Gendering UN Peacekeeping Louise Olsson,1999 Gender Equality in Un Peacekeeping Sally Anne Corcoran,2024-05 This book investigates to what extent UNSCR 1325 WPS agenda has functioned in practice to advance women s equality and empowerment in the peacekeeping context and beyond The book examines whether widespread implementation of UNSCR 1325 and the broader WPS agenda via gender mainstreaming in UN operations has translated into increased gender equality in peacekeeping operations the broader UN institutional context and by extension the host countries in which missions are situated via norm dissemination The book investigates this via a review of the implementation of UNSCR1325 in the operations chosen as research sites over three snapshot years The book undertakes a comparative analysis that scrutinizes if how and under what conditions gender mainstreaming has succeeded as a strategy to advance gender equality by analyzing the factors conditions that have led to successful gender mainstreaming across the operational context and those that have impeded this outcome The book concludes that despite rhetorical commitments to women s equality in peacekeeping since the passage of UNSCR 1325 progress on the ground has remained minimal and that the operational environment continues to be discriminatory against women Both quantitatively and qualitatively women do not participate as equal partners in peacekeeping and continue to have less access to resources and decision making power overall The book interrogates that by exploring the spaces available within law policy and practice of the UN to pursue the human rights agenda of gender equality and considers whether UNSCR 1325 has enlarged those spaces It also points to the irony of internal UN structures failing to adequately adapt to their own gender mainstreaming mandates while those same structures have delivered some gender equality mandates successes externally at local levels This book will be of interest to students of peacekeeping gender studies and International Relations Gender, Conflict, and Peacekeeping Dyan Mazurana,Angela Raven-Roberts,Jane Parpart,2005-02-17 Peacekeeping has become a major international undertaking throughout the world from Africa to the Americas from Europe to Southeast Asia Yet until now there has been no systematic analysis of the key role of gender in post cold war conflicts and of post conflict peacekeeping efforts This groundbreaking volume explores how gender has become a central factor in shaping current thinking about the causes and consequences of armed conflict complex emergencies and reconstruction Drawing on expertise ranging from the highest levels of international policymaking down to the daily struggle to implement peacekeeping operations this work represents the full span of knowledge and experience about international intervention in local crises Presenting a rich array of examples from Angola Bosnia Herzegovina East Timor El Salvador the former Yugoslavia Guatemala Haiti Kosovo Liberia Mozambique Namibia Rwanda and Serbia the authors offer important insights for future peacekeeping and humanitarian missions

Women and International Peacekeeping Louise Olsson, Torunn L. Tryggestad, 2001 This work focuses on women's participation in peacekeeping operations and what needs to be considered regarding the role and circumstances of women including those in relation to the host society Equal Opportunity Peacekeeping Sabrina Karim, Kyle Beardsley, 2017-02-01 Recent developments such as Sweden's Feminist Foreign Policy the Hillary Doctrine and the integration of women into combat roles in the U S have propelled gender equality to the forefront of international politics The UN Department of Peacekeeping Operations however has been integrating gender equality into peacekeeping missions for nearly two decades as part of the women peace and security agenda that has been most clearly articulated in UNSC Resolution 1325 To what extent have peacekeeping operations achieved gender equality in peacekeeping operations and been vehicles for promoting gender equality in post conflict states While there have been major improvements related to women's participation and protection there is still much left to be desired Sabrina Karim and Kyle Beardsley argue that gender power imbalances between the sexes and among genders place restrictions on the participation of women in peacekeeping missions Specifically discrimination a relegation of women to safe spaces and sexual exploitation abuse harassment and violence SEAHV continue to threaten progress on gender equality Using unique cross national data on sex disaggregated participation of peacekeepers and on the allegations of SEAHV as well as original data from the UN Mission in Liberia the authors examine the origins and consequences of these challenges Karim and Beardsley also identify and examine how increasing the representation of women in peacekeeping forces and even more importantly through enhancing a more holistic value for equal opportunity can enable peacekeeping operations to overcome the challenges posed by power imbalances and be more of an example of and vehicle for gender equality globally Gender Mainstreaming in Peacekeeping Operations Marja Oomens, 2004

