Women's Health in Africa Chimaraoke Izugbara, Eleanor Covan, Elizabeth Fugate-Whitlock, 2017-10-02 This edited book includes new policy relevant research on women s health issues in Africa

Scholars explore critical topics from different disciplinary traditions using a variety of research methodologies and data sources. The contributors include African scholars with in-depth knowledge of their home contexts who can furnish nuanced interpretations of local health issues and trends; international researchers who bring vigorous comparative viewpoints; emerging scholars adding to scientific knowledge; and more established researchers with a deep global knowledge of women's health issues. The range of women's health issues is vast, including the HIV epidemic and its impacts, domestic violence, the persistence of homebirths and abortion. In addition, the book investigates emerging health concerns such as CVDs and cancers. Readers will learn that while old health issues have persisted and assumed new dimensions, newer concerns have materialized and are gaining momentum. The inability of health systems to tackle these issues complicates matters in Africa, creating a sense of desperation that can only be successfully confronted through strong political will and strategic planning grounded in further research. This book was originally published as several special issues of Health Care for Women International.

African Childhoods M. Ensor, 2012-09-07 With 70 per cent of its people under the age of 30, Africa is the world's youngest continent. African youngsters have been largely characterized as either vulnerable victims of the frequent humanitarian crises that plague their homelands or as violent militarized youth and troubled gang members. Young people's contributions to processes of educational provision, peace building, and participatory human development in Africa are often ignored. While acknowledging the profound challenges associated with growing up in an environment of uncertainty and deprivation, African Childhoods sheds light on African children's often constructive engagement with a variety of societal conditions, adverse or otherwise, and their ability to positively influence their own lives and those of others. A Companion to the Anthropology of Africa Roy Richard Grinker, Stephen C. Lubkemann, Christopher B. Steiner, Euclides Gonçalves, 2018-11-09

An essential collection of scholarly essays on the anthropology of Africa offering a thorough introduction to the most important topics in this evolving and diverse field of study. The study of the cultures of Africa has been central to the methodological and theoretical development of anthropology as a discipline since the late 19th century. As the anthropology of Africa has emerged as a distinct field of study, anthropologists working in this tradition have strived to build a disciplinary conversation that recognizes the diversity and complexity of modern and ancient African cultures while acknowledging the effects of historical anthropology on the present and future of the field of study. A Companion to the Anthropology of Africa is a collection of insightful essays covering the key questions and subjects in the contemporary anthropology of Africa, with a key focus on addressing the topics that define the contemporary discipline. Written and edited by a team of leading cultural anthropologists, it is an ideal introduction to the most important topics in the field, both those that have consistently been a part of the critical dialogue and those that have emerged as the central questions of the discipline's future. Beginning with essays on the enduring topics in the study of African cultures, A Companion to the Anthropology of Africa provides a foundation in the contemporary critical approach to subjects of longstanding interest. With these subjects as a groundwork later essays address decolonization the postcolonial experience and questions of modern identity and definition providing representation of the diverse thinking and scholarship in the modern anthropology of Africa

Towards a Critical Political Ethics Hille Haker, 2020-05-13 In her book Hille Haker pleads for a radical course correction of Catholic social ethics by focusing on three foundational concepts of social ethics human rights human dignity and moral responsibility based on the interplay of compassion solidarity and justice The author argues for a historically and politically mediated ethics that replaces the natural law ethics The theoretical reflections of the book are carried out by the practical social ethical studies The politicization of individual human rights is examined in the contexts of migration religious freedom and criminal justice Human dignity is spelled out as vulnerable agency allowing for a sharp criticism of Catholic sexual morality and neglect of women s human rights The book ends with a discussion of the relationship of political theology and political ethics and its social ethical implications for the further development of a Critical Political Ethics

Children's Lives in an Era of Children's Rights Afua Twum-Danso Imoh, Nicola Ansell, 2014-01-03 The Convention on the Rights of the Child CRC which was adopted unanimously by the United Nations General Assembly in 1989 marked a turning point in the perception of children in international law and policy Although it was hoped that the Convention would have a significant and positive impact on the lives of all children this has not happened in many parts of the world This edited volume based on empirical research and Non Governmental Organisation project data explores the progress of the Convention on the Rights of the Child and to a lesser extent the African Charter on the Rights and Welfare of the Child in nine African countries in the 25 years since it was adopted by the UN General Assembly The book considers the implementation of the Convention both in terms of policy and practice and its impact on the lived experiences of children in societies across the continent focusing on specific themes such as HIV AIDS education and disability child labour witchcraft stigmatisation street children parent child relationships and child participation The book breaks new ground in blending legal and social perspectives of the experiences of children and identifies concrete ways forward for the better implementation of the CRC treaty in the various political contexts that exist in Africa

