key causes and effects of economic restructuring currently affecting Europe's rural areas the book then explores the consequences that European integration and globalization have had and will have in future It identifies sources of entrepreneurship and examines their distribution between different gender age and other social groupings The book continues to evaluate the extent to which the existing institutional social and technological environment and infrastructure encourages and facilitates entrepreneurship

New State Spaces Neil Brenner, 2004-09-10 In this synthetic interdisciplinary work Neil Brenner develops a new interpretation of the transformation of statehood under contemporary globalizing capitalism Whereas most analysts of the emergent post Westphalian world order have focused on supranational and national institutional realignments New State Spaces shows that strategic subnational spaces such as cities and city regions represent essential arenas in which states are being transformed Brenner traces the transformation of urban governance in western Europe during the last four decades and on this basis argues that inherited geographies of state power are being fundamentally rescaled Through a combination of theory construction historical analysis and cross national case studies of urban policy change New State Spaces provides an innovative analysis of the new formations of state power that are currently emerging This is a mature and sophisticated analysis by a major young scholar

Territorial Policy and Governance Iain Deas, Stephen Hincks, 2017-02-24 In response to both policy and conceptual debates alternative narratives have begun to emerge about territorial governance and policymaking As local and regional policy actors strive to respond to the geographically uneven effects of the economic crises of the early twenty first century a crucial question emerges what are the opportunities and challenges presented by alternative forms of territorially based governance and policy The aim of this edited volume therefore is critically to explore the opportunities and challenges presented by different forms of territorial policy and governance Drawing on conceptual debates and empirical research from the United Kingdom and other international contexts the contributors engage with issues around the politics and governance of territorial development economic development planning and regeneration and the environment Territorial Policy and Governance addresses the question of how alternative forms of territorial governance and policy can help to shape patterns of urban and regional development highlighting the related opportunities constraints and challenges that confront their operationalisation This book will be essential reading for international audiences with an interest in territorial development governance politics human geography and planning and regeneration of European Union Ash Amin, John Tomaney, 2002-06-01 The vision of the original architects of the European Community was to create a Europe of economic prosperity and social harmony Economic integration has come ever closer but sustained growth and a reduction in social disparities seen as far away as ever This book examines the prospects for the real cohesion in Europe and find that far from promoting it many of the Community's current policies are divisive The neo liberal philosophy at the moment is producing policies which favour relatively wealthy regions and major corporations at the expense of less favoured regions and peoples

Behind the Myth
