The Frontman Peter Sinclair, 1992      The Frontman Harry Browne, 2013-06-04 Celebrity philanthropy comes in many guises but no single figure better encapsulates its delusions pretensions and wrongheadedness than U2's iconic frontman Bono a fact neither sunglasses nor leather pants can hide More than a mere philanthropist indeed he lags behind many of his peers when it comes to parting with his own money Bono is better described as an advocate one who has become an unwitting symbol of a complacent wealthy Western elite The Frontman reveals how Bono moved his investments to Amsterdam to evade Irish taxes his paternalistic and often bullying advocacy of neoliberal solutions in Africa his multinational business interests and his hobnobbing with Paul Wolfowitz and shock doctrine economist Jeffrey Sachs Carefully dissecting the rhetoric and actions of Bono the political operator The Frontman shows him to be an ambassador for imperial exploitation a man who has turned his attention to a world of savage injustice inequality and exploitation and helped make it worse

The Fabric of Welfare Margaret Tennant, 2007 Throughout history the welfare of the people has been a contested area Is it the responsibility of the state The churches The extended family Organised charities or informal community groups The Fabric of Welfare is about the many points of contact between voluntary welfare and government social services and the complex pattern woven by these different threads The country's welfare history is shaped by its colonial past with the predominantly British influences transmitted by an immigrant society in the nineteenth century by its Maori population with a strong communal ethos by the shaping forces of the welfare state by two world wars and economic depression and by both free market policies and rapid social change in recent years In tracing the interdependence of state and voluntary provision of welfare from 1840 to 2005 Margaret Tennant offers new perspectives on New Zealand social history This is a rigorous analysis but it is also a history illuminated by people The text is illustrated with stories about the people who were moved to save to reform to care to support and the people who needed that essential sustenance From the nun who sees a distraught woman about to throw her child into the sea and sets out to care for foundlings to city missionaries community minded public servants businessmen philanthropists and the entrepreneurial organisers of floral fetes and telethons these accounts tell us much about the history of welfare in all its interconnections