One day this will all be over Ross Parsons, 2012-05-13 Ross Parsons has been working with HIV positive children in Mutare since 2005 As a child psychotherapist he was interested in exploring how a therapeutic group meeting regularly might offer a way of elaborating and meeting their needs His account of these experiences is presented as a rare blend of anthropological and psychotherapeutic approaches to the study of children and he is candid about the close even intimate relationships that resulted I have crossed the classical ethnographic and psychoanalytic boundary of the cool observer The therapist while still awkwardly present has also become an advocate in pursuit of the ethnographic The period of his research coincided with one of deep crisis in Zimbabwes economy employment opportunities were few public health and education services were in decay and the prospects were grim for those on the margins of society In the course of my fieldwork I have attended too many funerals In the absence of state support the poor look variously to international NGOs and to the church Parsons offers telling insights into the crossroads of donated pharmaceuticals and Christian faith and is constantly alert to the place of traditional spirituality and ties of kinship Promising Practices III

,2011-07-11 Children, Young People and Care John Horton,Michelle Pyer,2017-04-28 The very notions of childhood and youth are intimately connected to contemporary norms practices and spaces of care caring and care giving The provision of care is widely figured as both the primary responsibility of parents carers and practitioners who work with children and young people and the primary factor in shaping children and young people s development education socialisation wellbeing and contentment However children and young people themselves are rarely figured as key actors in the provision of care An overwhelming presumption that children and young people are to be cared for has effectively marginalised their agency and responsibilities as carers or in relation to practices and spaces of care Bringing together a significant array of multidisciplinary work on children young people and families this collection draws together new research on the diverse lives and experiences of children and young people as carers as cared for and in relation to spaces and institutions of care It is the first collection specifically devoted to the subject of care in relation to childhood and youth As such the book will be a key resource for academics practitioners and students seeking leading edge empirical and conceptual material on this topic

HIV and AIDS Michael J. Kelly,2006 Vulnerabilities, Impacts, and Responses to HIV/AIDS in Sub-Saharan Africa Getnet Tadele,Helmut Kloos,2013-05-07 This book examines HIV AIDS vulnerabilities impacts and responses in the socioeconomic and cultural context of Sub Saharan Africa With contributions from social scientists and public health experts the volume identifies gender inequality and poverty as the main causes of the HIV epidemic in sub Saharan Africa

Protecting Childhood in the AIDS Pandemic Jody Heymann,Lorraine Sherr,Rachel Kidman,2012-02-20 Protecting Childhood in the AIDS Pandemic provides lessons from experts around the world on how to transform the outcomes of children affected by HIV AIDS It examines which public policies and programs best meet the full range of children s needs from medical care to social support and from infancy to adolescence Caring for Orphaned Children in China Shang Xiaoyuan,Karen R. Fisher,2013-12-24 International media regularly features horrific stories about Chinese orphanages especially when debating international adoption and human rights Much of the popular information is dated and ill informed about the experiences of most orphans in China today Chinese government policy and improvements evident in parts of China Informal kinship care is the most common support for the orphaned children The state supports orphans and abandoned children whose parents and relatives cannot be found or contacted The book explores concrete examples about the changing experiences and future directions of Chinese child welfare policy It is about the support to disadvantaged children including abandoned children in the care of the state most of whom have disabilities HIV affected children and orphans in kinship care It identifies how many orphans are in China how they are supported the extent to which their rights are met and what efforts are made to improve their rights and welfare provision When our research about Chinese orphans started in 2001 these children were almost entirely voiceless Since then the Chinese government has committed to improving child welfare We argue that a mixed welfare system in which state provision supplements family and community care is an effective direction to improve support for orphaned children Government needs to take responsibility to guarantee orphans rights as children and support family networks to provide care so that children can grow up in their own communities The book contributes to academic and policy understanding of the steps that have been taken and are still required to achieve the goal of a child welfare system in China that meets the rights of orphans to live and thrive with other children in a family

Children Caring for Parents with HIV and AIDS Ruth Evans,Saul Becker,2009-03-11 Focusing on the experiences and perspectives of children who are caring for a parent with HIV in the global North and South this text presents a unique insight into the similarities and differences in children s experiences across diverse socioeconomic cultural and welfare contexts
