The Politics of Food in Mexico Jonathan Fox, 1993 Compares a range of Mexican food policy reforms focusing on the SAM Mexican Food System a program in place from 1980 82 designed to shift subsidies and privileged access from large private farmers and ranchers to peasants and small producers In this context Fox political science MIT examines the limits and possibilities of political reform and its history and future in the Mexican state Annotation copyright by Book News Inc Portland OR History of Soybeans and Soyfoods in Mexico and Central America (1877-2009): Extensively Annotated Bibliography and Sourcebook William Shurtleff, Akiko Aoyagi, 2009 Exports and Employment Generation in Mexico Alejandro Ibarra Yunez, Chandler Stolp, 1990 Guatemalan Refugees in Mexico, 1980-1984 Eliecer Valencia, 1984 This report deals with the situation of Guatemalan refugees in Mexico in the period of 1980 1984 After reviewing conditions of the Guatemalan refugees the author points out that Mexico is worried by the possible political and economic repercussions of an open door policy towards the thousands of impoverished Guatemalans fleeing widespread violence and repression in their country Moreover the proximity of the conflict in Central America poor relations with the Guatemalan government and border crossings by the Guatemalan military all contribute to Mexico s concern that it may become entangled in the Central American conflict Although in general the Mexican open door policy towards persecuted people has been maintained with the Guatemalan refugees their situation remains critical after more than three years since the beginning of their massive flight to Chiapas Within this context and in recognition of the fact that repatriation is not now the solution to the Guatemalan refugee problems The Mexican government has used varying degrees of force particularly in order to bring about the relocation of dissident refugees Latin America and the Caribbean Regional Overview of Food Security and Nutrition 2024 Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, IFAD, PAHO, UNICEF, WFP, 2025-01-27 Latin America and the Caribbean have seen a decline in hunger and food insecurity for two years driven by social protection programs and post COVID recovery However disparities persist especially among women rural populations and vulnerable groups The region is unlikely to meet most nutrition targets and healthy diets remain expensive Climate variability is increasing in the region affecting food security across availability access utilization and stability This climate impact reduces agricultural productivity disrupts food supply chains and raises food prices Vulnerable populations are most affected with changing diets further exacerbating the situation Climate change is worsening food security and the causes of malnutrition Labor Relations in Globalized Food Terry Marsden, Josefa Salete Barbosa Cavalcanti, Alessandro Bonanno, 2014-05-28 This book looks at labor in agriculture and food in a global era by studying salient characteristics of the conditions and use of labor in global agri food Written by experienced and also emerging scholars the chapters present a wealth of empirical data and robust theorizations that allow readers to grasp the complexity of this topic FoodReview, 2000 Monthly Catalog of United States Government Publications United States. History of Soy Flour, Grits and Flakes (510 CE to 2013) William Shurtleff, Akiko Aoyagi, 2013-12-01 The world's most comprehensive well documented and well illustrated book on this subject With extensive index 28 cm Food Research Institute Studies Stanford University. Food Research Institute, 1983 Transforming Agrarian Economies Thomas P. Tomich, Peter Kilby, Bruce F. Johnston, 2018-05-31 The world's 58 poorest countries are diverse in many respects but they share the characteristic of a labor force overwhelmingly dependent on agriculture Challenging the assumption that mass poverty and chronic hunger are insoluble problems this book systematically explores the multiple aspects of economic development in these countries which are home to 60 percent of the world's population The authors offer a broad based development strategy to raise incomes through agricultural productivity growth and expanded rural employment They present rich new information on the rural informal sector and on agriculture industry interactions and they analyze the impact of macroeconomic and social policies on the rural economy Policy instruments aimed at bringing about broad based development are carefully assessed from fiscal policy to development of new seeds and farm implements The book includes detailed case studies of countries that have seized or missed development opportunities Comparison of the successful economic transformations of Japan and the United States shows how key ideas which the authors call strategic notions have enabled policymakers to act with foresight Analyses of strategic choices in China the Soviet Union Taiwan Mexico Kenya and Tanzania also show how development strategies that emerge from the real world political economy reflect a mix of individual interests and strategic notions Cereal Feed Use in the Third World J. S. Sarma, 1986-01-01 Research report grain developing countries trends projections to 2000 food policy implications case study Taiwan China Taiwan and Korea R Bibliography graphs statistical tables Towards Free Trade in Agriculture Kirit S. Parikh, Günther Fischer, Klaus Frohberg, Odd Gulbrandsen, 2013-06-29 Agriculture seems to be a difficult sector to manage for most governments Developing countries face tough dilemmas in deciding on appropriate price policies to stimulate food production and maintain stable preferably low prices for poor consumers Governments in developed countries face similar difficult decisions They are called upon to give income guarantees to farmers whose incomes are unstable and relatively low when compared to those in the nonagricultural sector These guarantees often lead to ever increasing budgetary outlays and unwanted agricultural surpluses High prices make new investments and the application of new technologies more attractive than world prices warrant and a process is set in motion where technological innovation attains momentum of its own in turn requiring price policies that maintain their rates of return Surpluses are disposed of with subsidies in domestic markets or in the international market Price competition reduces the market share of other exporters who may be efficient producers unless they are willing to engage in subsidy competition This lowers export earnings and farm incomes or depletes the public resources of developing countries that export competing products Retaliatory measures have led to frictions and further distortions of world prices Every so often the major agricultural exporters the USA the EC Australia or Canada accuse one another of unfair intervention Though they have agreed to discuss agricultural trade liberalization under GATT negotiations if anything the expenditure on farm support has continued to increase in both the EC and the USA

