Electronic Whistle-Stops Gary W. Selnow,1998-03-25 Fifty years ago the political whistle stop tour was thus named because trains blew their whistles twice when making unscheduled stops in backwater towns Like its distant cousin the electronic whistle stop brings the candidate s message directly to the people but with one outstanding difference the new whistle stop offers politicians an accuracy efficiency and success at voter persuasian unimaginable to by earlier whistle stoppers such as Harry Truman As Selnow shows American political campaigns have an extraordinary affinity for electronic devices They have seized upon electronic bulletin boards home pages and electronic libraries Since political campaigns are communication campaigns Selnow concludes that candidates who successfully inform persuade enlighten and even confuse voters will win votes Selnow also examines the debate between those who argue that new technologies have improved efficiency and those who believe that the innovations have affected society in other ways Scholars and students of American political communication must read this book the lively style will also make it exciting reading for anyone interested in this new political tool Rebooting American Politics Jason Gainous,Kevin M. Making the News Amber E. Boydstun,2022-12-22 Media attention can play a profound role in whether or not officials act on a policy issue but how policy issues make the news in the first place has remained a puzzle Why do some issues go viral and then just as quickly fall off the radar How is it that the media can sustain public interest for months in a complex story like negotiations over Obamacare while ignoring other important issues in favor of stories on balloon boy With Making the News Amber Boydstun offers an eye opening look at the explosive patterns of media attention that determine which issues are brought before the public At the heart of her argument is the observation that the media have two modes an alarm mode for breaking stories and a patrol mode for covering them in greater depth While institutional incentives often initiate alarm mode around a story they also propel news outlets into the watchdog like patrol mode around its policy implications until the next big news item breaks What results from this pattern of fixation followed by rapid change is skewed coverage of policy issues with a few receiving the majority of media attention while others receive none at all Boydstun documents this systemic explosiveness and skew through analysis of media coverage across policy issues including in depth looks at the waxing and waning of coverage around two issues capital punishment and the war on terror Making the News shows how the seemingly unpredictable day to day decisions of the newsroom produce distinct patterns of operation with implications good and bad for national politics Strategy, Money and Technology in the 2008 Presidential Election Costas Panagopoulos,2014-06-11 The 2008 presidential election perhaps more so than the typical quadrennial race will undoubtedly spawn an abundance of scholarly inquiry The confluence of historic and peculiar features associated with the 2008 contest distinguishes it from modern campaign cycles in significant ways that provide researchers a rare opportunity to reflect on a plethora of topics These studies are certain to provide detailed knowledge about the 2008 election in particular and more generally to inform our understanding of contemporary electoral politics The selections in this volume probe specific facets of the 2008 contest to provide in depth analyses of key developments with respect to strategy money and technology in the election cycle The contributors are keen analysts of American elections and campaigns The insights they provide grapple with key questions about the 2008 election and help to demystify aspects of the historic race This book was published as a special issue of the Journal of Political Marketing Gender and Candidate Communication Dianne G. Bystrom,Terry Robertson,Mary Christine Banwart,Lynda Lee Kaid,2005-01-01 A poll as recently as 2000 revealed that a third of the population thinks there are general characteristics about women that make them less qualified to serve as president As the public and the media rely on long held stereotypes female candidates must focus even harder on the way they want to define their own image through traditional mass media such as television and new forms such as the internet Gender and Candidate Communication digs deep into the campaigns of the last decade sifting through thousands of ads websites and newspaper articles to find out how successful candidates have been in breaking down these gender stereotypes Among their findings are that female candidates dress more formally smile more act tougher when they can and prefer scare tactics to aggressive attack ads Gender and Candidate Communication also presents the most comprehensive systematic method yet for identifying and understanding self presentation strategies on the web The internet may be the medium of the future but Bystrom has found that coverage on the web tends to draw even more heavily on old stereotypes No close observer of campaigns gender or the internet will be able to ignore their findings A Virtuous Circle Pippa Norris,2000-09-04 Is the process of political communications by the news media and by parties responsible for civic malaise A Virtuous Circle sets out to challenge and critique the conventional wisdom Based on a comparative examination of the role of the news media and parties in 29 postindustrial societies focusing in particular on Western Europe and the United States this study argues that rather than mistakenly blaming the messenger we need to understand and confront more deep rooted flaws in systems of representative democracy Political Campaign Communication Larry Powell,Joseph Cowart,2017-12-06 Now in its third edition Political Campaign Communication Inside and Out examines the intricacies of political campaigning through the eyes of both an academic and a political consultant Unlike others in its field this text takes a broad view of political campaigning discussing both theories and principles along with topics such as political socialization the role of money ethics and critical events This new edition delves into ongoing changes in the American political environment with fuller examinations of women and gender the involvement of social media in political campaigning political money and ethics Advanced undergraduate and graduate students of political communication can make use of updated chapter by chapter discussion questions and online practice quizzes Journalism at the End of the American Century, 1965-Present James Brian McPherson,2006-06-30 McPherson captures the best and worst aspects of American journalism since 1965 The press has evolved into a conglomeration of entities that today can be described as pervasive entertaining and justifiably mistrusted In some ways today s press offers the best journalism Americans have ever seen In other ways the modern news media fall short of the ideals held by most of those who care about journalism and far short of the promise they once seemed to offer in terms of helping create an enlightened democracy Neither a paean to the press nor an exercise in media bashing this book finds much to criticize and to praise about recent American journalism while illustrating that traditional journalistic values have diminished in importance not just for many of those who control the media but also for the media consumers who most need good journalism Chapters are devoted to various themes that include social unrest the influence of entertainment values technological shifts media consolidation and corporatization issues of content versus context new kinds of news media and why the 1970s may have been the high point of American journalism Events and issues given extra attention include the rise of television news and later CNN the Civil Rights Movement and other race related issues the Women s Movement various forms of alternative journalism wars in Vietnam and Iraq investigative journalism the World Trade Center attacks the Clinton Lewinsky scandal the 2000 and 2004 presidential campaigns and elections civic journalism and journalism scandals
