Sociocultural Issues in Sport and Physical Activity Robert Pitter, David L.

Andrews, Joshua I. Newman, 2022-02-21 Sociocultural Issues in Sport and Physical Activity explores the intersections between modern physical activity and society. The text surpasses the scope of sociological texts that focus solely on sports, covering a broad range of physical activities such as fitness, dance, weightlifting, and others. The authors emphasize the promotion of healthy individuals and a healthy body in the many movement settings where the body is active. Sociocultural Issues in Sport and Physical Activity explores contemporary topics such as reducing disparities in education and income, increasing socioeconomic diversity in communities, the medicalization of fitness, the rise of cosmetic fitness, the promotion of physical activity as a requirement for health, and the globalization of the fitness industry. The text includes the following features to enhance student engagement: Chapter objectives help students achieve their learning goals; Key points and terms to highlight important information throughout the text; Active Bodies sidebars that offer context for concepts presented in the chapter and provide examples and applications; Discussion questions that provide opportunities to reflect on chapter topics. Part I of Sociocultural Issues in Sport and Physical Activity examines political, educational, media, and economic institutions that influence the relationship between society and physical activity. Part II explores how an individual's race, gender, social class, and ability are interpreted through a social lens. Part III of the text discusses the process of developing healthy populations as well as promoting public health and body positivity. Sociocultural Issues in Sport and Physical Activity offers a cross-cultural perspective of society, health, and the body in motion. Readers will finish the text with a greater understanding of social theory applications in physical culture.

Re-Living the Global City John Eade, Chris Rumford, 2017-11-22 Living the Global City 1996 was a landmark text in the field of Global Studies, offering an analysis of globalization and global-local processes by focussing on specific issues and themes which include community, culture, milieu, socioscapes, and sociospheres, microglobalization, poverty, ethnic identity, and carnival. In this new collection, Eade and Rumford draw together scholars whose work has engaged with the original volume over the last 15 years, and the result is a unique and thematically coherent collection of essays which both complements the original book and challenges some of its core assumptions. Re-Living the Global City both pays homage to a key text and pushes its agenda into important new areas. After reflecting upon how debates in the field have developed since the original publication, the contributors seek to drive the debate forward through discussion of contemporary themes and issues such as borders and bordering, social movements, community, and global connectivity. They consider the ways in which the city produces different experiences of globalization for different people and examine the various accounts of the ways in which new forms of sociality are definitive of contemporary globalization and cosmopolitanism. Drawing together scholars from a range of disciplines including international relations, politics, sociology, urban studies, and anthropology, this work will be of great interest to all students and scholars of global studies and globalization.

Global Knowledge Production in the Social Sciences Wiebke Keim,ERCüment Çelik,Veronika Wöhrer,2016-04-22 An innovative contribution to debates on the internationalization and globalization of the social sciences this book pays particular attention to their theoretical and epistemological reconfiguration in the light of postcolonial critiques and critiques of Eurocentrism Bringing together theoretical contributions and empirical case studies from around the world including India the Americas South Africa Australia and Europe it engages in debates concerning public sociology and explores South South research collaborations specific to the social sciences Contributions transcend established critiques of Eurocentrism to make space for the idea of global social sciences and truly transnational research Thematically arranged and both international and interdisciplinary in scope this volume reflects the different theoretical and thematic backgrounds of the contributing authors who enter into dialogue and debate with one another in the development of a more inclusive more representative and more theoretically relevant stage for the social sciences A rigorous critique of the contemporary state of the social sciences as well as an attempt to find another way of doing transnational sociology Global Knowledge Production in the Social Sciences will appeal to scholars of sociology political science and social theory with interests in the production of social scientific knowledge postcolonialism and transnationalism in research

Rationality And Nature Raymond Murphy,2018-02-07 Divergent beliefs about humanity s relationship to nature collide as the second millenium ends One belief emphasizes that a distinctive characteristic of humans reason enables them to reshape and master nature Another insists that nature is not so plastic hence humans must adapt to nature and render development sustainable or even limit growth Social ecology asserts that environmental problems result from institutional hierarchies and suggests decentralized institutions and egalitarian ethics According to deep ecology such problems originate in cultures assuming only humans are worthwhile thus it stresses the intrinsic value of nature Feminists are torn between values based on the equality of men and women and ecofeminist values postulating that women are inherently closer to nature than men Rationality and Nature critically assesses these conflicting cultural tendencies Waste has been the forgotten element of political economy Western society has sophisticated methods of financial accounting but does little to account for the losses financial and human of waste Raymond Murphy proposes in this book a theory of environmental debt as a source of capital accumulation He develops a model of environmental classes that helps us to understand the political and economic basis of conflict over the environment Environmental degradation did not occur on a vast scale until science and applied science were developed Are they responsible for it and can they be reoriented toward a more symbiotic relationship with nature Other ways of bringing about a symbiotic relationship are also explored in this book compulsion ecological values ecological experience and ecological knowledge

