Gorbachev The Man And The System:

Gorbachev Ilya Zemtsov, John Farrar, 2007-09-01 Gorbachev The Man and the System portrays Gorbachev's rise to power and his tenure in office against the background of a period of critical change and development in the Soviet system. The research is primarily based on Soviet materials supplemented and critically compared with a wide range of Western press and academic studies. Both Zemtsov and Farrar bring to the analysis their own experiences acquired under different circumstances. Part I focuses on a selected chronology of significant events from Gorbachev's assumption of power in March 1985 to June 1987. The authors examine leadership and personnel changes, the economy, the society, and the arts. Part II takes a look at foreign policies by examining relations with the United States and the industrialized West, arms control policy, relations with Eastern Europe, relations with the People's Republic of China, and relations with the third world. Part III explores Gorbachev's military policies. Part IV concludes with the authors' assessment of the future. Included in this book are appendices on changes in the Council of Ministers, Ministers and Chairmen of State Committees, Politburo, and central committee meetings since Gorbachev became General Secretary through June 1987, and announced changes in the Diplomatic Corps and Foreign Ministry as reported in the Soviet press. The hardcover edition of this book was published in Gorbachev's early years. It thus represents an early assessment and, as such, a document of events at the time they occurred. Renewed interest in communism and in the dissolution of the Soviet Union make this paperback edition timely. Ilya Zemtsov was born in the Soviet Union and received advanced degrees in philosophy and sociology from the National Academy of Sciences in Moscow. Since 1973 he has lived in Israel where he is professor of Russian Studies at the Hebrew University in Jerusalem and director of the International Research Center on Contemporary Society (IRCCS). He has published widely on many aspects of Soviet society. John H. Farrar was head of the Department of Strategic Studies (IRCCS) until the summer of 1987. Since completing the book, he has joined the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency. During his thirty-year career in the U.S. Army, he held a variety of positions on the Department of Army staff, in the Defense Intelligence Agency, and at NATO headquarters.

Gorbachev's New Thinking and Third World Conflicts Jiří Valenta, Frank Cibulka, Some of the most crucial changes inspired by Gorbachev and perestroika concern Soviet and East European policies toward Third World countries Despite countless studies of Soviet U S relations and U S relations with the Third World the area of Soviet relations with the Third World has been left relatively undeveloped This is the first of several volumes intended to add to our knowledge of what the series editor Jiri Valenta characterizes as East South relations In this new era of cooperation and diplomacy the superpowers are working to resolve regional conflicts in and around Afghanistan Nicaragua Angola and Cambodia Such efforts are exceedingly complex since they necessarily involve not only the Soviet Union but Third World nations that may operate independently such as Cuba and Vietnam This volume addresses a number of such conflicts In addition to those already mentioned conflicts in Ethiopia

Namibia and the Philippines are discussed and their implications for Western policy makers are reviewed As the contributors emphasize despite current Soviet emphasis on peaceful solutions to regional conflicts Gorbachev's New Thinking in foreign affairs is still decidedly selective In some cases the Soviet Union will actually encourage close ties with regional Third World powers as it has with India It is also too much to expect that the Soviet Union much less Cuba and Vietnam will completely cut ties to revolutionary allies worldwide That said the 1990s will undoubtedly be characterized by new Soviet foreign policy styles Their shape and form is the subject of this book It will be of immense interest to policymakers and researchers concerned about current developments in relations between the superpowers and with the Third World Contributors include Vernon Aspaturian Bhabani Sen Gupta William E Griffith Jerry F Hough Douglas Pike Howard Wiarda AH T Sheikh Sabahuddin Kushkaki Colin Legum H de V du Toit Khiem Theeravit Frank Cibulka Alvaro Taboada Charles William Maynes W Bruce Weinrod Jiri Valenta
