God And The Web Of Creation:

God and the Web of Creation Ruth Page, 1996 The ongoing ecological crisis keeps raising important questions for traditional Christian theology If belief in God as creator means not only that God created the world in the first place but is involved in all that goes on in it valuing creation and desiring its good what form does divine action take in the world of today Surely for Christian belief God cannot just be a distressed but helpless onlooker while human beings are exhorted to get on with what has to be done Furthermore what in the light of God's relation to the world is the relation of human beings to non human creation Central to Dr Page's book is the view that there is too much anthropocentricity in doctrines of the creation so that the world of nature is too often seen as it relates to human beings and not in its own right She argues that a rethinking of fundamental doctrine is needed if only as penance for what Christian doctrine has allowed human beings to get away with Her new approach begins with the view that what God created was possibility a more important characteristic of the world than has ever been acknowledged All creation not just the human world is by its very being a response to the divine gift of possibility Every creature from the tree frog to the cheetah lives in God's presence and has its own relationship with God to whom it is all valuable and intimately known Against this background not only the doctrine of creation but the whole question of human ethical conduct takes on a new form and any vision of eternity must be kaleidoscopic enough to include the whole web of creation

God, Evolution, and Animal Suffering Bethany N. Sollereder, 2018-10-29 After the publication of On the Origin of Species in 1859 theologians were faced with the dilemma of God creating through evolution Suddenly pain suffering untimely death and extinction appeared to be the very tools of creation and not a result of the sin of humanity Despite this paradigm shift the question of non human suffering has been largely overlooked within theodicy debates overwhelmed by the extreme human suffering of the twentieth century This book redresses this imbalance by offering a rigorous academic treatment of the questions surrounding God and the suffering of non human animals Combining theological philosophical and biblical perspectives this book explores the relationship between God and Creation within Christian theology First it dismantles the popular theological view that roots violence and suffering in the animal kingdom in the fall of humanity. Then through an exploration of the nature of love it affirms that there are multiple reasons to suggest that God and creation can both be good even with the presence of violence and suffering. This is an innovative exploration of an under-examined subject that encompasses issues of theology, science, morality, and human-animal interactions. As such, it will be of keen interest to scholars and academics of religion and science, the philosophy of religion, theodicy, and biblical studies.

Witnessing a Wounded World Timothy Middleton, 2025-11-04. A crucial intervention at the intersection of ecotheology and trauma theology. We are in the midst of a global ecological crisis. At times the scale of the suffering involved can be hard to fully comprehend. The whole planetary ecosystem feels out of kilter. Meanwhile, trauma theorists and society at large have become increasingly aware of the incidence of trauma in a growing variety of contexts. In Witnessing a Wounded World, Timothy Middleton asks what might be gained by viewing ecological suffering through the lens of trauma. By bringing concepts and methodologies from trauma theology to bear on questions that arise within ecotheology, Middleton engages a series of pressing questions: What kind of traumas are being precipitated by anthropogenic climate change and accelerating biodiversity loss? What would it mean to envisage the Earth itself as traumatized? And how might a Christian theologian respond? From large-scale deforestation and open-cast mining to rampaging wildfires and fracturing ice sheets, the Earth itself is subject to intense devastation. Witnessing a Wounded World analyzes such phenomena in terms of three traumatic ruptures: to communication, to flesh, and to time. Drawing on practices of witnessing and the insights of deep incarnation Christologies, Middleton proceeds to offer a theological account of this ecological trauma. For Christians, a model of Christic witnessing can bring the Earth's suffering to light. As the first sustained treatment of ecological trauma to address the trauma of the Earth itself, Witnessing a Wounded World makes a profound contribution to discussions of suffering, faith, and the present ecological emergency.

Maximus the Confessor and Evolutionary Biology Andrew P. Jackson, 2024-11-04. This book brings Maximus the Confessor's logoi doctrine into dialogue with modern-day evolutionary biology. It explores the extent to which the logoi, as described by Maximus, exhibit features that are concordant with evolution, before going on to consider more discordant aspects that cannot be ignored. The author addresses the curious resonance between the logoi and evolution in a systematic way through a close reading of primary textual material, allied with a deep understanding of both the classical Darwinian and extended evolutionary syntheses. The study joins with other Maximian interpreters in attesting to the incarnational and theophanic nature of the logoi but seeks to extend this distinctively Eastern Christology into the problematic territory of biological evolution, a territory historically dominated by Western scholarship. The book will be of interest to scholars of religion and science, as well as Patristics and the Eastern Orthodox theological traditions.

