Training Engineering Students for Modern Technological Advancement Alves, Anabela Carvalho, van Hattum-Janssen, Natascha, 2021-12-17 Engineering education leads the preparation of the next generation of engineers This is a difficult task as engineering practices rapidly evolve pressured by the technological advancements promoted by these same engineers Engineering schools are integrated into large and rigid higher education institutions HEI that are not known for their agility Nevertheless engineering educators must have the agility to go beyond HEI boundaries to close the gap between professional practice needs and engineering education Training Engineering Students for Modern Technological Advancement examines the role of engineering teachers in preparing the next generation of engineers and presents perspectives on active learning methods for engineering education As such it contributes to bypassing the compartmentalized way of course organization typical in many HEIs and prepares for more agile engineering education Covering topics such as game based teaching methods Industry 4 0 and management skills this book is a dynamic resource ideal for engineers engineering professors engineering students general educators engineering professionals academicians and researchers

El-Hi Textbooks & Serials in Print, 2005 ,2005 Language Planning and Student Experiences Joseph Lo Bianco, Renata Aliani, 2013-06-28 This book is a timely comparison of the divergent worlds of policy implementation and policy ambition the messy often contradictory here and now reality of languages in schools and the sharp edged shiny future oriented representation of languages in policy Two deep rooted tendencies in Australian political and social life multiculturalism and Asian regionalism are represented as key phases in the country's experimentation with language education planning Presenting data from a five year ethnographic study combined with a 40 year span of policy analysis this volume is a rare book length treatment of the chasm between imagined policy and its experienced delivery and will provide insights that policymakers around the world can draw on

Maoism with Italian Characteristics Marco Gabbas, Lorenzo M. Capisani, 2025-07-24 This book is primarily a historical study that investigates why Mao's thought took root in Italy how it developed and its emergence in opposition to the Italian Communist Party with a focus on the years 1956-1976 The book also prompts reflection on how dissent has been perceived in Leftist parties more broadly and how sub-cultures can become prominent The authors delve into the relations between Mao's China and the Italian institutional Left mindful of the fact that not all the involved parties represented monolithic clusters of consent The book confronts a watershed of reforms or revolution in which the Italian Communist Party embraced a non-revolutionary and parliamentary policy and where Italian radicals took Mao's slogans literally to argue that a revolution in Italy was not only possible but necessary Tracking the subsequent abandonment of Maoism in modern left-wing parties in Italy which gradually became more distant from the working class the authors juxtapose this to modern China which opened up with Deng Xiaoping's reforms and Xi Jinping's search for rejuvenation In presenting Italian Maoism a largely forgotten topic and fascinating example of Western Maoism to an English reading audience the authors contextualize these local historical events in a global modern perspective linking them to the Cold War and horizontal issues such as dissent in a rich comparison of Italian and Chinese sources from party archives and collections It is relevant to historians interested in the circulation of Chinese political ideas in the West and China's historical trajectory from the Cold War to the present

Stimulating Civic Virtue in Students Frank Th. M. Willems, 2013 During the last two decades interest in children's development of good citizenship has grown among political and educational theorists in the Western world leading to much debate about the concept of citizenship education In this study a specific approach to citizenship education is proposed namely a virtue ethical approach which explicitly links citizenship education to moral education From the virtue ethical point of view citizenship education is aimed at developing the civic virtues attitudes that enable citizens to contribute to society such as justice tolerance and solidarity Since this study focuses on teachers in Catholic education these three virtues have been interpreted from a community-centred active perspective which is supposed to fit the normative framework of Catholic schools The central question of this study is to what extent teachers in Dutch Catholic primary education possess the qualities that are needed to stimulate students' civic virtues and in what way these qualities can be improved Two kinds of moral pedagogical teacher behaviour are central the teachers' modelling behaviour and the way teachers arrange their moral classroom discussions These two kinds of behaviour will be studied as well as their relationship with the teachers' moral beliefs Furthermore a teacher course that is designed to stimulate these two kinds of moral pedagogical behaviour is evaluated Frank Willems 1979 Boxmeer lived in Vierlingsbeek a small town in the south-eastern part of the Netherlands the first twenty-two years of his life After finishing Teacher Training College in 2002 he moved to Nijmegen to study educational sciences at the Radboud University The next year he also started studying philosophy of education at the same university In 2007 he finished both studies Since that time he had been working as a junior researcher at the IKO Institute for Catholic

Education which is connected to the Radboud University He was involved in research and he developed tools for schools for the implementation of the insights of his study Currently Frank is working as a product coordinator at Examenadviesburo a small company in Nieuwegein near Utrecht He is involved in the development of exams for all kinds of professions brokers insurers accountants and others

New Directions for Research in L2 Writing S. Ransdell, M.-L. Barbier, 2012-12-06 GERT RIJLAARSDAM University of Amsterdam Utrecht University the Netherlands Multilingualism is becoming the default in our global world The present day global citizens use different languages in different situations Apart from their mother tongue they learn languages that give them access to other regions nations and worlds In all countries of the European Union for instance at least one foreign language is mandatory in secondary schools Most students are taught English as a foreign language the lingua franca in Europe In large parts of the USA students move from Spanish to English schooling In parts of Canada bilingual education is standard In Catalonia Spain children learn Catalan and Spanish in Hong Kong English and Chinese The smaller the world becomes the more languages are used and learned For writing process research this development into multilingualism entails at least two challenges First of all studying the relation between writing in L1 and L2 provides an opportunity for collaborative studies in different language settings Second the issue of generalization of findings comes to the fore It becomes evident now that we have unjustly neglected this issue in writing process research We forgot to ask whether it is feasible to talk about writing processes in general without referring to the language of the written texts and without taking into account the educational and linguistic culture in which these texts originate
