Frontiers Of Asia And Southeast Asia:

Frontiers of Asia and Southeast Asia John Robert Victor Prescott, Harold John Collier, Dorothy Francis Prescott, 1977-01-01 Political Frontiers and Boundaries J. R. V. Prescott, 2014-10-03 This classic work is a comprehensive treatment of the world's political frontiers and boundaries and includes sections on boundaries in the air as well as chapters treating the subject in a regional manner covering the continents in terms of the evolution of boundaries

Impact Investment Funds for Frontier Markets in Southeast Asia Manuel Stagars, 2015-05-28 Until now most socially responsible and impact investments have centred on developed markets with growth potential and investment opportunities in the frontier economies of countries such as Cambodia Laos Myanmar and Vietnam being mostly overlooked While some individuals and organizations have begun to develop responsible investment opportunities with these countries in mind large new sources of capital for development could still emerge This book explores the greater potential for global investment in Southeast Asia and the ways in which socially responsible investment styles can be used in their developing economies It demonstrates how the benefits of investment could create a robust platform for separate stakeholders including governments non governmental organizations development banks the financial sector and small and medium sized enterprises The author explores how shaping collaborative sustainable investment policies could speed up inclusive development address the needs of those at the bottom of the pyramid and ensure sustainable future growth International Frontiers and Boundaries Victor Prescott, Gillian D. Triggs, 2008-07-31 International frontiers and boundaries separate land rivers and lakes subject to different sovereignties Frontiers are zones of varying widths and they were common many centuries ago By 1900 frontiers had almost disappeared and had been replaced by boundaries that are lines The divisive nature of frontiers and boundaries has formed the focus of inter disciplinary studies by economists geographers historians lawyers and political scientists Scholars from these disciplines have produced a rich literature dealing with frontiers and boundaries The authors surveyed this extensive literature and the introduction reveals the themes which have attracted most attention Following the introduction the book falls into three sections The first section deals systematically with frontiers boundary evolution and boundary disputes The second section considers aspects of international law related to boundaries It includes chapters dealing with international law and territorial boundaries maps as evidence of international boundaries and river boundaries and international law The third section consists of seven regional chapters that examine the evolution of boundaries in the Americas the Middle East Africa Asia Europe islands off Southeast Asia and Antarctica Nationalism in Southeast Asia Nicholas Tarling, 2004-08-02 Nationalism in Southeast Asia seeks a definition of nationalism through examining its role in the history of southeast Asia a region rarely included in general books on the topic By developing such a definition and testing it out Tarling hopes at the same time to make a contribution to southeast Asian historiography and to limit its ghettoization Tarling considers the role of nationalism in the nation building of the post colonial phase and its relationship both with the democratic aspirations associated with the winning of independence and with the authoritarianism of the closing decades of the 20th century

Frontier and Developing Asia Mr.Alfred Schipke,2015-01-30 This is an excerpt from Frontier and Developing Asia the Next Generation of Emerging Markets Frontier and developing Asia which includes countries such as Vietnam Cambodia and Bangladesh is located in the world s fastest growing region and has favorable demographics Despite their heterogeneity the countries share a number of common macroeconomic financial and structural challenges The book addresses issues related to economic growth and structural transformation as well as the risk of a poverty trap and rising income inequality The book also analyses a number of financial sector and monetary policy framework issues

China's Frontier Regions Doug Smith,Michael E. Clarke,2016-03-08 China has traditionally viewed her frontier regions Zxinjiang Tibet Inner Mongolia and Yunnan as buffer zones Yet their importance as commercial and cosmopolitan hubs intimately involved in the transmission of goods peoples and ideas between China and it west and southwest has meant they are crucial for China s ongoing development The resurgence of China under Deng Xiaoping s policy of reform and opening has therefore led to a focus on integrating these regions into the PRC People s Republic of China This has important implications not only for the frontier regions themselves but also for the neighbouring states with which they have strong cultural religious linguistic and economic ties China s Frontier Regions explores the challenges presented by this integrationist policy both for domestic relations and for diplomatic and foreign policy relations with the countries abutting their frontier regions

