Curtis, 2011-12-15 This is the third in an essential series of Springer handbooks that explore key aspects of the nexus between demography and social science With an inclusive international perspective and founded on the principles of social demography this handbook shows how the rural population which recently dropped below 50 per cent of the world total remains a vital segment of society living in proximity to much needed developmental and amenity resources The rich diversity of rural areas shapes the capacity of resident communities to address far reaching social environmental and economic challenges Some will survive become sustainable and even thrive while others will suffer rapid depopulation This handbook demonstrates how these future development trajectories will vary according to local characteristics including but not limited to population composition The growing complexity of rural society is in part a product of significant international variations in population trends making this comparative and comprehensive study of rural demography all the more relevant Collating the latest research on international rural demography the handbook will be an invaluable aid to policy makers as they try to understand how demographic dynamics depend on the economic social and environmental characteristics of rural areas It will also aid researchers assessing the unique factors at play in the rural context and endeavoring to produce meaningful results that will advance policy and scholarship Finally the handbook is an ideal text for graduate students in a spread of disciplines from sociology to international development

Munslow,1999 Gender and Economic Growth in Tanzania ,2007 While Tanzania has been at the forefront of creating a positive legal framework and political context for gender equality certain legal regulatory and administrative barriers still hinder women s full participation in private sector development This report analyzes these barriers and makes recommendations for needed change to ensure women s full contribution to private sector development and economic growth in Tanzania Building on intensive stakeholder consultations and the findings of numerous studies notably the MKURABITA diagnostic and the 2003 4 Investment Climate Assessments for Tanzania and Zanzibar this report examines these gender related barriers to growth and investment It highlights legal and administrative constraints that have a disproportionately negative effect on female headed businesses and makes recommendations for needed reforms Addressing these issues would not only help unlock the full economic potential of women but would help improve the environment for all businesses in Tanzania While Tanzania s economic growth has been strong this report finds that if the country were to bring female secondary schooling and female total years of schooling to the same level as now enjoyed by males this could produce up to an additional annual percentage point of growth a valuable contribution to achieving the 6.8 percent annual growth targets of the National Strategy for Growth and Reduction of Poverty NSGRP or MKUKUTA