Gender, Peace and Security Louise Olsson, Theodora-Ismene Gizelis, 2015-04-24 This volume explores the implementation of key gender policies in international peace and security following the adoption of UN Security Council resolution 1325 in October 2000 the first thematic resolution on Women Peace and Security How should we understand women's participation in peace processes and in peace operations And what forms of gendered security dynamics are present in armed conflict and international interventions These questions represent central themes of protection and participation that the international community has to address in order to implement UNSCR 1325 Thus far the implementation has often employed varying approaches related to gender mainstreaming a third theme of the resolution Yet there is a dearth of systematic data which until recently has restricted the ability of researchers to evaluate the progress in implementation and impact of UNSCR 1325 By engaging with both empirics and critical theory the authors of this edited volume make important contributions to the gender peace and security agenda They identify some of the problems of implementing UNSC 1325 and offer a sobering assessment of progress of implementation and insights into how to advance our understanding through systematic research Many of the chapters are focused on operational aspects of UNSCR 1325 but all also engage with the theoretical underpinnings of UNSCR 1325 to bring forth central debates on more fundamental challenges to the development of knowledge in the fields of gender peace and security This book will be of much interest to students of gender studies peace and conflict studies security studies and IR in general Women, Peace and Security Funmi Olonisakin, Karen Barnes, Eka Ikpe, 2010-11-01 This book provides a critical assessment of the impact of UN Resolution 1325 by examining the effect of peacebuilding missions on increasing gender equality within conflict affected countries UN Resolution 1325 was adopted in October 2000 and was the first time that the security concerns of women in situations of armed conflict and their role in peacebuilding was placed on the agenda of the UN Security Council It was an important step forward in terms of bringing women's rights and gender equality to bear in the UN's peace and security agenda More than a decade after the adoption of this Resolution its practical reality is yet to be substantially felt on the ground in the very societies and regions where women remain disproportionately affected by armed conflict and grossly under represented in peace processes This realization in part led to the adoption in 2008 and 2009 of three other Security Council Resolutions on sexual violence in conflict violence against women and for the development of indicators to measure progress in addressing women peace and security issues The book draws together the findings from eight countries and four regional contexts to provide guidance on how the impact of Resolution 1325 can be measured and how peacekeeping operations could improve their capacity to effectively engender security This book will be of much interest to students of peacebuilding gender studies the United Nations international security and IR in general Gender and Peacebuilding Claire Duncanson, 2016-05-27 Gender and Peacebuilding offers a comprehensive and up to date analysis of how and why gender matters in contemporary peace operations It draws on a wide range of examples from across the world to offer a nuanced account of the UN's attempts to mainstream gender into peace operations via Security Council Resolution 1325 and assesses the successes and failures of this effort to enhance the participation and protection of women and girls in peacebuilding operations In presenting this mixed picture of progress and ongoing challenges the book argues for bold steps forward that will enable peacebuilding to contest the current neoliberal order address structural inequalities and bring about feminist visions of peace and security It is only by focusing attention on the economic empowerment of women and its ability to temper the dangers of neo liberalism in post conflict contexts that feminists can hope to achieve these aims Timely critical and engaged this book provides an invaluable guide to the issues for students of peace and conflict studies and sets the agenda for future scholarship and advocacy Gender Mainstreaming in Conflict Transformation Rawwida Baksh-Soodeen, 2005 Issues of socio economic development democracy and peace are linked to gender equality This book argues that gender equality needs to be placed on the policy and programme agenda of the entire spectrum of peace and conflict related initiatives and activities to achieve conflict transformation The Oxford Handbook of Women, Peace and Security Sara E. Davies, Jacqui True, 2019 Passed in 2000 the United Nations Security Council Resolution 1325 and subsequent seven Resolutions make up the Women