Objects and Frontiers in Modern Asia Lipokmar Dzüvichü,Manjeet Baruah,2019-03-06 Focusing on the geographies between the Mekong and the Indus this book brings objects to the centre of enquiry in the understanding of modern Asian frontiers It explores how a range of objects have historically been significant bearers and agents of frontier making For instance how are objects connected to aspects of state making social change everyday life diplomacy political and ecological worlds capital forms of violence resistances circulations and aesthetic expressions This book seeks to interrogate and understand the dynamism of frontiers from the vantage point of objects such as salt rubber tea guns silk scarves horses and opium It attempts to explore objects as sites of encounter mediation or dislocation between the social and the spatial The book not only locates objects in the specificities of frontier spaces but it also looks at how they are produced circulated and come to be intricately linked to a wide range of people institutions networks and geographies In the process it explores how objects traverse and come to inhabit multiple historical cultural and geographical scales This book will be of interest to researchers and academics working in areas of history social and cultural anthropology Asian studies frontiers and borderland studies cultural studies political and economic studies and museum studies American Frontier Activities in Asia Young Hum Kim,1981 Human Frontiers, Environments and Disease Tony McMichael,2001-06-28 This compelling account charts the relentless trajectory of humankind and its changing survival and disease patterns across place and time from when our ancient ancestors roamed the African Savannah to today's populous industrialised globalising world This expansion of human frontiers geographic climatic cultural and technological has encountered frequent setbacks from disease famine and dwindling resources The social and environmental transformations wrought by agrarianism industrialisation fertility control social modernisation urbanisation and mass consumption have profoundly affected patterns of health and disease Today as life expectancies rise the planet's ecosystems are being damaged by the combined weight of population size and intensive economic activity Global warming stratospheric ozone depletion and loss of biodiversity pose large scale hazards to human health and survival Recognising this can we achieve a transition to sustainability This and other profound questions underlie this chronicle of expansive human activity social change environmental impact and their health consequences China's Encounters on the South and Southwest James A. Anderson,John K. Whitmore,2014-11-06 China's Encounters on the South and Southwest Reforging the Fiery Frontier Over Two Millennia discusses the mountainous territory between lowland China and Southeast Asia what we term the Dong world and varied encounters by China with this world's many elements The essays describe such encounters over the past two millennia and note various asymmetric relations that have resulted therefrom Local populations indigenous chiefs state officials and rulers have all acted to shape this frontier especially after the Mongol incursions of the thirteenth century drastically shifted it This process has moved from the alliances of the Dong world to the indirect rule of the Tusi native official age to the Qing and recent Gaitu Guilu efforts at direct rule by the state placing regular officials in charge there The essays detail the complexities of this frontier through time space and personality particularly in those instances as today on land and sea when China elects to pursue an aggressive policy in this direction Contributors include Brantly Womack Kenneth MacLean Amy Holmes Tagchungdarpa Bradley Davis Jaymin Kim Alexander Ong Joseph Dennis Sun Laichen John K Whitmore Kathlene Baldanza Kenneth M Swope Michael Brose James A Anderson Liam Kelley and Catherine Churchman The Other Side Of The Frontier Linda L Barrington,2018-02-07 A collection of essays by renowned scholars of Native American economic history The Other Side of the Frontier presents one of the first in depth studies of the complex interaction between the history of Native American economic development and the economic development of the United States at large Although recent trends in the field of economics have encouraged the study of minority groups such as Asians and African Americans little work has been done in Native American economic history This text fills an existing gap in economic history literature and will help students come to a richer understanding of the effects that U S economic policy has had on the culture and development of its indigenous peoples China's Western Frontier and Eurasia Zenel Garcia, 2021-09-16 China has emerged as a dominant power in Eurasian affairs that not only exercises significant political and economic power but increasingly ideational power too. Since the founding of the People's Republic, Chinese Communist Party leaders have sought to increase state capacity and exercise more effective control over their western frontier through a series of state building initiatives. Although these initiatives have always incorporated an international component, the collapse of the USSR, increasing globalization, and the party's professed concerns about terrorism, separatism, and extremism have led to a region building project in Eurasia. Garcia traces how domestic elite-led narratives about security and development generate state building initiatives and then region building projects. He also assesses how region building projects are promoted through narratives of the historicity of China's engagement in Eurasia, the promotion of norms of non-interference, and appeals to mutual development. Finally, he traces the construction of regions through formal and informal institutions as well as integrative infrastructure. By presenting three phases of Chinese domestic state building and region building from 1988 to present, Garcia shows how region building projects have enabled China to increase state capacity, control, and development in its western frontier. Recommended for scholars of China's international relations and development policy.

Water Frontier Nola Cooke, Tana Li, 2004 Water Frontier focuses principally on southwest Indochina, from modern southern Vietnam into eastern Cambodia and southwestern Thailand, which it calls the Lower Mekong region. The book's excellent contributors argue that during the eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries, this area formed a single trading zone woven together by the regular itineraries of thousands of large and small junk traders. This zone in turn formed a regional component of the wider trade networks that linked southern China to all of Southeast Asia. This is the water frontier of the title: a sparsely settled coastal and riverine frontier region of mixed ethnicities and often uncertain settlements in which the waterborne trade and commerce of a long string of small ports was essential to local life. This innovative book uses the water frontier concept to reposition old, nation-state-oriented histories and decenter modern dominant cultures and ethnicities to reveal a different local past. It expands and deepens our understanding of the time and place as well as of the multiple roles played by Chinese sojourners, settlers, and junk traders in their interactions with a kaleidoscope of local peoples.

