Gender Roles And Faculty Lives In Rhetoric And Composition:

Gender Roles and Faculty Lives in Rhetoric and Composition Theresa Enos, 1996 Enos describes and classifies narratives gathered from surveys interviews and campus visits and interweaves these narratives with statistical data gathered from national surveys that show gendered experiences in the profession Enos discusses the ways in which these experiences affect the working conditions of writing teachers and administrators in various programs at different types of institutions Rhetoric and Composition Duane H. Roen, Stuart C. Brown, Theresa Jarnagi Enos, 1998-11-01 This collection of the stories of scholars who have found a lifelong commitment to the teaching of writing includes the professional histories of 19 rhetoricians and compositionists who explain how they came to fall in love with the written word and with teaching Their stories are filled with personal anecdotes some funny some touching some m Women's Ways of Making It in Rhetoric and Composition Michelle Ballif, D. Diane Davis, Roxanne Mountford, 2010-03-17 This volume explores how women in the fields of rhetoric and composition have succeeded despite the challenges inherent in the circumstances of their work Focusing on those women generally viewed as successful in rhetoric and composition this volume relates their stories of successes and failures to serve as models for other women in the profession who aspire to make it too to succeed as women academics in a sea of gender and disciplinary bias and to have a life as well Building on the gains made by several generations of rhetoric and composition scholars this volume provides strategies for a newer generation of scholars entering the field and in so doing broadens the support base for women in the field by connecting them with a greater web of women in the profession Offering frank discussion of professional and personal struggles as well as providing reference materials addressing these concerns solid career advice and inspirational narratives told by women who have made it in the field of rhetoric and composition this work highlights such common concerns as dealing with sexism in the tenure and promotion process maintaining a balance between career and family struggling for scholarly and or administrative respect mentoring junior women finding one s voice in scholarship and struggling to say no to unrewarded service work The profiles of individual successful women describe each woman's methods for success examine the price each has paid for that success and pass along the advice each has to offer other women who are beginning a career in the field or attempting to jumpstart an existing career With resources and general advice for women in the field of rhetoric and composition to guide them through their careers as they become survive and thrive as professionals in the discipline this book is must have reading for every woman making her career in the rhetoric and composition fields The Promise and Perils of Writing Program Administration Theresa Enos, Shane Borrowman, 2008-01-26 Combining formal quantitative research with narrative based scholarship THE PROMISE AND PERILS OF WRITING PROGRAM ADMINISTRATION represents multiple voices from faculty balancing between the demands of teaching writing and administering writing programs in professional ethical ways often under circumstances that can be defined at best as difficult In these pages junior faculty tell their stories of triumph and trauma while more firmly established

