Engel, 2005-05-16 Insects are the most diverse group of organisms in the 3 billion year history of life on Earth and the most ecologically dominant animals on land This book chronicles for the first time the complete evolutionary history of insects their living diversity relationships and 400 million years of fossils Whereas other volumes have focused on either living species or fossils this is the first comprehensive synthesis of all aspects of insect evolution The book is illustrated with 955 photo and electronmicrographs drawings diagrams and field photos many in full colour and virtually all of them original The book will appeal to anyone engaged with insect diversity professional entomologists and students insect and fossil collectors and naturalists History of Insects A.P. Kjellesvig-Waering, Frank Morton Carpenter, Percy Edward Raymond, 1940 Fossil Orthoptera Ensifera Frederick Zeuner, 1939 Orthoptera reprints, Evolutionary Paleobiology of Behavior and Coevolution A.J. Boucot, 2013-10-22 This book is the culmination of many years of research by a scientist renowned for his work in this field It contains a compilation of the data dealing with the known stratigraphic ranges of varied behaviors chiefly animal with a few plant and fungal and coevolved relations A significant part of the data consists of frozen behavior i.e. those in which an organism has been preserved while actually doing something as contrasted with the interpretations of behavior of an organism deduced from functional morphology important as the latter may be The conclusions drawn from this compilation suggest that both behaviors and coevolved relations appear infrequently following which there is relative fixity of the relation i.e. two rates of evolution very rapid and essentially zero This conclusion complies well with the author's prior conclusion that community evolution followed the same rate pattern In fact communities are regarded here as in large part expressions of both behavior and coevolved relations rather than as random aggregates controlled almost wholly by varied unrelated physical parameters tracked by organisms i e the concept that communities have no biologic reality being merely statistical abstractions The book is illustrated throughout with more than 400 photographs and drawings It will be of interest to ethologists evolutionists parasitologists paleontologists and palaeobiologists at research and post graduate levels Library of Congress Subject Headings Library of Congress.
