Go Do Some Great Thing The Black Pioneers Of British Columbia:

Go Do Some Great Thing Kilian Crawford, 2020-10-10 Living in pre Civil War Philadelphia young Black activist Mifflin Gibbs was feeling disheartened from fighting the overwhelming tide of White America's legalized racism when abolitionist Julia Griffith encouraged him to go do some great thing. These words helped inspire him to become a successful merchant in San Francisco and then to seek a more just society in the new colony of Vancouver Island where he was to become a prominent citizen and elected official. Gibbs joined a movement of Black American emigrants fleeing the increasingly oppressive and anti-Black Californian legal system in 1858. They hoped to establish themselves in a new country where they would have full access to the rights of citizenship and would be free to seek success and stability. Some six hundred Black Californians made the trip to Victoria in the midst of the Fraser River Gold Rush but their hopes of finding a welcoming new home were ultimately disappointed. They were to encounter social segregation, disenfranchisement, limited employment opportunities, and rampant discrimination. But in spite of the opposition and racism they faced, these pioneers played a pivotal role in the emerging province, establishing an all-Black militia unit to protect against American invasion, casting deciding votes in the 1860 election, and helping to build the province as teachers, miners, artisans, entrepreneurs, and merchants. Crawford Kilian brings this vibrant period of British Columbia's history to life, evoking the chaos and opportunity of Victoria's gold rush boom and describing the fascinating lives of prominent Black pioneers and trailblazers from Sylvia Stark and Salt Spring Island's notable Stark family to lifeguard and special constable Joe Fortes who taught a generation of Vancouverites to swim. Since its original publication in 1978, Go Do Some Great Thing has remained foundational reading on the history of Black pioneers in BC. Updated and with a new foreword by Adam Rudder, the third edition of this under-told story describes the hardships and triumphs of BC's first Black citizens and their legacy in the province today. Partial proceeds from each copy sold will be donated to the Hogan's Alley Society. Go Do Some Great Thing Crawford Kilian, 2008. Nonfiction African American Studies Canadian History. The voyage north of some 600 Blacks from San Francisco to Victoria during the 1858 Fraser Canyon Gold Rush was one of the most unusual mass migrations in North American history. While the British colonies of the Pacific Northwest were overrun with migrants from all lands on the quest for gold, this Black community sought freedom and political enfranchisement as much as fortune. GO DO SOME GREAT THING describes a history that stands at the crossroads of multiple national narratives: the imperial contest between Britain and the United States, the emergence of Canada as a state, the fate of dozens of First Nations, and the furthest and most unlikely reaches of the global African diaspora. Originally published in 1978, this new edition adds vital information gathered by Crawford Kilian over the last thirty years. Multiple Lenses David Divine, 2009-03-26. Archy Lee's Struggle for Freedom Brian McGinty, 2019-12-17 In San Francisco CA in 1858 a young African American man was freed from the claims of a white man who sought to return him to slavery in Mississippi This was one year after the Supreme Court's notorious Dred Scott decision and during the California Gold Rush which saw the population of the state rise from 7 000 to more than 60 000 in a few short years Archy Lee was the name of the man who with the aid of anti slavery lawyers and determined opponents of human bondage had just won his freedom from the claims of Charles Stovall With the aid of pro slavery lawyers and equally determined supporters Stovall had sought to capture him and carry him back to a far away slave plantation Yet the book is not solely about Archy Lee It is also about the travel routes that the gold seekers followed to California in the 1850s some by land over the Great Plains some by sea around Cape Horn yet others by sailing from the east coast of North America to the isthmus of Panama where they crossed over the land there by train and continued on by sea to San Francisco It is about the efforts of the racially motivated lawmakers to suppress the rights of all of California's residents except whites and to subject people of African Asian Hispanic and Native American descent to second third or even fourth class citizenship It is about the residents of the state including many whites who fought back against those efforts seeking to ameliorate or repeal the discriminatory laws and introduce a measure of fairness and justice into California's civil life It is about the lawyers and judges who participated in Archy Lee's legal struggles in 1858 some supporting his claims for freedom while others ferociously opposed them and in the process elevated their own political and professional profiles

After Canaan Wayde Compton, 2011-05-10 Compton pushes us to look beneath the surface past those comforting tales of nationhood and racial solidarity to the more nebulous and ever shifting truth This is a brilliant and original work that should be mandatory reading for any student of race and history Danzy Senna author of Caucasia After Canaan the first nonfiction book by acclaimed African Canadian poet Wayde Compton repositions the North American discussion of race in the wake of the tumultuous twentieth century Written from the perspective of someone who was born and lives outside of African American culture it riffs on the concept of Canada as a promised land or Canaan encoded in African American myth and song since the days of slavery These varied essays steeped in a kind of history rarely written about explore the language of racial misrecognition also known as passing the failure of urban renewal humor as a counterweight to official multiculturalism the poetics of hip hop turntablism and the impact of the Obama phenomenon on the way we speak about race itself Compton marks the passing of old modes of antiracism and multiculturalism and points toward what may or may not be a post racial future but will without doubt be a brave new world of cultural perception After Canaan is a brilliant and thoughtful consideration of African North American culture as it attempts to redefine itself in the Obama era

Contesting White Supremacy Timothy J. Stanley, 2011-01-17 In 1922 23 Chinese students in Victoria British Columbia went on strike to protest a school board s attempt to impose segregation Their resistance was unexpected and runs against the grain of mainstream accounts of Asian exclusion which tend to ignore the agency of the excluded In Contesting White Supremacy Timothy Stanley combines Chinese sources and perspectives with an innovative theory of racism and anti racism to explain the strike and construct an alternative reading of racism in British Columbia His work demonstrates that education was an arena in which white supremacy confronted Chinese nationalist schooling and where parents and students contested racism by constructing a new category Chinese Canadian to define their identity
