Bernard Farrell

Fortyfour Sycamore The Last Apache Reunion:

Forty-four, Sycamore Bernard Farrell, 1995 For the first time in print two plays by one of Ireland's leading dramatists works that have enjoyed exceptional commercial and critical success since they were first performed Forty Four Sycamore shows a new middle class couple trying both to impress and entertain their more established neighbours with hilarious results The Last Apache Reunion concerns a group of men at their school reunion trying to relive their past and to the dismay of their wives cover up what they would prefer to hide

Masculinities and Manhood in Contemporary Irish Drama Cormac O'Brien, 2021-12-10 This book charts the journey in terms of both stasis and change that masculinities and manhood have made in Irish drama and by extension in the broader culture and society from the 1960s to the present Examining a diverse corpus of drama and theatre events both mainstream and on the fringe this study critically elaborates a seismic shift in Irish masculinities This book argues then that Irish manhood has shifted from embodying and enacting post colonial concerns of nationalism and national identity to performing models of masculinity that are driven and moulded by the political and cultural practices of neoliberal capitalism Masculinities and Manhood in Contemporary Irish Drama charts this shift through chapters on performing masculinity in plays set in both the Irish Republic and Northern Ireland and through several chapters that focus on Women's and Queer drama It thus takes its readers on a journey that begins with an overtly patriarchal nationalist manhood that often made direct comment on the state of the nation and ultimately arrives at several arguably regressive forms of globalised masculinity which are couched in misaligned notions of individualism and free choice and that frequently perceive themselves as being in crisis