Hogan, 2012-02-01 All tenured and tenure track faculy know the trinity of promotion and tenure criteria research teaching and service While teaching and research are relatively well defined areas of institutional focus and evaluation service work is rarely tabulated or analyzed as a key aspect of higher education s political economy Instead service silent and invisible coexists with the formal official economy of many institutions just as women s unrecognized domestic labor props up the formal official economies of countries the world over Over Ten Million Served explores what academic service is and investigates why this labor is often not acknowledged as labor by administrators or even by faculty themselves but is instead relegated to a gendered form of institutional caregiving By analyzing the actual labor of service particularly for women and racial ethnic and sexual minorities contributors expose the hidden economy of institutional service challenging the feminization of service labor in the academy for both female and male academic laborers Writing Program Administrator's Resource Stuart C. Brown, Theresa Jarnagi Enos, 2005-04-11 The role of the writing program administrator is one of diverse activities and challenges and preparation for the position has traditionally come through performing the job itself As a result uninitiated WPAs often find themselves struggling to manage the various requirements and demands of the position and even experienced WPAs often encounter situations on which they need advice The Writing Program Administrator's Resource has been developed to address the needs of all WPAs regardless of background or experience It provides practical applicable tools to effectively address the differing and sometimes competing roles in which WPAs find themselves Readers will find an invaluable collection of articles in this volume addressing fundamental practices and issues encountered by WPAs in their workplace settings and focusing on the hows and whys of writing program administration With formal preparation and training only now beginning to catch up to the very real needs of the WPA this volume offers guidance and support from authoritative and experienced sources educators who have established the definitions and standards of the position who have run into obstacles and surmounted them and who have not just survived but thrived in their roles as WPAs Editors Stuart C Brown and Theresa Enos contribute their own experience and bring together the voices of their colleagues to delineate the intellectual scope and practices of writing program administration as an emerging discipline Established and esteemed leaders in the field offer insights advice and plans of action for the myriad scenarios encountered in the position encouraging WPAs and helping them to realize that they often know more than they think they do This resource is required reading for the new WPA and an essential reference for all who serve in the WPA role As a guidebook for WPAs it is destined to become a fixture on the desk of every educator involved with or interested in administrating writing programs writing centers and writing across the curriculum efforts Advancement in Composition Studies Richard C. Gebhardt, Barbara Genelle Smith Gebhardt, 2023-04-28 This volume deals with a number of related issues that are becoming increasingly crucial for English studies during this time when most faculty in the field are assistant professors approaching tenure review or associate professors seeking promotion These critical issues focus on The diversity of research and scholarly publication in composition studies The fact that composition studies faculty are often evaluated by personnel committee members department chairs and deans unfamiliar with the nature and demands of the field The way that American higher education is rethinking scholarship and the role it plays in the work and evaluation of faculty members and The role composition studies faculty can play in this review of scholarship and professional advancement This book seeks to address the entire spectrum of composition studies expository and argumentative writing personal essay literary nonfiction technical and business writing historical rhetoric empirical research and more by understanding the nature of and evaluating the work of faculty members in this broad field Scholarship and advancement issues are discussed in a variety of situations including basic and regular first year composition classes at four year and two year institutions or writing centers advanced writing courses ESL and skills development programs and writing classes and programs for teachers administrators and researchers. The chapters focus on a variety of subjects including the importance of mentoring and faculty development in all departments and institutions and how young scholar teachers and assistant professors can prepare for a successful personnel or tenure review Revisionary Rhetoric, Feminist Pedagogy, and Multigenre Texts Julie Jung, 2005 In this precise and provocative treatise Julie Jung augments the understanding and teaching of revision by arguing that the process should entail changing attitudes rather than simply changing texts Revisionary Rhetoric Feminist Pedagogy and Multigenre Texts proposes and demonstrates alternative ways of reading writing and teaching that hear silences in such a way as to generate personal pedagogical and professional revisions As both a challenge to prevailing revision pedagogies and an elaboration of contemporary feminist rhetorics the volume encourages students and instructors to examine their identities as scholars of rhetoric and composition and to question how and why revision is taught Jung analyzes feminist texts to identify a revisionary rhetoric that is at its core most concerned with creating a space in which to engage productively with issues of difference This synthesis of feminist theory and revision studies yields a pedagogically useful definition of feminist rhetoric through which Jung examines the insights afforded by multigenre texts in various related contexts the academic essay the discipline of rhetoric and composition studies feminist composition and the subfields of English studies including rhetoric and composition literature and creative writing Jung illustrates how multigenre texts demand innovative methods of inquiry because they do not fit the conventions of any single genre Because genre is inextricably tied to the construction of social identity she explains multigenre texts also offer a means for understanding and revising disciplinary identity Boldly making a case for the revisionary power of multigenre texts Jung retheorizes revision as a process of disrupting textual clarity so that differences can be identified contended with and perhaps understood Revisionary Rhetoric Feminist Pedagogy and Multigenre Texts makes great strides towards defining feminist rhetoric and ascertaining how revision can be theorized not just practiced Jung also provides a multigenre epilogue that explores the usefulness of reconceiving revision as a progression towards wholeness rather than perfection

Landmark Essays on Writing Program Administration Kelly Ritter, MELISSA IANETTA, 2024-11-01 Leading with the provocative observation that writing programs administration lacks an established set of texts that provides a baseline of shared knowledge in which to root our ongoing conversations and with which to welcome newcomers Landmark Essays on Writing Program Administration focuses on WPA identity to propose one such grouping of texts This Landmark volume is the cornerstone resource for new Writing Program Administrators and graduate students seeking an ever important overview of the literature on Writing Program Administration Drawing broadly across scholarship in writing programs and writing centers Ritter and Ianetta work to historicize theorize and problematize the ever shifting answers offered to the question Who or what is a WPA Perspectives on Rhetorical Invention Janet Atwill, Janice M. Lauer, 2002 Rhetorical invention the discursive art of inquiry and discovery has great significance in the history of spoken and written communication dating back to the ancient Greeks and Romans Yet invention has received relatively little attention in recent discussions of rhetoric writing and communication This collection of essays is the first book in years to focus on current research in rhetorical invention The contributors include many well established scholars as well as new voices in the field They reflect a variety of approaches and perspectives theory history culture politics institutions pedagogy and community service Several of the essays address the relationship between invention and postmodernism some by refiguring invention others by challenging postmodernism Still other essays explore multicultural conceptions of invention the civic function of invention and rhetoric and the role of rhetorical invention in institutions and in comunity problem solving Taken together these essays provide a much needed forum for ongoing study of rhetorical invention within the framework of recent developments in both scholarship and the culture at large If inventional research is to continue and flourish notes Janice Lauer in her foreword it must remain sensitive to shifts in epistemology ethics and politics The essays in this volume undertake this effort The Editors Janet M Atwill is associate professor of English at the University of Tennessee The author of Rhetoric Reclaimed Aristotle and the Liberal Arts Tradition and coauthor of Four Worlds of Writing Inquiry and Action in Context and Writing A College Handbook she has published articles in Rhetoric Review Encyclopedia of Rhetoric and the Journal of Advanced Composition