Trade Policy and Industrialization in Turbulent Times Gerry Helleiner, 2002-09-11 The relationship between trade policy and industrialization has provoked much controversy Can trade policy promote economic growth in developing countries Those actively working in the area are becoming increasingly sceptical about the conventional advice given by international policy advisors and organizations This volume builds upon earlier theoretical and empirical research on trade policy and industrialization but is the first cross the board attempt to review developing country experiences in this realm for twenty years The experience of fourteen developing countries in the 1970s and 1980s is assessed by the contributors each of whom have a detailed understanding of their country's recent experience

The 1.5 Billion People Question Harold Alderman, Ugo Gentilini, Ruslan Yemtsov, 2017-10-12 Most of the people in low and middle income countries covered by social protection receive assistance in the form of in kind food The origin of such support is rooted in countries historical pursuit of three interconnected objectives namely attaining self sufficiency in food managing domestic food prices and providing income support to the poor This volume sheds light on the complex bumpy and non linear process of how some flagship food based social protection programs have evolved over time and how they currently work In particular it lays out the broad trends in reforms including a growing move from in kind modalities to cash transfers from universality to targeting and from agriculture to social protection Case studies from Egypt India Indonesia Mexico Sri Lanka and United States document the specific experiences of managing the process of reform and implementation including enhancing our understanding of the opportunities and challenges with different social protection transfer modalities

Economic Policy and Human Rights Radhika Balakrishnan, Diane Elson, 2011-11-10 Economic Policy and Human Rights presents a powerful critique of three decades of neoliberal economic policies assessed from the perspective of human rights norms In doing so it brings together two areas of thought and action that have hitherto been separate progressive economics concerned with promoting economic justice and human development and human rights analysis and advocacy Focussing on in depth comparative case studies of the USA and Mexico and looking at issues such as public expenditure taxation and international trade the book shows that heterodox economic analysis benefits greatly from a deeper understanding of a human rights framework This is something progressive economists have often been skeptical of regarding it as too deeply entrenched in Western norms discourses and agendas Such a categorical rejection is unwarranted Instead human rights norms can provide an invaluable ethical and accountability framework challenging a narrow focus on efficiency and growth A vital book for anyone interested in human rights and harnessing economics to create a better world The
