Global Science* Paul Sillitoe, 2009 Technological capability has led through Euro American global domination to the muting of other cultural views and values even threatening their continued existence There is a growing realization that the diversity of knowledge systems demand respect some refer to them in a conservation idiom as alternative knowledge banks The scientific perspective is only one We now have many examples of the soundness of local science and practices some previously considered primitive and in need of change However this book goes beyond demonstrating the soundness of local science and arguing for the incorporation of others knowledge in development to maintain that we need to look quizzically at the foundations of science itself and further challenge its hegemony not only over local communities in Africa Asia the Pacific and elsewhere but also the global community Publisher Global Science: The Last Option Before Collapse Abdelhak Lamiri, 2024-04-26 This book presents the culmination of a 14 year pathbreaking research project examining the risks of civilisation collapse and potential solutions to avoid such an outcome A profound diagnosis reveals that the root issue lies in the widening rift between the hard and social sciences which have proven largely ineffective at managing the deficiencies of the former Of course the prevailing strategies structures and human resource management processes of modern nations have also played a significant role in destabilising societies In economics we still operate on principles of partial and general equilibrium whereas we urgently need to adopt the global equilibrium framework proposed here As things stand currently we face two major failings in confronting this crisis First we lack the knowledge to overcome the existential threats before us Second the forces calling for change have adopted inadequate strategies organisations and leadership compared to the well oiled machinery of the status quo What we need is to jointly develop the missing knowledge and use it to take appropriate action beginning with the creation of a new discipline Global Science to make sense of it all
