Gender And Social Structure In Madagascar African Systems Of Thought:

Gender and Social Structure in Madagascar Richard Huntington, 1988 This is a theoretical and ethnographic essay on sexuality and the social order using the Bara material as a vehicle for demonstrating important universal features of human social life In this sense the style of exposition and organization is modeled after some of the famous essays of the Ann e sociologique on issues such as bodily polarity secondary burial and seasonal variations all of which drew on limited ethnographic material to pursue general features of humanity African Studies Review, 1989 Gender, Education and Development Colin Brock, Nadine K. characterizing the analysis of things It is cutting edge rather than simply reviewing the field as it currently exists It also attempts to chart the future the manner in which material culture studies may be extended and developed The Handbook of Material Culture is divided into five sections Section I maps material culture studies as a theoretical and conceptual field Section II examines the relationship between material forms the human body and the senses Section III focuses on subject object relations Section IV considers things in terms of processes and transformations in terms of production exchange and consumption performance and the significance of things over the long term Section V considers the contemporary politics and poetics of displaying representing and conserving material and the manner in which this impacts on notions of heritage tradition and identity The Handbook charts an interdisciplinary field of studies that makes an unique and fundamental contribution to an understanding of what it means to be human It will be of interest to all who work in the social and historical sciences from anthropologists and archaeologists to human geographers to scholars working in heritage design and cultural studies
