Mapping of the Moon Zdenek Kopal,R.W. Carder,2013-04-17 The aim of the present book has been to provide an outline the first of its kind of the history of the human efforts to map the topography of the surface of our satellite from the days of pre telescopic astronomy up to the present These efforts commenced modestly at the time when the unaided eye was still the only tool at the disposal of men interested in the face of our satellite and were continued since for more than three centuries by a small band of devoted friends of the Moon in several countries Many of these were amateur astronomers and almost all were amateur cartographers though some highly skilled in their art The reader interested in the history of lunar mapping between 1600 and 1960 will find its outline in the first chapter of this book and can follow the way in which the leadership in the mapping of the Moon the cradle of which stood in Italy passed successively to France Germany and eventually to the United States All efforts described in this chapter were wholly superseded by subsequent developments since 1960 largely motivated by logistic needs of a grand effort which culminated with repeated manned landings on the Moon between 1969-1972 a feat which will remain for ever one of the glories of our century

Misrecognitions Ben Parker,2024-03-15 Misrecognitions mounts a vigorous defense of the labyrinthine plotting of Victorian novels notorious for their implausible concluding revelations and coincidences Critics have long decried Victorian recognition scenes the reunions and retroactive discoveries of identity that too conveniently bring the story to a close as regrettable contrivances Ben Parker counters this view by showing how these recognition scenes offer a critique of the social and economic misrecognitions at work in nineteenth century capitalism Through a meticulous analysis of novels by Charles Dickens Anthony Trollope and Henry James as well as Arthur Conan Doyle's Sherlock Holmes stories Misrecognitions tracks how the Victorian novel translates the financialized abstractions of capital into dramas of buried secrets and disguised relations Drawing on Karl Marx's account of commodity fetishism and reification Parker contends that by configuring capital as an enigma to be unveiled Victorian recognition scenes dramatize the inversions of agency and temporality that are repressed in capitalist production In plotting capital as an agent of opacity and misdirection Victorian novels and their characteristic dialectic of illusion and illumination reveal the plot hole in capitalism itself

Gender and the Race for Space Erinn McComb, 2025-06-10 The American astronaut image was informed by early Cold War ideals of masculinity that helped mold a distinctly American anti communist masculinity which appeared on the surface anyway to resolve not only an American crisis of masculinity but helped win the Cold War on an ideological and popular level This American image focused on strict gender binaries of man as the protector controlling technology and containing communism while woman was the passive actor with spaceflight technology left behind in the home waiting for the return of the astronaut husband Allowing women to fly into space would have represented a lack of individual control with spaceflight technology ventures even further into this all important territory showing how firms can generate and nurture ideas by using the concepts introduced in the first book Weaving together lessons from such international leaders as Siemens Unilever Skandia and Sony along with their own first hand consulting experiences the authors introduce knowledge enabling the overall set of organizational activities that promote knowledge creation and demonstrate its power to transform an organization's knowledge into value creating actions They describe the five key knowledge enablers and outline what it takes to instill a knowledge vision manage conversations mobilize knowledge activists create the right context for knowledge creation and globalize local knowledge The authors stress that knowledge creation must be more than the exclusive purview of one individual or designated knowledge officer Indeed it demands new roles and responsibilities for everyone in the organization from the elite in the executive suite to the frontline workers on the shop floor Whether an activist a caring expert or a corporate epistemologist who focuses on the theory of knowledge itself everyone in an organization has a vital role to play in making care an integral part of the everyday experience in supporting nurturing and encouraging microcommunities of innovation and fun and in creating a shared space where knowledge is created exchanged and used for sustained competitive advantage This much anticipated sequel puts practical tools into the hands of managers and executives who are struggling to unleash the power of knowledge in their organization
