Globalization and Third World Women Ligaya Lindio-McGovern,Isidor Wallimann,2016-04-22 Adopting the notion of third world as a political as well as a geographical category this volume analyzes marginalized women s experiences of globalization It unravels the intersections of race culture ethnicity nationality and class which have shaped the position of these women in the global political economy their cultural and their national history In addition to a thematically structured and highly informative investigation the authors offer an exploration of the policy implications which are commonly neglected in mainstream literature The result is a must have volume for sociological academics social policy experts and professionals working within non governmental organizations

What Works? D. Scott Slocombe,1993

Food and Nutrition Paul Fieldhouse,2013-12-14 As someone who was trained in the clinical sdentific tradition it took me several years to start to appreciate that food was more than a collection of nutrients and that most people did not make their choices of what to eat on the biologically rational basis of nutritional composition This realiza tion helped tobring me to an understanding of why people didn t always eat what I believed was good for them and why the patients I had seen in hospital as often as not had failed to follow the dietary advice I had so confidently given When I entered the field of health education I quickly discovered the farnaus World Health Organization definition of health as being a state of complete physical mental and social well being and not merely the absence of disease Health was a triangle and I had been guilty of virtu ally ignoring two sides of that triangle As I became involved in practical nutrition education initiatives the deficiencies of an approach based on giving information about nutrition and physical health became more and more apparent The children whom I saw in schools knew exactly what to say when asked to describe a nutritious diet they could recite the food guide and list rich sources of vitamins and minerals but none of this intellectual knowledge was reflected in their own actual eating habits

Gendered Approaches to Spatial Development in Europe Barbara Zibell,Doris Damyanovic,Ulrike Sturm,2019-03-27 This book

explores the extent to which gendered approaches are evident and effective in spatial development in selected European countries Beginning with an introduction to theories and concepts of gender space and development the book includes a brief historical review of gender in spatial planning and development throughout Europe in general and an overview of different national frameworks in European countries comparing legal organisational and cultural similarities and differences This is followed by a critical reflection on how simplifications and stereotypes of gender concepts are used in the practice of spatial development The main part of the book offers a transnational discussion of planning practices on selected thematic topics It starts with gender sensitivity in urban master planning and at neighbourhood level referring to different types of planning manuals Furthermore the book focuses on gender sensitive evaluation in urban planning as well as international agendas for sustainable development as a framework for a new generation of gender equality policies The chapter authors assert that climate change migration and austerity have threatened gender equality and therefore spatial development needs to be especially alert to gender dimensions The editors end with an outlook and suggestions for further action and research on gender issues in spatial development With inputs from some of Europe's leading thinkers on gender space and development this volume is designed to inspire students scholars and practitioners to reflect upon the contribution that gendered approaches can make in the various fields of spatial development and environmental planning Learning about Livelihoods, 2002 Videocassette summary Drawn from Lesotho Mozambique South Africa Zambia and Zimbabwe these films reflect the impacts of retrenchment flood risk recurrent drought HIV AIDS violence and political instability on individual households and their communities World Water Assessment Programme Sri Lanka Case Study K. A. U. S. Imbulana, Peter

Droogers, Ian W. Makin, 2002-04-07 The Case Study Workshop was organized with the objective of obtaining the necessary input the experts on different subject areas of water resources subject those views and discussion among the stakeholder agencies and synthesize the information to a report on the case study The outcome of the Workshop would eventually transform into the contribution of Sri Lanka to the first WWDR
