God And History In Early Christian Thought:

The Spirit of Early Christian Thought Robert Louis Wilken, 2003-01-01 Many of the problems afflicting American education are the result of a critical shortage of qualified teachers in the classrooms The teacher crisis is surprisingly resistant to reforms and is getting worse This analysis of the causes underlying the crisis seeks to offer concrete affordable proposals for effective reform Vivian Troen and Katherine Boles two experienced classroom teachers and education consultants argue that because teachers are recruited from a pool of underqualified candidates given inadequate preparation and dropped into a culture of isolation without mentoring support or incentives for excellence they are programmed to fail Half quit within their first five years Troen and Boles offer an alternative a model of reform they call the Millennium School which changes the way teachers work and improves the quality of their teaching When teaching becomes a real profession they contend more academically able people will be drawn into it colleges will be forced to improve the quality of their education and better prepared teachers will enter the classroom and improve the profession God and History in Early Christian Thought Lloyd George Patterson, 1967 God and History in Early Christian Thought Lloyd George Patterson, 1967 Suffering and Evil in Early Christian Thought (Holy Cross Studies in Patristic Theology and History) Nonna Verna Harrison, David G. Hunter, 2016-11-15 Distinguished Scholars Explore Early Christian Views on the Problem of Evil What did the early church teach about the problem of suffering and evil in the world In this volume distinguished historians and theologians explore a range of ancient Christian responses to this perennial problem The ecumenical team of contributors includes John Behr Gary Anderson Brian Daley and Bishop Kallistos Ware among others This is the fourth volume in Holy Cross Studies in Patristic Theology and History a partnership between Baker Academic and the Pappas Patristic Institute of Holy Cross Greek Orthodox School of Theology The series is a deliberate outreach by the Orthodox community to Protestant and Catholic seminarians pastors and theologians The Routledge Companion to Early Christian Thought D. Jeffrey Bingham, 2009-12-15 The shape and course which Christian thought has taken over its history is largely due to the contributions of individuals and communities in the second and third centuries Bringing together a remarkable team of distinguished scholars The Routledge Companion to Early Christian Thought is the ideal companion for those seeking to understand the way in which Early Christian thought developed within its broader cultural milieu and was communicated through its literature especially as it was directed toward theological concerns Divided into three parts the Companion asks how Christianity's development was impacted by its interaction with cultural philosophical and religious elements within the broader context of the second and third centuries examines the way in which Early Christian thought was manifest in key individuals and literature in these centuries analyses Early Christian thought as it was directed toward theological concerns such as God Christ Redemption Scripture and the community and its worship The Unbound God Chris L. de Wet, 2017-07-14 This volume examines the prevalence function and socio political effects of slavery discourse in the major theological formulations of the late third to early fifth centuries AD arguably the most formative period of early Christian doctrine The question the book poses is this in what way did the Christian theologians of the third fourth and early fifth centuries appropriate the discourse of slavery in their theological formulations and what could the effect of this appropriation have been for actual physical slaves This fascinating study is crucial reading for anyone with an interest in early Christianity or Late Antiquity and slavery more generally

God and history in early Christian thought: a study of themes from Justin Martyr to Gregory the Great. bibliographical notes Lloyd George Patterson,1967 Image, Word and God in the Early Christian Centuries Mark Edwards,2016-05-13 Christianity proclaims Christ and the incarnate word of God the Bible is described as the Word of God in both Jewish and Christian tradition Are these usages merely homonymous or would the ancients have recognized a more intimate relation between the word incarnate and the word proclaimed This book investigates the concept of logos in pagan Jewish and Christian thought with a view to elucidating the polyphonic functions which the word acquired when used in theological discourse Edwards presents a survey of theological applications of the term Logos in Greek Jewish and Christian thought from Plato to Augustine and Proclus Special focus is placed on the relation of words to images in representation of divine realm the relation between the logos within reason and the logos without speech both in linguistics and in Christology the relation between the incarnate Word and the written text and the place of reason in the interpretation of revelation Bringing together materials which are rarely synthesized in modern study this book shows how Greek and biblical thought part company in their appraisal of the capacity of reason to grasp the nature of God and how in consequence verbal revelation plays a more significant role in biblical teaching Edwards shows how this entailed the rejection of images in Jewish and Christian thought and how the manifestation in flesh of Christ as the living word of God compelled the church to reconsider both the relation of word to image and the interplay between the logos within and the written logos in the formulation of Christian doctrine

A New History of Early Christianity Charles Freeman,2009-01-01 Tracing the astonishing transformation that the early Christian church underwent from sporadic niches of Christian communities surviving in the wake of a horrific crucifixion to sanctioned alliance with the state Charles Freeman shows how freedom of thought was curtailed by the development of the concept of faith The imposition of correct belief and an institutional framework that enforced orthodoxy were both consolidating and stifling Uncovering the church's relationships with Judaism Gnosticism Greek philosophy and Greco Roman society Freeman offers dramatic new accounts of Paul the resurrection and the church fathers and emperors BOOK JACKET The Intellectual Foundations of Christian and Jewish Discourse Bruce Chilton, Jacob Neusner, 2006-10-19 The Intellectual Foundations of Christian and Jewish Discourse argues that the Judaic and Christian heirs of Scripture adopted and adapted to their own purposes and tasks Greek philosophical modes of thought and argument The authors explore how the earliest intellectuals of Christianity and Judaism shaped a tradition of articulated conflict and reasoned argument in the search for religious truth that was to be shared through continuing that argument with others Neusner and Chilton examine using the formative sources of Judaism and Christianity the literary media of adaptation and reform precisely where and how we identify in the foundation writings of Christianity and Rabbinic Judaism the new opposing modes of articulated conflict and reasoned argument that through Christianity and Judaism Greek philosophy and science bequeathed to the West The Fathers Refounded Elizabeth A.