Janice M Lauer is Reece McGee Distinguished Professor of English at Purdue University where she founded directed and teaches in the graduate program in Rhetoric and Composition She is coauthor of Four Worlds of Writing and Composition Research Empirical Designs and has published numerous articles on rhetoric and composition Contributors Frederick J Antczak Janet M Atwill Julia Deems Richard Leo Enos Theresa Enos Linda Flower Debra Hawhee Janice M Lauer Donald Lazere Yameng Liu Arabella Lyon Louise Wetherbee Phelps Jay Satterfield Haixia Wang Mark T Williams Managerial Unconscious in the History of Composition Studies Donna Strickland, 2011-07-11 In this pointed appraisal of composition studies Donna Strickland contends the rise of writing program administration is crucial to understanding the history of the field Noting existing histories of composition studies that offer little to no exploration of administration Strickland argues the field suffers from a managerial unconscious that ignores or denies the dependence of the teaching of writing on administrative structures The Managerial Unconscious in the History of Composition Studies is the first book to address the history of composition studies as a profession rather than focusing on its pedagogical theories and systems Strickland questions why writing and the teaching of writing have been the major areas of scholarly inquiry in the field when specialists often work primarily as writing program administrators not teachers Strickland traces the emergence of writing programs in the early twentieth century the founding of two professional organizations by and for writing program administrators and the managerial overtones of the social turn of the field during the 1990s She illustrates how these managerial imperatives not only have provided much of the impetus for the growth of composition studies over the past three decades but also have contributed to the stratified workplaces and managed writing practices the field s pedagogical research often decries The Managerial Unconscious in the History of Composition Studies makes the case that administrative work should not be separated from intellectual work calling attention to the interplay between these two kinds of work in academia at large and to the pronounced hierarchies of contingent faculty and tenure track administrators endemic to college writing programs The result is a reasoned plea for an alternative understanding of the very mission of the field itself

Colonial Temporality and Writing Education Xiaoye You,Othman Z. Barnawi,2025-09-29 This book examines how a colonial matrix of power is established through temporality in English writing education It offers discourse analyses of higher educational policies that operate in China and Saudi Arabia and then triangulates this data with conversations with writing teachers from representative Chinese and Saudi universities Drawing on all this data to understand both the structured power relations shaping educational policies and the attendant effects on the writing teachers that inhabit these spaces the book develops a decolonial comparative method and adopts the concept of temporal regime as an analytic lens It not only attends to the complex and multilayered ways that this regime controls disciplines and shapes the social wellbeing and professional practices of individual writing teachers but it also details the various ways that teachers understand experience resist negotiate and appropriate the temporal orders

Mentorship/Methodology Leigh Gruwell, Charles Lesh, 2024-04-22

Mentorship Methodology brings together emerging and established scholars to consider the relationship between mentoring practices and research methodologies in writing studies and related fields Each essay in this edited collection produces a new intellectual space from which to theorize the dynamics of combining mentoring and research in institutions and communities of higher education The contributors consider how methodology informs mentorship how mentorship activates methodology and how to locate the future of the field in these moments of intersection Mentorship through the research and relationships it nourishes creates the future of writing studies or conversely reproduces the past At the juncture where this happens the contributors inquire Where have current arrangements of mentorship methodology taken writing studies Where do these points of intersection exist in performance and practice in theory in research What images of the field do they produce How can scholars better articulate and write about these moments or spaces in which mentorship and methodology collide in productive disciplinary work By making the slash more visible Mentorship Methodology provides significant opportunities to support and cultivate diverse ways of knowing and being in rhetoric and composition both locally and globally The volume will appeal to students and scholars of rhetoric composition and technical and professional communication as well as readers interested in conversations about mentorship and methodology
