Gene Technology And The Public An Interdisciplinary Perspective:

Gene Technology and the Public Susanne Lundin, Malin Ideland, 1997 A collection of essays on Gene technology and ethics
Public Opinion William A. Blade, 2002 Twenty four news networks a plethora of newspapers and magazines vibrant news talk radio and the ubiquitous Internet highlight our society as information driven With such a steady stream of hard facts mixed with publicised opinions the mainstream population has an opinion on everything Most anyone seems itching to argue their side of an issue making once private beliefs fodder for general consumption A staple of any medium s content is a regular public opinion poll on whatever hot topic strikes the editor s fancy From the significant to the mundane public opinion permeates society Accordingly politicians have taken note of these opinions and adopted stands and values that put them in tune with public sentiment An understanding of the nature of public opinion therefore is paramount in today s world This book assembles and presents a carefully chosen bibliography on public opinion in its many forms The collection of references makes for a valuable resource in studying and researching the critical issue of public opinion Easy access to these pieces of literature are then provided with author title and subject indexes

New Directions in Anthropological Kinship Linda Stone, 2002-05-30 Following periods of intense debate and eventual demise kinship studies is now seeing a revival in anthropology New Directions in Anthropological Kinship captures these recent trends and explores new avenues of inquiry in this re emerging subfield The book comprises contributions from primatology evolutionary anthropology archaeology and cultural anthropology The authors review the history of kinship in anthropology and its theory and recent research in relation to new directions of anthropological study Moving beyond the contentious debates of the past the book covers feminist anthropology on kinship the expansion of kinship into the areas of new reproductive technologies recent kinship constructions in EuroAmerican societies and the role of kinship in state politics

Integrating and Articulating Environments: A Challenge for Northern and Southern Europe F. Adaman, F. Goksen, J. Grolin, M. O'Brien, O. Seippel, E.U. Zenginobuz, 2015-03-14 A critical comparative exploration of the framing of environmental problems in Northern and Southern Europe The book addresses theoretical and empirical questions about environmental attitudes and behaviours politics and protest cultures and contexts

Gene Technology and Economy Susanne Lundin, Lynn Åkesson, 2002 Since the late 1990s few areas of science have been able to compete with genetics when it comes to attracting public interest The mapping of the entire human gene pool the Hugo project makes clear that genetics and gene technology concern life itself The analysis of the human DNA means that new medicines can be designed but also that human genetic material can be patented and commercialized In this volume scholars shed light on the links between biotechnology and economics from a multidisciplinary perspective Patent on genes national and global power im balance as well as human and plant genomics are discussed

The Transplant Imaginary Lesley A. Sharp, 2014 In The Transplant Imaginary author Lesley Sharp explores the extraordinarily surgically successful realm of organ transplantation which is plagued worldwide by the scarcity of donated human parts a quandary that generates ongoing debates over the marketing of organs as patients die waiting for replacements. These widespread anxieties within and beyond medicine over organ scarcity inspire seemingly futuristic trajectories in other fields. Especially prominent longstanding and promising domains include xenotransplantation or efforts to cull fleshy organs from animals for human use and bioengineering a field peopled with tinkerers intent on designing implantable mechanical devices where the heart is of special interest. Scarcity, suffering and sacrifice are pervasive and seemingly inescapable themes that frame the transplant imaginary. Xenotransplant experts and bioengineers at work in labs in five Anglophone countries share a marked determination to eliminate scarcity and human suffering, certain that their efforts might one day altogether eliminate any need for parts of human origin. A premise that drives Sharp's compelling ethnographic project is that high stakes experimentation inspires moral thinking informing scientists' determination to redirect the surgical trajectory of transplantation and ultimately alter the integrity of the human form.

PGD and Embryo Selection Ingileif Jónsdóttir, 2005 Genomics and Bioethics: Interdisciplinary Perspectives, Technologies and Advancements Hongladarom, Soraj, 2010-09-30 This book focuses on ethical, social, cultural and legal implications of genetics, genomics and genetic databanking as they relate to concrete cultural and historical traditions. Provided by publisher.

Public Understanding of Science, 2000 A forum for the emerging interdisciplinary field of public understanding of science, this journal encourages open debate of contrasting and even conflicting viewpoints on all aspects of the interrelationships between science and the public.

Gene Therapy: Prospective Technology assessment in its societal context Jörg Niewöhner, Christof Tannert, 2011-08-19 This book presents work that has been conducted as part of the research project 'Discourse on ethical questions of biomedicine' of the interdisciplinary Working Group 'Bioethics and Science Communication' at the Max Delbrück Center for Molecular Medicine (MDC) in Berlin, Germany. This book offers groundbreaking ideas on how the daily interworking of cutting edge biomedical research assesses the broader social context and its communication to stakeholders and the public. Editors cover three aspects: Scientific, Ethical and Legal, and Perception and Communication. This work establishes an international and interdisciplinary network of excellent researchers at the beginning of their careers who brilliantly integrate their work into the different perspectives on gene therapy from the natural and social sciences as well as the humanities and law. Discusses biological and cellular barriers limiting the clinical application of nonviral gene delivery systems. Addresses such questions as: Does patent granting hinder the development of Gene Therapy products? Offers insight in the future of public perception of gene therapy in Europe. Provides details on how to communicate risks in gene therapy.
