Globalization And Agrifood Restructuring Perspectives From The Australasia Region:

Globalization and Agri-food Restructuring David Burch, Roy E. Rickson, Geoffrey Lawrence, 1996 This collection looks at the change within the agri food industries of Australasia It presents an overview of theories surrounding the issues and covers areas such as trends in the retailing of foods and the linking of local and global industries

Restructuring Global and Regional Agricultures David Burch, Jasper Goss, Geoffrey Lawrence, 2018-12-20 First published in 1999 this collection of papers represents the latest thinking on the effects of globalisation and agri food restructuring from a regional and peripheral perspective The book breaks new ground in our understanding of the relationship between the global regional and local levels in the sphere of agri food production While Australia and New Zealand are important components of the agri food system the economic and political decisions which impact at the regional and local level are usually made elsewhere often in the boardrooms of global companies and the political institutions of Europe and North America At the same time however Australia and New Zealand have sought to establish some independent room for manoeuvre In Australia this can be seen in the targeting of consumers in South East Asia and New Zealand has experienced both sweeping deregulation and niche marketing of goods such as organic produce The success or failure of these strategies cannot currently be determined but this invaluable collection presents and discusses some possible future scenarios Featuring 31 specialists in sociology geography social anthropology veterinary science environmental studies and sustainable development it is a product of the Agri Food Research Network The volume includes 19 essays which attempt to conceptualise a series of global trends and their local ramifications explore Australian and New Zealand experiences of agri food restructuring in historic ideological and discursive terms and analyse local policy and politics and the influence on rural producers along with studying four key concepts underpinning agri food research and the possibilities for their application in new areas

Globalisation, Agriculture and Development Matthew Tonts, Muhammed Abu B. Siddique, 2011-01-01 This book explores the links between globalization agriculture and development in a number of contemporary Asia Pacific nations It highlights the complex and diversified nature of agricultural change in these contexts and the ways in which this shapes patterns of economic and social development Globalisation Agriculture and Development shows that while agriculture continues to play an important role in local regional and national development both the industry and the communities it supports are facing an increasing number of economic social and environmental challenges

Globalisation, Localisation and Sustainable Livelihoods Geoffrey Lawrence, Reidar Almas, 2018-02-06 This title was first published in 2002 One of the greatest concerns facing the world is how to ensure that sustainable outcomes are generated as globalization proceeds apace Quite simply many people are finding their life chances deteriorating with resistance to globalization being a common response The question is is it possible to guarantee sustainable livelihoods for individuals families and communities as global processes increasingly shape local social relations This volume is a collection of 16 chapters from leading rural sociologists and human geographers based in Europe Australasia and the Americas The book in three parts deals with globalization and food the restructuring of local agriculture and communities and resistance in a globalizing world The introduction to the book compares and contrasts the various experiences of communities in countries such as Australia Brazil Finland Norway South Africa and the United States as they struggle to cope with globalization and its effects Each chapter discusses options to ameliorate the local consequences of global change

Globalization and Its Terrors Teresa Brennan,2003-08-29 In this elegant lucidly argued account Teresa Brennan argues that the evidence already exists that globalization has for years been harming not just the poor of the third world but also its alleged beneficiaries in the affluent west

Sustainability and Change in Rural Australia Chris Cocklin,Jacqui Dibden,2005 By addressing themes such as social and economic change government policy and gender relations this volume tackles the thematic complexities of sustainability It attempts to understand how small rural communities have survived in the past what factors shaped them and how these factors will impact on their future survival

The Sociology of Food and Agriculture Michael Carolan,2012-03-15 As interest has increased in topics such as the globalization of the agrifood system food security and food safety the subjects of food and agriculture are making their way into a growing number of courses in disciplines within the social sciences and the humanities like sociology and food studies This book is an introductory textbook aimed at undergraduate students and is suitable for those with little or no background in sociology The author starts by looking at the recent development of agriculture under capitalism and neo liberal regimes and the transformation of farming from a small scale family run business to a globalized system The consequent changes in rural employment and role of multinationals in controlling markets are described Topics such as the global hunger and obesity challenges GM foods and international trade and subsidies are assessed as part of the world food economy The second section of the book focuses on community impacts food and culture and diversity Later chapters examine topics such as food security alternative and social movements food sovereignty local versus global and fair trade All chapters include learning objectives and recommendations for further reading to aid student learning

Cross-Continental Agro-Food Chains Niels Fold,Bill Pritchard,2005-04-25 Filling a gap in contemporary food and globalization scholarship this timely book presents recent case study research on the globalization of food systems and the impacts for communities around the world It covers debates on new structures and food products as well as detailed accounts of fresh horticulture tropical crops and livestock Drawing together contributions of twenty six leading international social scientists from eleven countries this book will interest researchers in geography development studies agricultural economics and political science as well as professionals in the fields of trade and food policy