community of life on Earth and its place in the universe At the same time we are facing an extreme crisis of life on our planet Both of these realities demand that we rethink our theology of animals plants ecosystems as well as galaxies and stars In this book Denis Edwards collects together a series of explorations into this kind of theology Evidences for God and His Creations: Nature, the Flood, and the Bible Dr. T. J. Tofflemire, 2011-07-21 This book provides summary apologetics from about 200 references It is unique in that many authors with differing viewpoints are put together in brief key point summaries Some of the books covered are 1100 pages long The original authors views are briefly integrated and compared The different views of creation are also discussed and compared and given a open minded weighing Are you concerned about the fact that 70% of our youth no longer attend church and do not have a biblical world view The naturalistic or humanistic world view they adopt from schooling favors the following 1 Man evolved from primates and is a biological machine with no purpose 2 There is no source of true morals and thus morals are relative and determined by whatever a given group decides or whatever is most popular 3 Since man is only and animal there is no basis for individual human rights only rights for the masses There are some good arguments provided in the book to counter all of this and provide a biblical world view These arguments are brief and easy to share in witnessing situations God and Angels Speak Anita Kiser McCall, 2013-08-15 After making her way into the metaphysical world author Anita Kiser McCall has found that the study and practice of metaphysics is not an anti Christian path On the contrary she realized that her faith and awakenings were and are intrinsically interwoven and exquisitely enhanced by Spirits confirmations and divine interventions Divided into two parts God Speaks and Angels Speak her guide provides practical advice and answers on how to solve everyday problems by finding and expressing Gods peace love and power God Speaks covers topics such as advice love encouragement and motivation from Spirit Angels Speak was dictated to McCall by the Archangel Gabriel the Seraphim and the Cherubim and offers ancient teachings of wisdom and inspiration designed for todays world These spiritual suggestions include pertinent practical and easy to follow steps to address your everyday questions problems and personal issues Here you can learn how to find and manifest your lifes purpose heal your relationships and learn the true nature of divinity McCall also reveals how to employ the Law of Attraction to build a better life and explains how to recognize angelic intercession Each of us wants to live our best life and find the opportunities that will help us grow and be a better version of ourselves McCall guides us to learn to achieve that goal so that we can live the best life possible God and Angels Speak is an inspiring guide designed to open our eyes to the possibilities that exist for each of us Christianity and Science John C. Weaver, John David Weaver, 2010 The SCM Core Text Christianity and Science explores possible dialogues between Christianity and Science in an accessible and student friendly way Beginning with explorations of how we understand science and interpret the Bible the text moves on to discuss five key areas in which science and theology are engaged in a search for understanding cosmology and the origin of the universe the natural world and the evolution of life the mind brain and the nature of personhood the genetic modification and manipulation of plant animal and human life and the environmental crisis which faces the whole world The conclusion of the book seeks to explore how our understanding of God and God s activity in the world has developed and been shaped by the dialogue that has been explored in the previous chapters This final chapter includes a discussion of the problems raised for Christian belief by suffering and natural evil The author thus ventures in a bold way to integrate science and faith while not ignoring the difference between them

Relationality and the Concept of God Henry Jansen,2025-02-10 Classical theism the dominant tradition in Christian theology has stressed the metaphysical concept of God i e God s ontological transcendence and independence from the world In this century however this concept of God has increasingly met with criticism On the basis of the Bible and new philosophical considerations it is argued that a relational concept of God better answers the fundamental concerns of the Christian faith In this book the author investigates the questions of whether one can conceive of God apart from the metaphysical attributes and whether reflection on the biblical depiction of God leads necessarily to a relational concept of God The author explores the questions by examining the relational concepts of God found in two contemporary German theologians J rgen Moltmann and Wolfhart Pannenberg and uses the divine attribute of immutability as a focus for the discussion He argues that the relational concept of God presupposes another metaphysical conception of God which raises problems as serious as those in classical theism and that the Bible itself because of its nature as a narrative text is ambiguous in many respects as far as God is concerned A truly Christian doctrine of God must take both the metaphysical and relational aspects of God into account

GOD: ONE IN ALL AND ALL IN ONE PRAHALAD RAO ,2025-03-11 ALL IS ONE explores the profound truth that while religions may differ the essence of God remains the same across all faiths The book delves into the wisdom of great saints and sages highlighting their insights on spirituality enlightenment and the divine presence within every living being Drawing from mystical theologies and historical narratives it reflects on humanity s quest for purpose and the universal connection between faiths By studying different beliefs one discovers the timeless message that God exists within all beyond divisions created by mankind With references to philosophical teachings and spiritual reflections the book aims to bridge gaps between religions emphasizing unity and the shared divine presence in every soul As Marianne Williamson beautifully states We were born to manifest the glory of God within us a belief that echoes throughout this enlightening read

Organizing Spirit Jamie Pitts,2025-06-12 Contemporary theologians tend to associate the Holy Spirit with the formation of local communities social movements and fluid relational networks and not with institutions such as denominations or global church bodies In this work Jamie Pitts argues that this pneumatological sociological picture misses important aspects of the Spirit s work Pitts draws on a wide range of theological and theoretical resources to depict the Spirit as organizing the complex dynamic and relationally entangled structures that constitute creation Human organizing that seeks to participate in the Spirit can take a variety of analogous structural forms including formal organizations or institutions Organizational participation in the Spirit is not a function of an organization s scale mobility or relative informality but rather of its practical orientation toward the Spirit's goals of life solidarity healing and inclusive justice A series of case studies clarifies and extends the implications of the argument in connection to organizing for environmental gender sexual and racial justice In the final chapter Pitts addresses the role of a political theology of the organizing Spirit in imagining organizational alternatives to the global neoliberal order The Continuing Witness of the Missional Church Jason Byassee, Albert Y.
