There was once a little princess whose father was king over a great country full of mountains and valleys His palace was built upon one of the mountains and was very grand and beautiful The princess whose name was Irene was born there but she was sent soon after her birth because her mother was not very strong to be brought up by country people in a large house half castle half farmhouse on the side of another mountain about half way between its base and its peak The princess was a sweet little creature and at the time my story begins was about eight years old I think but she got older very fast Her face was fair and pretty with eyes like two bits of night sky each with a star dissolved in the blue Those eyes you would have thought must have known they came from there so often were they turned up in that direction The ceiling of her nursery was blue with stars in it as like the sky as they could make it But I doubt if ever she saw the real sky with the stars in it for a reason which I had better mention at once These mountains were full of hollow places underneath huge caverns and winding ways some with water running through them and some shining with all colours of the rainbow when a light was taken in There would not have been much known about them had there not been mines there great deep pits with long galleries and passages running off from them which had been dug to get at the ore of which the mountains were full In the course of digging the miners came upon many of these natural caverns A few of them had far off openings out on the side of a mountain or into a ravine Now in these subterranean caverns lived a strange race of beings called by some gnomes by some kobolds by some goblins There was a legend current in the country that at one time they lived above ground and were very like other people But for some reason or other concerning which there were different legendary theories the king had laid what they thought too severe taxes upon them or had required observances of them they did not like or had begun to treat them with more severity in some way or other and impose stricter laws and the consequence was that they had all disappeared from the face of the country According to the legend however instead of going to some other country they had all taken refuge in the subterranean caverns whence they never came out but at night and then seldom showed themselves in any numbers and never to many people at once It was only in the least frequented and most difficult parts of the mountains that they were said to gather even at night in the open air Those who had caught sight of any of them said that they had greatly altered in the course of generations and no wonder seeing they lived away from the sun in cold and wet and dark places They were now not ordinarily ugly but either absolutely hideous or ludicrously grotesque both in face and form There was no invention they said of the most lawless imagination expressed by pen or pencil that could surpass the extravagance of their appearance But I suspect those who said so had mistaken some of their animal companions for the goblins themselves of which more by and by The goblins themselves were not so far removed from the human as such a description would imply And as they grew misshapen in body they had grown in knowledge and cleverness and now were able to do things no mortal could see the possibility of But as they grew in cunning they grew in mischief and their great delight was in every way they could think of to annoy the people who lived in the open air storey above them The Princess and the Goblin George MacDonald, 2021-04-27 There was once a little princess whose father was king over a great country full of mountains and valleys His palace was built upon one of the mountains and was very grand and beautiful The princess whose name was Irene was born there but she was sent soon after her birth because her mother was not very strong to be brought up by country people in a large house half castle half farmhouse on the side of another mountain about half way between its base and its peak The princess was a sweet little creature and at the time my story begins was about eight years old I think but she got older very fast Her face was fair and pretty with eyes like two bits of night sky each with a star dissolved in the blue Those eyes you would have thought must have known they came from there so often were they turned up in that direction The ceiling of her nursery was blue with stars in it as like the sky as they could make it But I doubt if ever she saw the real sky with the stars in it for a reason which I had better mention at once These mountains were full of hollow places underneath huge caverns and winding ways some with water running through them and some shining with all colours of the rainbow when a light was taken in There would not have been much known about them had there not been mines there great deep pits with long galleries and passages running off from them which had been dug to get at the ore of which the mountains were full In the course of digging the miners came upon many of these natural caverns A few of them had far off openings out on the side of a mountain or into a ravine Now in these subterranean caverns lived a strange race of beings called by some gnomes by some kobolds by some goblins There was a legend current in the country that at one time they lived above ground and were very like other people But for some reason or other concerning which there were different legendary theories the king had laid what they thought too severe taxes upon them or had required observances of them they did not like or had begun to treat them with more severity in some way or other and impose stricter laws and the consequence was that they had all disappeared from the face of the country According to the legend however instead of going to some other country they had all taken refuge in the subterranean caverns whence they never came out but at night and then seldom showed themselves in any numbers and never to many people at once It was only in the least frequented and most difficult parts of the mountains that they were said to gather even at night in the open air Those who had caught sight of any of them said that they had greatly altered in the course of 6 generations and no wonder seeing they lived away from the sun in cold and wet and dark places They were now not ordinarily ugly but either absolutely hideous or ludicrously grotesque both in face and form The Princess and the Goblin George MacDonald, 2021-07-19 Princess Irene lives with her nurse Lootie and other servants in a large old castle farm house on a mountainside In the mountains surrounding the house are mines worked by such men as Curdie 12 years old and his father There are also subterranean caves and caverns where goblins live goblins who bear a grudge against the sun people because they took the land above ground from them The servants in the castle know about the goblins they are never to let the princess be out after dark One rainy day Princess Irene explores the house alone and discovers an unknown staircase that leads up several flights to a room where a beautiful old lady is spinning She is Irene s great great grandmother Irene a lady of undetermined age who had given her name to the princess and unknown to anyone in the castle has come to take care of her She is spinning a ball of thread for Irene The princess returns downstairs eager to tell Lootie about her grandmother Lootie says she imagined her and as Irene fails to find her grandmother the next time she looks for the stairs she wonders if this is true Irene and Lootie stay out after dark while out walking and Curdie rescues them from goblins with his songs for goblins are repulsed by music and rhymes Irene succeeds in finding her grandmother the next time she tries and receives from her the ball of thread she has been spinning Curdie discovers by working late the goblins plot to kidnap the princess wedding her to the goblin prince He also discovers that the goblins weakness is their feet unprotected by shoes Curdie is captured while learning all this Following the thread that her grandmother has woven Irene reaches Curdie in the goblins cave and frees him He cannot see the thread that guides Irene nor does he see her grandmother when they eventually reach the castle He leaves in anger because he thinks she is making a fool of him He talks with his parents about this and his mother cautions him that just because he does not understand something is no reason to say that it isn t true The goblins attack is defeated by Curdie and the King s guards while Irene sleeps soundly at Curdie s house where her grandmother s thread has led her