Economic Reform and Employment Relations in Vietnam Ngan Thuy Collins,2009-09-10 The transformation of the Vietnamese economy from socialist planning to a market economy has led to Vietnam having one of the fastest economic growth rates in the world and to also to Vietnam engaging much more with the international economy joining the World Trade Organisation in 2006 This book fills a significant gap by surveying the economic reforms in Vietnam where most studies have concentrated on other young tiger economies In particular it discusses the transformation of employment relations which have been a key part of the reforms and a necessary pre condition to WTO membership It examines the nature of employment reforms analyses the motivation behind new policy initiatives and examines the detail of reforms in a range of business enterprises reporting on extensive original research Throughout it shows how several key forces have interacted globalisation government political interests national cultural norms market managerial ideology and the special characteristics of particular firms to produce a particular Vietnamese brand of post communist market economy Overall this book illuminates the how employment relation practices are formed in transitional economies and more broadly the economic and political transformation of socialist economies in the context of the global market

Foreign Direct Investment in Kazakhstan E.K. Dosmukhamedov,2002-11-25

The collapse of the centrally planned systems of the former Soviet Union undoubtedly stands out as one of the most important global events of the twentieth century The transformation from a centralized economic system to a market system created major opportunities for Western corporations to enter markets that had formerly been closed to them In this book E K Dosmukhamedov employs a distinctive approach to the study of post communist transition by analyzing Foreign Direct Investment FDI from a political legal and economic standpoint Kazakhstan the second largest country of the former USSR is used as a case study to illustrate the role of FDI in restructuring the economy of the former Soviet Union countries in the Post Communist era

Islam, Motor Or Challenge of Modernity Georg Stauth,1998 In this first volume of the Yearbook of Sociology of Islam Georg Stauth brought together Islamologists and Sociologists who explore Islam and modern applications of Islamic thought as a way of demonstrating in a variety of social fields the ambiguity of the effective use of religious ideas and specifically Islamic models of social order to promote change Far away from being apologetic this collection of papers intends to show that the transcendental visions of Islam have been used as a foundational matrix for an indigenized Islamic Sociology as much as they played an important role in the modern restructuration of local symbolic and political orders Analysis and discourse are privileged components in the scientific part of both the Islamic and the Western world Accordingly this volume attempts to contribute to the ongoing dialogue among sociologists about the effective history of exchange between Islamic visions and modernity Contributors Mona Abaza Mohammed Arkoun Friedemann Bellmann Fanny Colonna Shmuel N Eisenstadt Peter Heine Armando Salvatore Reinhard Schulze Georg Stauth Karin Werner Sami Zubaida

Editor Georg Stauth teaches sociology at the University of Bielefeld Germany

Applying Ibn Khaldūn Syed Farid Alatas,2014-06-05 The writings of Ibn Khaldūn particularly the Muqaddimah Prolegomenon have rightly been regarded as being sociological in nature For this reason Ibn Khaldūn has been widely regarded as the founder of sociology or at least a precursor of modern sociology While he was given this recognition however few works went beyond proclaiming him as a founder or precursor to the systematic application of his theoretical perspective to specific historical and contemporary aspects of Muslim societies in North Africa and the Middle East The continuing presence of Eurocentrism in the social sciences has not helped in this regard it often stands in the way of the consideration of non Western sources of theories and concepts This book provides an overview of Ibn Khald n and his sociology discusses reasons for his marginality and suggests ways to bring Ibn Khald n into the mainstream through the systematic application of his theory It moves beyond works that simply state that Ibn Khald n was a founder of sociology or provide descriptive accounts of his works Instead it systematically applies Khald n s theoretical perspective to specific historical aspects of Muslim societies in North Africa and the Middle East successfully integrating concepts and frameworks from Khald nian sociology into modern social science theories Applying Ibn Khald n will be of interest to students and scholars of sociology and social theory      The SAGE Handbook of the

Sociology of Religion James A Beckford,Jay Demerath,2007-10-29 In their introduction to this Handbook the editors affirm Many sociologists have come to realise that it makes no sense now to omit religion from the repertoire of social scientific explanations of social life I wholeheartedly agree I also suggest that this wide ranging set of essays should become a starting point for such enquiries Each chapter is clear comprehensive and well structured making the Handbook a real asset for all those engaged in the field Grace Davie University of Exeter Serious social scientists who care about making sense of the world can no longer ignore the fact that religious beliefs and practices are an important part of this world This Handbook is a valuable resource for specialists and amateurs alike The editors have done an exceptionally fine job of incorporating topics that illuminate the range and diversity of religion and its continuing significance throughout the world Robert Wuthnow Princeton University At a time when religions are increasingly affecting and affected by life beyond the narrowly sacred sphere religion everywhere seems to be caught up in change and conflict In the midst of this contention and confusion the sociology of religion provides a rich source of understanding and explanation This Handbook presents an unprecedentedly comprehensive assessment of the field both where it has been and where it is headed Like its many distinguished contributors its topics and their coverage are truly global in their reach The Handbook s 35 chapters are organized into eight sections basic theories and debates methods of studying religion social forms and experiences of religion issues of power and control in religious organizations religion and politics individual religious behaviour in social context religion self identity and the life course and case studies of China Eastern Europe Israel Japan and Mexico Each chapter establishes benchmarks for the state of sociological thinking about religion in the 21st century and provides a rich bibliography for pursuing its subject further Overall the Handbook stretches the field conceptually methodologically comparatively and historically An indispensable source of guidance and insight for both students and scholars Choice Outstanding Academic Title 2009
