Generation 15 Meets College Composition:

Generation 1.5 Meets College Composition Linda Harklau, Kay M. Losey, Meryl Siegal, 1999-05-01 An increasing number of students graduate from U S high schools and enter college while still in the process of learning English This group the 1 5 generation consisting of immigrants and U S residents born abroad as well as indigenous language minority groups is rapidly becoming a major constituency in college writing programs These students defy the existing categories in most college writing programs and in the research literature Experienced in American culture and schooling they have characteristics and needs distinct from the international students who have been the subject of most research and literature on ESL writing Furthermore in studies of mainstream college composition basic writing and diversity these students status as second language learners is usually left unaddressed or even misconstrued as underpreparation Nevertheless research and pedagogical writings have yet to take up the particular issues entailed in teaching composition to this student population The intent in this volume is to bridge this gap and to initiate a dialogue on the linguistic cultural and ethical issues that attend teaching college writing to U S educated linguistically diverse students This book is the first to address explicitly issues in the instruction of 1 5 generation college writers From urban New York City to midwestern land grant universities to the Pacific Rim experienced educators and researchers discuss a variety of contexts populations programs and perspectives The 12 chapters in this collection authored by prominent authorities in non native language writing are research based and conceptual providing a research based survey of who the students are their backgrounds and needs and how they are placed and instructed in a variety of settings The authors frame issues raise questions and provide portraits of language minority students and the classrooms and programs that serve them Together the pieces paint the landscape of college writing instruction for 1 5 generation students and explore the issues faced by ESL and college writing programs in providing appropriate writing instruction to second language learners arriving from U S high schools This book serves not only to articulate an issue and set an agenda for further research and discussion but also to suggest paths toward linguistic and cultural sensitivity in any writing classroom It is thought provoking reading for college administrators writing teachers and scholars and students of first and second language composition

Generation 1.5 in College Composition

Mark Roberge, Joel Spring, 2008 Teaching College Writing to Diverse Student Populations Dana Ferris, 2009-06-02 Statistical and anecdotal evidence documents that even states with relatively little ethnic or cultural diversity are beginning to notice and ask questions about long term resident immigrants in their classes As shifts in student population become more widespread there is an even greater need for second language specialists composition specialists program administrators and developers in colleges and universities to understand and adapt to the needs of the changing student audience s This book is designed as an introduction to the topic of diverse second language student audiences in U S post secondary education It is appropriate for those interested in working with students in academic settings especially those students who are transitioning from secondary to post secondary education It provides a coherent synthesis and summary not only of the scope and nature of the changes but of their practical implications for program administration course design and classroom instruction particularly for writing courses For pre service teachers and those new er to the field of working with L2 student writers it offers an accessible and focused look at the audience issues with many practical suggestions For teacher educators and administrators it offers a resource that can inform their own decision making

Teaching L2 Composition Dana R. Ferris, John S. Hedgcock, 2023-03-23 This popular comprehensive theory to practice text helps teachers understand the task of writing L2 writers the different pedagogical models used in current composition teaching and reading writing connections Moving from general themes to specific pedagogical concerns it includes practice oriented chapters on the role of genre task construction course and lesson design writing assessment feedback error treatment and classroom language grammar vocabulary style instruction Each chapter includes Questions for Reflection Further Reading and Resources Reflection and Review and Application Activities An ideal text for L2 teacher preparation courses and in service writing instructors the text offers an accessible synthesis of theory and research that enables readers to see the relevance of the field s knowledge base to their own present or future classroom settings and student writers New to the Fourth Edition Updated with new research theory and developments in the field throughout the text Visually accessible layout and design for improved reader navigability Expanded attention to technological affordances for writing pedagogy Stand alone reference list in each chapter Support Material with activities and resources from the text also available on the book s webpage at www.routledge.com 9780367436780

Landmark Essays on ESL Writing Tony Silva, Paul Kei Matsuda, 2013-10-31 In recent years the number of nonnative speakers of English in colleges and universities in North America has increased dramatically As a result more and more writing teachers have found themselves working with these English as a Second Language ESL students in writing classes that are designed primarily with monolingual native English speaking students in mind Since the majority of institutions require these students to enroll in writing courses at all levels it is becoming increasingly important for all writing teachers to be aware of the presence and special linguistic and cultural needs of ESL writers This increase in the ESL population has over the last 40 years been paralleled by a similar growth in research on ESL writing and writing instruction research that writing teachers need to be familiar with in order to work effectively with ESL writers in writing classrooms of all levels and types Until recently however this body of knowledge has not been very accessible to writing teachers and researchers who do not specialize in second language research and instruction This volume is an attempt to remedy this problem by providing a sense of how ESL writing scholarship has evolved over the last four decades It brings together 15 articles that address various issues in second language writing in general and ESL writing in particular In selecting articles for inclusion the editors tried to take a principled approach The articles included in this volume have been chosen from a large database of publications in second language writing The editors looked for works that mirrored the state of the art when they were published and made a conscious effort to represent a wide variety of perspectives contributions and issues in the field To provide a sense of the evolution of the field this collection is arranged in chronological order     Research on Composition Peter Smagorinsky,2006 Covering the period between 1984 and 2003 this authoritative sequel picks up where the earlier volumes Braddock et al 1963 and Hillocks 1986 now classics in the field left off It features a broader focus that goes beyond the classroom teaching of writing to include teacher research second language writing rhetoric home and community literacy workplace literacy and histories of writing Each chapter is written by an expert in the area reviewed and covers both conventional written composition and multimodal forms of composition including drawing digital forms and other relevant media Research on Composition is an invaluable road map of composition research for the next decade and required reading for anyone teaching or writing about composition today     Writing for scholarly publication in english. Issues for nonnative speakers Grazia M. Saracino,2004     Resources in Education ,1999-10     Reference & User Services Quarterly ,2007     Critical English for Academic Purposes Sarah Benesch,2001-03-01 Critical English for Academic Purposes Theory Politics and Practice is the first book to combine the theory and practice of two fields English for academic purposes and critical pedagogy English for academic purposes EAP grounds English language teaching in the cognitive and linguistic demands of academic situations tailoring instruction to specific rather than general purposes Critical pedagogy acknowledges students and teachers subject positions that is their class race gender and ethnicity and encourages them to question the status quo Critical English for academic purposes engages students in the types of activities they are asked to carry out in academic classes while inviting them to question and in some cases transform those activities as well as the conditions from which they arose It takes into account the real challenges non native speakers of English face in their discipline specific classes while viewing students as active participants who can help shape academic goals and assignments Critical English for Academic Purposes Theory Politics and Practice relates English for academic purposes and critical pedagogy revealing and problematizing the assumptions of both fields provides theoretical and practical responses to academic syllabi and other institutional demands to show that teachers can both meet target demands and take students subjectivities into account in a climate of negotiation and possibility offers rights analysis as a critical counterpart to needs analysis discusses the politics of coverage in lecture classes and proposes alternatives and features teaching examples that address balancing the curriculum for gender building community in an EAP class of students from diverse economic and social backgrounds students rights and organizing students to change unfavorable conditions This book is intended for undergraduate and graduate courses for preservice and in service ESL and EAP teachers It is also a professional book for those interested in critical approaches to teaching and EAP     The SAGE Handbook of Writing Development Roger Beard,Jeni Riley,Debra Myhill,Martin Nystrand,2009-07-23 By drawing on international cross phase and cross disciplinary research perspectives this book offers a comprehensive review of writing development invaluable for researchers and
