Historicizing Roma in Central Europe Victoria

Shmidt, Bernadette Nadya Jaworsky, 2020-09-13 In Central Europe limited success in revisiting the role of science in the segregation of Roma reverberates with the yet unmet call for contextualizing the impact of ideas on everyday racism This book attempts to interpret such a gap as a case of epistemic injustice It underscores the historical role of ideas in race making and provides analytical lenses for exploring cross border transfers of whiteness in Central Europe In the case of Roma the scientific argument in favor of segregation continues to play an outstanding role due to a long term focus on the limited educability of Roma The authors trace the long term interrelation between racializing Roma and the adaptation by Central European scholars of theories legitimizing segregation against those considered non white conceived as unable to become educated or civilized Along with legitimizing segregation sterilization and even extermination theorizing ineducability has laid the groundwork for negating the capacity of Roma as subjects of knowledge Such negation has hindered practices of identity and quite literally prevented Roma in Central Europe from becoming who they are This systematic epistemic injustice still echoes in contemporary attempts to historicize Roma in Central Europe The authors critically investigate contemporary approaches to historicize Roma as reproducing whiteness and inevitably leading to various forms of epistemic injustice The methodological approach herein conceptualizes critical whiteness as a practice of epistemic justice targeted at providing a sustainable platform for reflecting upon the impact of the past on the contemporary situation of Roma Acta Ethnographica Academiae Scientiarum Hungaricae ,1977 The Face of Scotland I. G. McIntosh,C. B. Marshall,1977 Writers Directory NA NA,2016-03-05 International Directory of Anthropologists ,1975

New Perspectives in Anthropology S. Seth,1993 The book New Perspectives in Anthropology brings together information about many diverse attributes of MAN in an attempt to understand him in its entirety As the subtlety and complexity of anthropology becomes better understood the issues emerging from the integration of biology behaviour and culture inter alia human evolution primate behaviour and human variation shall become increasingly relevant and interesting

Catalog of Copyright Entries. Third Series Library of Congress. Copyright Office,1975 The Emergence of Israel in Ancient Palestine Emanuel Pfoh,2016-04-01 Taking advantage of critical methodology for history writing and the use of anthropological insights and ethnographic data from the modern Middle East this study aims at providing new understandings on the emergence of Israel in ancient Palestine and the socio political dynamics at work in the Levant during antiquity The book begins with a discussion of matters of historiography and history writing both in ancient and modern times and an evaluation on the incidence of the modern theological discourse in relation to history and history writing Chapter 2 evaluates the methodology used by biblical scholars for gaining knowledge on ancient Israelite society Pfoh argues that such attempts often apply socio scientific models on biblical narratives without external evidence of the reconstructed past producing a virtual past reality which cannot be confirmed concretely Chapter 3 deals with the archaeological remains usually held as clear evidence of Israelite statehood in the tenth century BCE The main criticism is directed towards archaeological interpretations of the data which are led by the biblical narratives of the books of Judges and Samuel resulting in a harmonic blend of ancient literature and modern anthropological models on state formation Chapter 4 continues with the discussion on how anthropological models should be employed for history writing Socio political concepts such as chiefdom society or state formation should not be imposed on the contents of ancient literary sources i e the Bible but used instead to analyse our primary sources the archaeological and epigraphic records in order to create a socio historical account The final chapter attempts to provide an historical explanation regarding the emergence of Israel in ancient Palestine without relying on the Bible but only on archaeology epigraphy and anthropological insights This Israel is not the biblical one This is the

Israel from history the one that the modern historian aims at recovering from the study of ancient epigraphic and archaeological remains The arguments presented challenge the idea that the biblical writers were recording historical events as we understand this practice nowadays and that we can use the biblical records for creating critical histories of Israel in ancient Palestine It also questions the existence of undisputable traces of statehood in the archaeological record from the Iron Age as the biblical images about a United Monarchy might lead us to believe Thus drawing on ethnographic insights we may gain a better knowledge on how ancient Levantine societies functioned providing us with a context for understanding the emergence of historical Israel as a major highland patronate with a socio political life of almost two centuries It is during the later periods of ancient Palestines history the Persian and the Graeco Roman that we find the proper context into which biblical Israel is created beginning a literary life of more than two millennia The Writers Directory ,2003
