Abstract. The BOPPPS teaching method originated in Canada. It is a complete, effective and closed set of teaching theories and methods, which has been adopted and promoted by many countries in the world. In China, the ideological and political theory course "Outline of Modern Chinese History" (hereinafter called the OMCH) is a compulsory course for college students, and this teaching method can also be used. However, the current OMCH course is widely used in a teaching mode that is based on the timeline and is loyal to the textbook. This mode is not only difficult to embed the BOPPPS teaching method, but also makes it difficult for students to master the core content. The thematic teaching can subvert the above teaching mode, and combine with the BOPPPS teaching method to present an excellent teaching system, so as to obtain a good teaching effect. This paper analyzes how to combine BOPPPS with thematic teaching to improve the affinity and pertinence of the curriculum, and to better play the educational function of ideological and political courses.

1 The Conformity of Thematic Teaching and BOPPPS Teaching Method

In 2019, the Teaching Steering Committee of Ideological and Political Theory Courses in Higher Education Institutions of the Ministry of Education of China released the "Thematic Teaching Guide for "Outline of Modern and Contemporary Chinese History" on the basis of the 2018 edition of the textbook." Thematic Teaching requires breaking the shackles of the original textbook chapters, and highly condensing the contents of the textbook according to different historical clues or themes to determine the number and content of teaching themes, and each themes can reflect a clear teaching goal and profound thinking. There is a close logical relationship and a clear historical context between the various themes, teachers design teaching and organize teaching activities around themes, so as to better support the course objectives. Its theoretical source is

Global Perspectives on Global History Dominic Sachsenmaier, 2011-08-04 In recent years historians across the world have become increasingly interested in transnational and global approaches to the past However the debates surrounding this new border crossing movement have remained limited in scope as theoretical exchanges on the tasks responsibilities and potentials of global history have been largely confined to national or regional academic communities In this groundbreaking book Dominic Sachsenmaier sets out to redress this imbalance by offering a series of new perspectives on the global and local flows sociologies of knowledge and hierarchies that are an intrinsic part of historical practice Taking the United States Germany and China as his main case studies he reflects upon the character of different approaches to global history as well as their social political and cultural contexts He argues that this new global trend in historiography needs to be supported by a corresponding increase in transnational dialogue cooperation and exchange

Women of Chinese Modern Art Doris Sung, 2023-12-31 Winner of the SECAC Award for Excellence in Scholarly Research and Publication Bringing to light the largely overlooked female participation in domestic and international art worlds this book offers the first comprehensive study of how women embroiderers traditionalist calligraphers and painters including Shen Shou Wu Xingfen Jin Taotao and members of Chinese Women's Society of Calligraphy and Painting shaped the terrain of the modern art world and gender positioning during China's important moments of social cultural transformation from empire to republic Drawing on a wealth of previously unexhibited artworks rare artist's monographs women's journals personal narratives diaries and catalogs of international expositions Doris Sung not only affirms women's significant roles as guardian and innovator of traditionalist art forms for a modern nation but she also reveals their contribution to cultural diplomacy and revaluation of Chinese artistic heritage on the international stage in the early twentieth century

An Historical Sketch of Chinese Historiography Huaiqi Wu, 2018-01-09 This book systematically traces the development of Chinese historiography from the 2nd century B C to the 19th century A D Refusing to fit the Chinese historical narration into the modern Western discourse the author highlights the significant questions that concern traditional historians their philosophical foundations their development over three thousand years and their influence on the intelligentsia China is a country defined in terms of its history and its historians have worked hard to record the past However this book approaches Chinese history from the very beginning not only as a way of recording but also as a way of dealing with the past in order to orient the people of the present in the temporal dimension of their lives This book was listed as the key textbook of the Eleventh Five year Plan for college students in China

The Postcolonial Aura Arif Dirlik, 2018-02-20 The essays in this volume range from questions of cultural self representation in China to more general problems of reconceptualizing global relationships in response to contemporary changes Although the new era of global capitalism calls for the remapping of global relations such remapping must be informed both by a grasp of contemporary structures of economic political and cultural power and by memories of earlier radical visions of society Without these two conditions Arif Dirlik argues the current preoccupation with Eurocentrism ethnic diversity and multiculturalism distract from issues of power that dominate global relations and that find expression in murderous ethnic conflicts Dirlik offers multi historicalism which presupposes a historically grounded conception of cultural difference seeks in different histories alternative visions of human society and stresses divergent historical trajectories against a future colonized presently by an ideology of capital Arguing that the operations of capital have brought the question of the local to the fore he points to indigenism as a source of paradigms of social relations and relationships to nature to challenge the voracious

developmentalism that undermines local welfare globally

Hong Kong History Man-Kong Wong, Chi-Man

Kwong, 2021-11-10 This book aims at providing an accessible introduction to and summary of the major themes of Hong Kong history that has been studied in the past decades. Each chapter also suggests a number of key historical figures and works that are essential for the understanding of a particular theme. However, the book is by no means merely a general survey of the recent studies of Hong Kong history; it tries to suggest that the best way to approach Hong Kong history is to put it firmly in its international context.