The Changing Chicken Jane Dixon,2002 Annotation The Changing Chicken Chooks Cooks and Culinary Culture provides a unique view of food systems and culture The book describes activities in the hatcheries on chicken farms in processing plants in supermarket delicatessens and in household kitchens A chicken centred diet challenges assumptions about how foods become valued or are judged good to eat By building on insights from the sociology of consumption retail geography and political economy author Jane Dixon develops a cultural economy framework for studying the shifting balance of power in food systems And by comparing the situation in Australia with international trends in chicken meat production and consumption she sheds new light on the complex issue of global food systems and national culinary cultures BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc All Rights Reserved The Routledge Companion to Rural Planning Mark Scott,Nick Gallent,Menelaos Gkartzios,2019-01-28 The Routledge Companion to Rural Planning provides a critical account and state of the art review of rural planning in the early years of the twenty first century Looking across different international experiences from Europe North America and Australasia to the transition and emerging economies including BRIC and former communist states it aims to develop new conceptual propositions and theoretical insights supported by detailed case studies and reviews of available data The Companion gives coverage to emerging topics in the field and seeks to position rural planning in the broader context of global challenges climate change the loss of biodiversity food and energy security and low carbon futures It also looks at old established questions in new ways at social and spatial justice place shaping economic development and environmental and landscape management Planning in the twenty first century must grapple not only with the challenges presented by cities and urban concentration but also grasp the opportunities and understand the risks arising from rural change and restructuring Rural areas are diverse and dynamic This Companion attempts to capture and analyse at least some of this diversity fostering a dialogue on likely and possible rural futures between a global community of rural planning researchers Primarily intended for scholars and graduate students across a range of disciplines such as planning rural geography rural sociology agricultural studies development studies environmental studies and countryside management this book will prove to be an invaluable and up to date resource Constructing Reform Vaughan Higgins,2002 The productivity and efficiency of farmers in both Australia and other Western nations has assumed increasing significance on the formal political agenda since the 1960s Economic changes at both the international and national level have raised questions among economists farm organisations and state agencies concerning the capacity of some farmers to be able to earn an adequate income and thereby contribute to national agricultural output and efficiency While these concerns have contributed to policies of farm subsidisation in Europe Britain and the United States Australia has taken a somewhat different path Farm reconstruction and adjustment programs were created from the early 1970s that sought to restructure the farm sector by encouraging so called unviable farmers to exit the industry while providing incentives for remaining producers to improve their productivity Economists in both the public service and academic institutions have welcomed such policies arguing that intervention in assisting processes of adjustment makes agricultural resources available for those farmers who will use them in the most efficient manner while ensuring also that the welfare needs of unviable farmers are met The aim of this book is to explore the events techniques and forms of calculation through which economic expertise in Australia has come to assume increased authority on matters of agricultural change and the consequences of this for how strategies of restructuring are assembled as objects of knowledge Agricultural Governance Vaughan Higgins, Geoffrey Lawrence, 2007-05-07 Food security and sustainability are arguably the most important issues facing the agri food sector at the beginning of a new millennium In an era of globalization where nation states appear to have a diminishing role in governing these matters the existing and emerging power relations underpinning agri food regulation demand renewed scholarly attention Drawing upon the expertise of some of the most prominent writers in rural sociology geography and anthropology this book shows how globalization processes open up a new regulatory politics in which non political forms of governing play an increasingly influential role in shaping agricultural production and consumption The first of its kind to critically and comprehensively examine new forms of governing and regulation this important text explores the relationship between globalization and new sites spaces and agents of agricultural regulation using detailed case studies in developed nations to illustrate points made Demonstrating the political significance of regulatory mechanisms extending beyond the state the book also discusses the consequences for the governing of the agri food sector This Elusive Land Melody Hessing, Rebecca Raglon, Catriona Sandilands, 2005 This Elusive Land provides an introduction to the literature about women and the environment in Canada It looks at the ways in which women integrate the social and biophysical settings of their lives and features a range of contexts in which gender mediates inspires and informs a sense of belonging to and in this land Drawing from geographical historical and cultural perspectives the volume reveals the significance of women s experiences in various landscapes Jacket The Sustainability of Rural Systems I.R. Bowler, C.R. Bryant, C. Cocklin, 2013-06-29 Economy society and environment comprise the three main dimensions of sustainable development but too often they are considered separately This book by comparison examines the interaction of the three dimensions in the context of rural systems embracing a wide range of topics including globalisation and reregulation in sustainable food production conservation and sustainability the development of sustainable rural communities and sustainable rural urban interaction An international team of geographers drawn from the International Geographical Union s Commission on The Sustainability of Rural Systems summarises the basis of unsustainable rural development in these topics the remedial policies being pursued and their own evaluations of the policies Rather than deal just with generalisations their analyses are illustrated by detailed case studies drawn from a variety of rural systems in both developed and developing countries Revival: Food, Nature and Society (2001) Michel Blanc, 2017-07-28 This title was first published in 2001 Focusing on the distinctive ways in which rural social economic and political life is experienced in developed societies in late modernity this striking volume draws on empirical material from a wide range of countries within and outside the EU It also incorporates comparative case studies from South Africa Australia and New Zealand

