Economic Modelling at the Bank of England G. B. Henry, 2013-03-12 J S FLEMMING The Bank of England's role as a leading central bank involves both formal and informal aspects At a formal level it is an adviser to HM Government whilst at an informal level it is consulted by domestic and overseas institutions for advice on many areas of economic interest Such advice must be grounded in an understanding of the workings of the domestic and international economy a task which becomes ever more difficult with the pace of change both in the economy and in the techniques which are used by professional economists to analyse such changes The Bank's economists are encouraged to publish their research whenever circumstances permit whether in refereed journals or in other ways In particular we make it a rule that the research underlying the Bank's macroeconomic model to which outside researchers have access through the ESRC Economic and Social Research Council macromodelling bureau should be adequately explained and documented in published form This volume expands the commitment to make research which is undertaken within the Economics Division of the Bank of England widely available Included here are chapters which illustrate the breadth of interests which the Bank seeks to cover Some of the research is as would be expected directly related to the specification of the Bank's model but other aspects are also well represented

Econometric Modeling David F. Hendry, Bent Nielsen, 2012-06-21 Econometric Modeling provides a new and stimulating introduction to econometrics focusing on modeling The key issue confronting empirical economics is to establish sustainable relationships that are both supported by data and interpretable from economic theory The unified likelihood based approach of this book gives students the required statistical foundations of estimation and inference and leads to a thorough understanding of econometric techniques David Hendry and Bent Nielsen introduce modeling for a range of situations including binary data sets multiple regression and cointegrated systems In each setting a statistical model is constructed to explain the observed variation in the data with estimation and inference based on the likelihood function Substantive issues are always addressed showing how both statistical and economic assumptions can be tested and empirical results interpreted Important empirical problems such as structural breaks forecasting and model selection are covered and Monte Carlo simulation is explained and applied Econometric Modeling is a self contained introduction for advanced undergraduate or graduate students Throughout data illustrate and motivate the approach and are available for computer based teaching Technical issues from probability theory and statistical theory are introduced only as needed Nevertheless the approach is rigorous emphasizing the coherent formulation estimation and evaluation of econometric models relevant for empirical research

Policy Kent Matthews, Philip M. Booth, 2006-02-22 Since the Bank of England was made independent in 1997 the conduct of monetary policy has been relatively uncontroversial. The debates between Keynesians, monetarists and supporters of fixed exchange rate mechanisms now appear very distant. Despite the apparent consensus there are many issues related to the conduct of monetary policy that are not yet settled and which will soon come to the fore. Is the current form of independence for the Bank of England appropriate? Should a central bank target inflation or the price level? How does a central bank deal with asset price deflation? Should more account be taken of monetary aggregates? Should central banks target asset prices? What is the relationship between the money supply and asset price inflation? How should central banks ensure financial stability? The IEA was at the forefront of changing the parameters of the debate surrounding monetary policy in the 1970s and 1980s. This text brings together some of the leading authors in the field including the current Governor of the Bank of England to discuss current issues in monetary policy and the relationship between monetary policy and financial markets. It is appropriate for undergraduates and postgraduates in economics and finance as well as for practitioners in financial markets.

Macrofinancial Modeling At Central Banks Mr. Scott Roger, Mr. Jan Vlcek, 2012-01-01 This paper surveys dynamic stochastic general equilibrium models with financial frictions in use by central banks and discusses priorities for future development of such models for the purpose of monetary and financial stability analysis. It highlights the need to develop macrofinancial models which allow analysis of the macroeconomic effects of macroprudential policy tools and to evaluate elements of the Basel III reforms as a priority. The paper also reviews the main approaches to introducing financial frictions into general equilibrium models.      Econometric Modelling Sean Holly, Martin Weale, 2000-09-14 The latest techniques used in modelling the economy with policy analysis and applications      Identification and Inference for Econometric Models

Donald W. K. Andrews, James H. Stock, 2005-07-04 This 2005 volume contains the papers presented in honor of the lifelong achievements of Thomas J. Rothenberg on the occasion of his retirement. The authors of the chapters include many of the leading econometricians of our day and the chapters address topics of current research significance in econometric theory. The chapters cover four themes: identification and efficient estimation in econometrics; asymptotic approximations to the distributions of econometric estimators and tests; inference involving potentially nonstationary time series such as processes that might have a unit autoregressive root; and nonparametric and semiparametric inference. Several of the chapters provide overviews and treatments of basic conceptual issues while others advance our understanding of the properties of existing econometric procedures and or propose others Specific topics include identification in nonlinear models inference with weak instruments tests for nonstationary in time series and panel data generalized empirical likelihood estimation and the bootstrap