Empire in Asia: A New Global History

Brian P. Farrell, Donna Brunero, 2018-09-20 Asia was the principle focus of empire builders from Alexander and Akbar to Chinggis Khan and Qianlong, and yet until now there has been no attempt to provide a comprehensive history of empire in the region. Empire in Asia addresses the need for a thorough survey of the topic. This volume covers the long 19th century commonly seen in terms of high imperialism and the global projection of Western power. This volume explores the dynamic, volatile and often contested processes by which, by the early years of the 20th century, Asian states, space and peoples became deeply integrated into the wider dynamics of global reordering. Drawing on case studies from across Asia, the contributors discuss key themes including ideology, concepts of identity, religion and politics, state building and state formation, the relationships between space, people and sovereignty, the movements of goods, money, people and ideas, and the influence and impact of conflict and military power. The two volumes of Empire in Asia offer a significant contribution to the theory and practice of empire when considered globally and comparatively, and are essential reading for all students and scholars of global imperial and Asian history.

After the Post-Cold War Jinhua Dai, 2018-10-25 In After the Post Cold War, eminent Chinese cultural critic Dai Jinhua interrogates history, memory and the future of China as a global economic power in relation to its socialist past, profoundly shaped by the Cold War. Drawing on Marxism, post structuralism, psychoanalysis and feminist theory, Dai examines recent Chinese films that erase the country's socialist history to show how such erasure resignifies socialism's past as failure and thus forecloses the imagining of a future beyond that of globalized capitalism. She outlines the tension between China's embrace of the free market and a regime dependent on a socialist imprimatur. She also offers a genealogy of China's transformation from a source of revolutionary power into a fountainhead of globalized modernity. This narrative, Dai contends, leaves little hope of moving from the capitalist degradation of the present into a radical future that might offer a more socially just world.

Fieldwork in Modern Chinese History

Thomas David DuBois, Jan Kiely, 2019-11-19 This book explores how fieldwork has been used to research Chinese history in the past and new ways that others might use in the future. It introduces the previous generations of scholars who ventured out of the archive to conduct local investigations in Chinese cities, villages, farms and temples. It goes on to present the techniques of historical fieldwork, providing guidance on how to integrate oral history into research plans and archival research, conduct interviews and locate sources in the field.

Chapters by established researchers relate these techniques to specific types of fieldwork including religion the imperial past natural environments and agriculture Combining the past and the future of the craft the book provides a rich resource for scholars coming new to fieldwork in the history of China Animals Through Chinese History Roel Sterckx, Martina Siebert, Dagmar Schäfer, 2019 This innovative collection opens a door into the rich history of animals in China This title is also available as Open Access Islam and China's Hong Kong Wai-Yip Ho, 2013-06-07 Hong Kong is a global city state under the sovereignty of the People's Republic of China and is home to around 250 000 Muslims practicing Islam However existing studies of the Muslim majority communities in Asia and the Northwest China largely ignore the Muslim community in Hong Kong Islam and China's Hong Kong skillfully fills this gap and investigates how ethnic and Chinese speaking Muslims negotiate their identities and the increasing public attention to Islam in Hong Kong Examining a range of issues and challenges facing Muslims in Hong Kong this book focuses on the three different diasporic Muslim communities and reveals the city state's triple Islamic heritage and distinctive Islamic culture It begins with the transition from the colonial to the post colonial era and explores how this has impacted on the experiences of the Muslim diaspora and the ways this shift has compelled the community to adapt to Chinese nationalism whilst forging greater links with the Gulf Then with reference to the rise of new media and technology the book examines the heightened presence of Islam in the Chinese public sphere alongside the emergence of Chinese Islamic websites which have sought to balance transnational Muslim solidarity and sensitivity towards Chinese government's concern of external extremism Finally it concludes by investigating Hong Kong's growing awareness of the Muslim minorities demands for Islamic religious education and how this links with the city state's aspiration to become the new gateway for Islamic finance Indeed Wai Yip Ho posits that Hong Kong is now shifting from its role as the broker that bridged East and West during the Cold War to that of a new mediator between China and the Middle East Drawing on extensive ethnographic research this book thoughtfully charts a new area of inquiry and as such will be welcomed by students and scholars of Chinese studies Islamic studies Asian studies and ethnicity studies