The Prehistoric Maritime Frontier of Southeast China Chunming Wu, 2021-10-05 This open access book presents multidisciplinary research on the cultural history, ethnic connectivity, and oceanic transportation of the ancient Indigenous Bai Yue in the prehistoric maritime region of southeast China and southeast Asia. In this maritime Frontier of China, historical documents demonstrate the development of the barbarian Bai Yue and Island Yi and their cultural interaction with the northern Huaxia in early Chinese civilization within the geopolitical order of the Central State, Four Peripheries, Barbarians, Four Seas. Archaeological typologies of the prehistoric remains reveal a unique cultural tradition dominantly originating from the local Paleolithic age and continuing to early Neolithization across this border region. Further analysis of material culture from the Neolithic to the Early Iron Age proves the stability and resilience of the indigenous cultures even with the migratory expansion of Huaxia and Han from north to south Ethnographical investigations of aboriginal heritage highlight their native cultural context seafaring technology and navigation techniques and their interaction with Austronesian and other foreign maritime ethnicities In a word this manuscript presents a new perspective on the unique cultural landscape of indigenous ethnicities in southeast China with thousands of years stable tradition a remarkable maritime orientation and overseas cultural hybridization in the coastal region of southeast China

Closing of the Frontier John G Butcher,2003-08-01 This book is the first on the history of the marine fisheries of Southeast Asia It takes as its central theme the movement of fisheries into new fishing grounds particularly the diverse ecosystems that make up the seas of Southeast Asia This process accelerated between the 1950s and 1970s in what the author calls e the great fish race Catches soared as the population of the region grew demand from Japan and North America for shrimps and tuna increased and fishers adopted more efficient ways of locating catching and preserving fish But the great fish race soon brought about the severe depletion of one fish population after another while pollution and the destruction of mangroves and coral reefs degraded fish habitats Today the relentless movement into new fishing grounds has come to an end for there are no new fishing grounds to exploit The frontier of fisheries has closed The challenge now is to exploit the seas in ways that preserve the diversity of marine life while providing the people of the region with a source of food long into the future

The Maritime Frontier of Burma ,2022-08-01 Situated at the periphery of both South and Southeast Asia the maritime frontier of Burma Arakan Lower Burma and Tenasserim has long been neglected area of study In spite of its location at the outskirts of powerful Asian polities such as Taungngu Burma Ayutthaya and Mughal India it served as an important cultural and commercial crossroads connecting all the regions surrounding the Bay of Bengal For the first time in Burmese studies this volume explores the interactive elements of Coastal Burma s civilization by bringing together a unique array of scholars both historians and art historians both anglophones and francophones both South Asianists and Southeast Asianists The result is a creative and colorful pastiche that pays tribute to Burma s distinctive political cultural and commercial place in the Indian Ocean world

Terrorist Rehabilitation: A New Frontier In Counter-terrorism Rohan Gunaratna,Mohamed Bin Ali,2015-04-14 With the rise of religiously motivated violence and terrorism governments around the world need to develop their religious and ideological capabilities in parallel with strengthening their law enforcement military and intelligence capabilities Terrorist Rehabilitation A New Frontier in Counter terrorism aims to provide an understanding of the importance of the approach and strategy of terrorist rehabilitation in countering this threat Comprising of nine chapters this book provides case study assessments of terrorist rehabilitation practices set against the backdrop of their unique operational and geopolitical milieu in countries such as Saudi Arabia Singapore Indonesia and Sri Lanka This will help the reader to form a foundational understanding of the concept of terrorist rehabilitation by combining the insights successes and experience of senior government officials and counter terrorism experts In addition the contributors provide discussions on religious concepts that have been manipulated by violent Islamists as a background to understanding religiously or ideologically motivated terrorism and the avenues open for countering it A Malay Frontier Jane Drakard, 2018-05-31 The way in which Malays construe ideas about authority and government is the subject of this book Focusing upon an often ignored section of the Malay archipelago Barus a small kingdom on the coast of northwest Sumatra the author compares readings based upon the royal chronicles of Hilir and Hulu Barus She examines the relationship between the upland and the lowland to study the character of Malay political culture in Barus