Economic and Environmental Sustainability of the Asian Region Sucha Singh Gill, Lakhwinder Singh, Reena Marwah, 2012-12-06 Asian economic development and environmental consequences are not only crucial for the wellbeing of the people but are of great relevance for the global economy The ongoing intense debate on carbon emission mitigating strategies for reducing the impact of environmental consequences has undermined the principle of equity and put a question mark on the sustainability of the development process of the most dynamic Asian economies This volume explores fresh perspectives on the issues of wellbeing Asian economic development and environmental concerns The book is organised along six themes issues in sustainability of Asian agriculture ecological concerns in theory and practice core themes in economic development resource management and policy alternatives discrimination and socio economic equity in development and peasant distress and sustainability of cotton economy The articles are based on unique quantitative data and a rigorous analytical framework for examining policies for an equitable economic and environmental international regime

A Future for Regional Australia I. W. Gray, Geoffrey Lawrence, 2001-07-31 This book interprets the predicament faced by Australia's regional people from their own perspective and proposes a means by which they can act together to find a secure future under globalisation It argues that neoliberalism in combination with its real world effects in economic policy are driving regional Australia further into social environmental and economic decay The book will be of great interest to all concerned about the future of regional Australia and will make a lively and relevant text for students studying the social sciences in the countryside or in the major cities

Thailand's Political Peasants Andrew Walker, 2012-08-06 When a populist movement elected Thaksin Shinawatra as prime minister of Thailand in 2001 many of the country's urban elite dismissed the outcome as just another symptom of rural corruption a traditional patronage system dominated by local strongmen pressuring their neighbors through political bullying and vote buying In Thailand's Political Peasants however Andrew Walker argues that the emergence of an entirely new socioeconomic dynamic has dramatically changed the relations of Thai peasants with the state making them a political force to be reckoned with Whereas their ancestors focused on subsistence this generation of middle income peasants seeks productive relationships with sources of state power produces cash crops and derives additional income through non agricultural work In the increasingly decentralized disaggregated country rural villagers and farmers have themselves become entrepreneurs and agents of the state at the local level while the state has changed from an extractor of taxes to a supplier of subsidies and a patron of development projects Thailand's Political Peasants provides an original provocative analysis that encourages an ethnographic rethinking of rural politics in rapidly developing countries Drawing on six years of fieldwork in Ban Tiam a rural village in northern Thailand Walker shows how analyses of peasant politics that focus primarily on rebellion resistance and evasion are becoming less useful for understanding emergent forms of political society

Meals in Science and Practice H L Meiselman, 2009-03-26 The meal is the key eating occasion yet professionals and researchers frequently focus on single food products rather than the combinations of foods and the context in which they are consumed Research on meals is also carried out in a wide range of fields and the different disciplines do not always benefit from each others expertise This important collection presents contributions on meals from many perspectives using different methods and focusing on the different elements involved Two introductory chapters in part one summarise the key findings in Dimensions of the Meal the first book to bring an interdisciplinary perspective to meals and introduce the current publication by reviewing the key topics discussed in the following chapters Parts two to four then consider how meals are defined studied and taught Major considerations include eating socially and eating alone the influence of gender and the different situations of home restaurant and institutional settings Part five reviews meals worldwide with chapters on Brazilian Indian Chinese and Thai meals among others The final parts discuss meals from further perspectives including those of the chef product developer and meal setting designer With its distinguished editor and international team of contributors Meals in science and practice is an informative and diverse reference for both professionals and academic researchers interested in food from disciplines such as food product development food service nutrition dietetics sociology anthropology psychology public health medicine and marketing Summarises key findings in dimensions of the meal Considers how meals are defined studied and taught including eating alone and socially and the influence of gender Reviews the meaning of meals in different cultures Assembling Financialisation Zannie Langford, 2023-10-13 Farmers Indigenous organisations government and private sector intermediaries from remote Northern Australia often negotiate with private finance capital to gain funds for agricultural development The concept of financialisation is used to explore the drivers and effects of agrifood restructuring in the area while assemblage theory is applied to position local actors as potential sites of power in negotiating connections between local spaces and global finance This book demonstrates that while financialisation is a useful signifier of patterns of global change it is assembled by a diverse range of often contradictory work