Peace and Security WPS agenda This agenda is an international policy framework addressing the gender specific impacts of conflict on women and girls including protection against sexual and gender based violence promotion of women s participation in peace and security processes and support for women s roles as peace builders in the prevention of conflict and rebuilding of societies after conflict The handbook addresses the concepts and early history behind WPS international institutions involved with the WPS agenda the implementation of WPS in conflict prevention and connections between WPS and other UN resolutions and agendas Implementing the Women, Peace and Security Agenda in Peace Operations Kristine St-Pierre,2011 Gender Mainstreaming in ESDP Missions Johanna Valenius,2007 In 2000 the United Nations Security Council passed Resolution 1325 Women Peace and Security which calls for gender mainstreaming This means taking account of gender factors in the planning and implementation of crisis management policies and missions and gender balancing in civilian and military operations International organisations governments and national militaries have become increasingly aware of the unintended gendered side effects of peacekeeping operations including incidents of prostitution trafficking in women and the exploitation of local women and men in post conflict societies Systematic sexualised violence against women during conflicts and the effects of this on post war reconstruction further highlights the need for gender sensitive policies Within the EU gender mainstreaming in crisis management operations became topical in 2005 when the European Council welcomed a paper by the General Secretariat on Implementation of UNSCR 1325 in the context of ESDP This Chaillot Paper seeks to clarify and explore the issue of gender mainstreaming In the first part it addresses what gender mainstreaming is and why it should be implemented in ESDP missions The second part presents the findings of a case study conducted by researchers at the EU Institute for Security Studies on the ESDP missions in Bosnia Herzegovina

Openings for Peace Asha Hans,Swarna Rajagopalan,2016-10-31 A close look at the relevance utility and potential of the UNSC Resolution 1325 for achieving inclusive and sustainable peace in India This is one of the first crucial discussions on what can be adapted and implemented in the United Nations Security Council s Resolution 1325 on women peace security WPS and militarization in the Indian context It examines cases that reveal the expanded context of conflict and insecurity showing the possible relevance and limitations of the UN Resolution as a tool for social and policy change in India Being comprehensive in approach the book links discussions on the WPS resolutions 1325 and its successors with militarism and explores the relevance of the latter in settings that are not deemed as conflict It deliberates the result of militarization and engendered conflict in the Indian states and also discusses Indian peacekeeping operations which are an important part of India s international engagement Responsibility to Protect and Women, Peace and Security Sara E. Davies,Zim Nwokora,Eli Stamnes,Sarah Teitt,2013-08-08 In Responsibility to Protect and Women Peace and Security Aligning the Protection Agendas editors Davies Nwokora Stamnes and Teitt address the intersections of the Responsibility to Protect R2P principle and the Women Peace and Security WPS agenda Widespread or systematic sexual or gender based violence is a war crime a crime against humanity and an act of genocide all of which are clearly addressed in the R2P principle The protection of those at risk of widespread sexual violence is therefore not only relative to the Women Peace and Security WPS agenda but a fundamental sovereign obligation for all states as part of their commitment to R2P Contributions from policy makers and academics consider both the merits and the utility of aligning the protection agendas of R2P and WPS Ultimately a number of actionable recommendations are made concerning a unification of the agendas to best support the global empowerment of women and prevention of mass atrocities

Making Gender, Making War Annica Kronsell, Erika Svedberg, 2011-09-23 Making Gender Making War is a unique interdisciplinary edited collection which explores the social construction of gender war making and peacekeeping It highlights the institutions and processes involved in the making of gender in terms of both men and women masculinity and femininity The war question for feminism marks a thematic red thread throughout it is a call to students and scholars of feminism to take seriously and engage with the task of analyzing war Contributors analyze how war making is intertwined with the making of gender in a diversity of empirical case studies organized around four themes gender violence and militarism how the making of gender is connected to a re making of the nation through military practices UN SCR 1325 and gender mainstreaming in institutional practices and gender subjectivities in the organization of violence exploring the notion of violent women and non violent men

Rethinking Peacekeeping, Gender Equality and Collective Security G. Heathcote, D. Otto, 2014-09-01 This book examines how the Security Council has approached issues of gender equality since 2000 Written by academics activists and practitioners the book challenges the reader to consider how women s participation gender equality sexual violence and the prevalence of economic disadvantages might be addressed in post conflict communities

Implementing the Women, Peace and Security Agenda in Peace Operations, 2014 The purpose of gender mainstreaming in peace operations is to ensure that the needs of men and women in host societies are met adequately and documents such as Resolution 1325 are important tools for international organizations and peacekeeping troops in this work The success of mainstreaming however depends on how seriously international actors incorporate gender sensitivity into their policies and practices
