Unjust Transition Emily Eaton, 2024-03-21T00:00:00Z In 2019 Regina's Co op Refinery Complex CRC a subsidiary of Federated Co operative locked out Unifor Local 594 after collective bargaining negotiations failed CRC used the transition to a low carbon future as the justification for concessions on working conditions and reducing the workers pension plan The lockout demonstrates what a just transition means to fossil fuel corporations rollbacks of collective bargaining worker rights cooperative spirit and environmental justice In the name of a new future Federated Co operative and the Saskatchewan government trampled all over important worker rights the right to strike and picket occupational health and safety pensions and collective bargaining It also highlights the sorry state of co operative values in Canada As corporations and governments are poised to make a transition that will be detrimental to workers and communities this books argues that solidarity between unions and community movements is absolutely necessary to make the transition away from fossil fuels a just one

Just Climate Futures Carolyn Snell,Lucie Middlemiss,Kelli Kennedy,Emily Morrison,Anne Owen,Samanthi

Themnimulle,Tania Carregha,Yekaterina Chzhen,2025-08-14 If we are to meet Net Zero targets both climate policies and our daily lives require significant change The transition towards Net Zero will lead to inevitable trade offs between social economic and environmental objectives and this transition could disproportionately impact households already struggling with poverty and precarity This book takes a deep dive into the ways families and communities are or could be impacted by the implementation of climate policy It demonstrates that participation in Net Zero requires people to be economically culturally socially and politically engaged and provides a practical roadmap to encourage and support a truly just transition

The False Promise of Green Energy Andrew P. Morriss,William T. Bogart,Roger E. Meiners,Andrew

Dorchak,2011-02-09 The False Promise of Green Energy illustrates the irresponsibility of attempting to transform modern society with borrowed money wishful thinking and bad economics It shows how the top down control programs offered by green energy and green jobs advocates are unlikely to achieve positive results compared with allowing competitive forces to continue to provide ever greater environmental quality and energy efficiencies

Parliament. House of Commons. Environmental Audit Committee,2009 The Government has missed a big opportunity to kick start a green industrial revolution with its 3bn fiscal stimulus Germany the US Japan and China have invested billions in their low carbon industries But only one sixth of the UK s Government s fiscal stimulus package was devoted to green industry Many of the policies needed to cut carbon emissions will provide good opportunities to increase employment and could give the UK a competitive advantage in the coming decades The UK has the potential to take a leading global role in a number of low carbon sectors Creating a strong home market in off shore wind could ensure UK companies are well placed to exploit export opportunities to other EU countries or promising markets such as the US and China Increasing the speed and scale of the programme to insulate UK homes could also sustain employment and kick start a market estimated to be worth between 3 5 6 5 billion a year Business needs confidence that financial incentives and regulation designed to promote low carbon industries will be maintained Although it is recognised that the UK government has made significant investment for delivery of its Low Carbon Industrial Strategy and its Low Carbon Transition Plan it is not sufficient to meet emissions targets or to provide the economic advantage needed It is felt that the Low Carbon Industrial Strategy does not effectively address a transition across the whole economy The Committee on Climate Change has identified key sectors in which energy savings must be made and the Government s strategy on green jobs must be directly linked to these sectoral targets and green industries developed to achieve these The Committee also feels that in particular a quick win street by street programme of energy saving measures for households that will boost employment and keep UK building firms in business should be developed as a priority The market based demand led approach to skills has not worked because employers are unable to effectively articulate their needs The Government s new skills strategy must prioritise the skills needed to drive the economy through the low carbon transition A body to lead the green skills agenda must be found and low carbon skills need to be integrated through the whole skills delivery system to encourage behavioural change across the entire economy
