studies Asian studies gender studies family studies migration studies and qualitative methodologies Sense & Nonsense in Australian History John Hirst, 2015-01-29 Sense and Nonsense in Australian History represents a lifetime's original reflection by Australia's most innovative and penetrating historian. Included here are classic essays on the pioneer legend, Australian egalitarianism and colonial culture. There are celebrated critiques of The Tyranny of Distance, multiculturalism and nationalistic history, as well as a substantial essay on Aboriginal dispossession and the history wars. In Sense and Nonsense in Australian History, John Hirst overturns familiar conceptions and deepens our sense of Australia's development from convict society to distinctive democracy.

Locating Chinese Women Kate Bagnall, Julia T. Martínez, 2021-03-23 This groundbreaking edited collection draws together Australian historical scholarship on Chinese women, their gendered migrations and their mobile lives between China and Australia. It considers different aspects of women's lives, both as individuals and as the wives and daughters of immigrant men. While the number of Chinese women in Australia before 1950 was relatively small, their presence was significant and often subject to public scrutiny. Moving beyond traditional representations of women as hidden and silent, this book demonstrates that Chinese Australian women in the twentieth century expressed themselves in the public eye, whether through writings in photographs or in political and cultural life. Their remarkable stories are often inspiring and sometimes tragic and serve to demonstrate the complexities of navigating female lives in the face of racial politics and imposed categories of gender, culture and class. Historians of transnational Chinese migration have come to recognize Australia as a crucial site within the Cantonese Pacific, and this collection provides a new layer of gendered comparison, connecting women's experiences in Australia with those in Canada, the United States and New Zealand. Locating Chinese Women is a path-breaking book. By exploring the experiences of Chinese Australian women during the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries, the authors have opened new and compelling avenues of inquiry about the history of Chinese Australian women. In this landmark work, they have brilliantly recast the history of Chinese Australia.

Joy Damousi, Australian Catholic University. Locating Chinese Women breaks new ground in Australian and transnational Chinese women's history by making the lives of remarkable Chinese Australian women visible. Photographs, testimonies, Chinese language newspapers and digitized archives help document the women's agency and activities as they navigate public lives between and within Australia and China during the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries.

Shirley Hune, University of California, Los Angeles and University of Washington. Sustainability and Change in Rural Australia Chris Cocklin, Jacqui Dibden, 2005 By addressing themes such as social and economic change, government policy and gender relations, this volume tackles the thematic complexities of sustainability. It attempts to understand how small rural communities have survived in the past, what factors shaped them and how these factors will impact on their future survival.
