Global Food Interdependence:

Global Food Interdependence Raymond F. Hopkins, Donald James Puchala, 1980 Abstract American policy directly affects international food production trade and aid Total food production is influenced by research priorities import barriers and land use restrictions Topics examined include food problems and public policy commercial and foreign aid systems organizing the executive branch for foreign food policy and American food diplomacy and future policy Global food interdependence should be based on the following principles development should be the highest priority of food diplomacy nutrition should be a central concern of food policy an adequate diet is a human right and diplomatic concern food aid is a right and an obligation agricultural information should be made available stability of food markets should be supported and orderly management is necessary for complex relationships of interdependence rm Our Common Bowl International Development Research Centre (Canada), 1992 This publication examines the issue of where food came from where it is now and where it is likely to come from in the future It looks at solutions to the equation posed by the Resource Clock in the lobby of IDRC s headquarters the top line relentlessly counts up each new birth while the bottom counts down each lost hectare of productive land on which to grow food to sustain them It also shows that although they are intertwined there is a dichotomy between the world hunger problem and the world food problem Global Food Interdependence. When Knowledge Is Power Ernst B. Haas, 2018-04-20 Do governments seeking to collaborate in such international organizations as the United Nations and the World Bank ever learn to improve the performance of those organizations Can international organizations be improved by a deliberate institutional design that reflects lessons learned in peacekeeping the protection of human rights and environmentally sound economic development In this incisive work Ernst Haas examines these and other issues to delineate the conditions under which organizations change their methods for defining problems Haas contends that international organizations change most effectively when they are able to redefine the causes underlying the problems to be addressed He shows that such self reflection is possible when the expert generated knowledge about the problems can be made to mesh with the interests of hegemonic coalitions of member governments But usually efforts to change organizations begin as adaptive practices that owe little to a systematic questioning of past behavior Often organizations adapt and survive without fully satisfying most of their members as has been the case with the United Nations since 1970 When Knowledge Is Power is a wide ranging work that will elicit interest from political scientists organization theorists bureaucrats and students of management and international administration This title is part of UC Press's Voices Revived program which commemorates University of California Press's mission to seek out and cultivate the brightest minds and give them voice reach and impact Drawing on a backlist dating to 1893 Voices Revived makes high quality peer reviewed scholarship accessible once again using print on demand technology This title was originally published in 1990
