Belief in God T. J. Mawson, 2005 Belief in God answers two questions what if anything is it that Jews Christians and Muslims are agreeing about when they join in claiming that there is a God and what if any prospects are there for rationally defending or attacking this claim In the context of a sustained argument for particular answers to these questions Tim Mawson tackles many of the most prominent topics in the philosophy of religion He argues that those who believe that there is a God are best interpreted as believing that there is a being who is essentially personal transcendent immanent omnipotent omniscient eternal perfectly free perfectly good and necessary and non essentially creator of the world and value revealer of Himself and offerer of everlasting life Having explored the meaning and consistency of this conception of God in the first half of the book Mawson goes on to consider whether or not belief or the absence of belief in such a God might be the sort of thing that does not rationally require argument and if not what the criteria for a good argument for or against such a God s existence might be BOOK JACKET
