Site Matters Andrea Kahn,Carol J. Burns,2020-12-21 In the era of the Anthropocene site matters are more pressing than ever Building on the concepts theories and multi disciplinary approaches raised in the first edition this publication strives to address the changes that have taken place over the last 15 years with new material to complement and re position the initial volume Reaching across design disciplines this highly illustrated anthology assembles essays from architects landscape architects urban designers planners historians and artists to explore ways to physically and conceptually engage site Thoughtful discourse and empirically grounded pieces combine to provide the language and theory to contextualize the meanings of site in the built environment The increasingly complex hybridity of constructed environments today demands new tools for thinking about and working with site Drawing contributions from outside and within the traditional design disciplines this edition will trace important developments in site thinking with new essays on topics such as climate change landscape as infrastructure shifts from global to planetary urbanization debates and the proliferation of participatory site transformation practices Edited by two leading practitioners and academics Site Matters juxtaposes timeless contributions from individuals including Elizabeth Meyer Robert Beauregard and Robin Dripps with original new writings from Peter Marcuse Jane Wolff Neil Brenner and Thaisa Way amongst others to recontextualize and reignite the debate around site An ideal text for students academics and researchers interested in site and design theory

Blue Architecture Brook Muller, 2022-05-10 2023 Finalist PROSE Award in Architecture and Urban Planning A guide to water focused and climate resilient architectural and urban design Le Corbusier famously said A house is a machine for living in We now confront the litany of environmental challenges associated with the legacy of the architectural machine a changing climate massive species die off diminished air and water quality and resource scarcities Brook Muller offers an alternative water centric urban design that fosters sustainability equity and architectural creativity Inspired by the vernacular such as the levadas of Madeira Island and both the arid and drenched places of the American West Muller articulates a hydro logical philosophy in which architects and planners begin by conceptualizing interactions between existing waterways and the spaces they intend to develop From these interactions and the new technologies and approaches enabling them aesthetic spatial and experiential opportunities follow Not content merely to work around sensitive ecology Muller argues for genuinely climate adapted urban landscapes in which buildings act as ecological infrastructure that actually improve watersheds while delivering functionality and beauty for diverse communities Rich in images and practical examples Blue Architecture will change the way we think about our designed world

Contemporary cities face phenomenal risks and they face particularly high levels of mounting social and environmental risks including social polarization urban conflicts riots terror and climate change threats This book suggests that climate change and its resulting uncertainties challenge the concepts procedures and scope of conventional approaches to planning creating a need to rethink and revise current planning methods Therefore this book suggests a paradigm shift in our thinking interrogation and planning of our cities Based on the contemporary conditions of risk at cities this book conceptualizes the risk city as a construct of three interlinked concepts of risk trust and practice It is a construct of risk and its new evolving conditions and knowledge of uncertainties stem from climate change and other risks and uncertainties As a construct of practices the risk city produces social and political institutional framework and promotes practices accordingly in order to reduce risk and risk possibilities and to increase trust In light of the complex challenges and risks to the human habitat that have emerged in recent years many cities have prepared various types of plans aimed at addressing the challenges posed by climate change Nonetheless despite the importance of these plans and the major public resources invested in their formulation we still know little about them and have yet to begin studying them and assessing their contributions From the innovative perspective of the risk city this book asks critical questions about the nature vision practices and potential impact of the recent climate change oriented plans What kinds of risks do they attempt to address what types of practices do they institute and what types of approaches do they apply Do they adequately address the risks and uncertainties posed How do they contribute to the worldwide effort to reduce greenhouse gas emissions This book uses the methodologically innovative Risk City framework to examine the nature vision outcomes practices and impact of these crucial plans as well as their contribution to the resilience of our cities and to global efforts toward reducing greenhouse gas emissions Ecology and
