Capital and Corporal Punishment in Anglo-Saxon England Jay Paul Gates, Nicole Marafioti, 2014 Anglo Saxon authorities often punished lawbreakers with harsh corporal penalties such as execution mutilation and imprisonment Despite their severity however these penalties were not arbitrary exercises of power Rather they were informed by nuanced philosophies of punishment which sought to resolve conflict keep the peace and enforce Christian morality The ten essays in this volume engage legal literary historical and archaeological evidence to investigate the role of punishment in Anglo Saxon society Three dominant themes emerge in the collection First is the shift from a culture of retributive feud to a system of top down punishment in which penalties were imposed by an authority figure responsible for keeping the peace Second is the use of spectacular punishment to enhance royal standing as Anglo Saxon kings sought to centralize and legitimize their power Third is the intersection of secular punishment and penitential practice as Christian authorities tempered penalties for material crime with concern for the souls of the condemned Together these studies demonstrate that in Anglo Saxon England capital and corporal punishments were considered necessary legitimate and righteous methods of social control Jay Paul Gates is Assistant Professor at John Jay College of Criminal Justice in The City University of New York Nicole Marafioti is Assistant Professor of History and co director of the Medieval and Renaissance Studies Program at Trinity University in San Antonio Texas Contributors Valerie

Allen Jo Buckberry Daniela Fruscione Jay Paul Gates Stefan Jurasinski Nicole Marafioti Daniel O Gorman Lisi Oliver Andrew Rabin Daniel Thomas Father Martin and the Hermitage Mystery David Bland, 2007 Set against a backdrop of historical political intrigue this mystery follows Father Martin on his investigations into a set of gruesome murders Headless bodies are surfacing and Martin is under pressure from King Henry of Anjou to find an answer before Henry's proposed expedition to take over the territories of Ireland Could the killings and the upcoming invasion be connected New York Times Saturday Review of Books and Art , 1957 Lives of the Queens of England from the Norman Conquest Agnes Strickland, 1873 Medieval Warfare 1000-1300 John France, 2017-05-15 The study of medieval warfare has developed enormously in recent years The figure of the armoured mounted knight who was believed to have materialized in Carolingian times long dominated all discussion of the subject It is now understood that the knight emerged over a long period of time and that he was never alone on the field of conflict Infantry at all times played a substantial role in conflict and the notion that they were in some way invented only in the fourteenth century is no longer sustainable Moreover modern writers have examined campaigns which for long seemed pointless because they did not lead to spectacular events like battles As a result we now understand the pattern of medieval war which often did not depend on battle but on exerting pressure on the opponent by economic warfare This pattern was intensified by the existence of castles and careful study has revealed much about their development and the evolving means of attacking them Crusading warfare pitted westerners against a novel style of war and affords an opportunity to assess the military effectiveness of European methods New areas of study are now developing The logistics of medieval armies was always badly neglected while until very recently there was a silence on the victims of war Assembled in this volume are 31 papers which represent milestones in the development of the new ideas about medieval warfare set in context by an introductory essay Geoffroy of Villehardouin, Marshal of Champagne Theodore Evergates, 2024-01-15 Geoffroy of Villehardouin Marshal of Champagne by Theodore Evergates traces the remarkable life of Geoffroy of Villehardouin c 1148 c 1217 from his earliest years in Champagne through his last years in Greece after the crusade The fourth son of a knight Geoffroy became marshal of Champagne principal negotiator in organizing the Fourth Crusade chief of staff of the expedition to and conquest of Constantinople garrison commander of Constantinople and in his late fifties field commander defending the Latin settlement in the Byzantine empire against invading Bulgarian armies and revolting Greek cities Known for his diplomatic skills and rectitude he served as the chief military advisor to Count Thibaut III of Champagne and later to Emperor Henry of Constantinople Geoffroy is remarkable as well for dictating the earliest war memoir in medieval Europe which is also the earliest prose narrative in Old French Addressed to a home audience in Champagne he described what he did what he saw and what he heard during his eight years on crusade and especially during the fraught period after the conquest of Constantinople His memoir The Book of the Conquest of Constantinople furnishes a commander's retrospective account of the main events and inner workings of the

crusade the innumerable meetings and speeches the conduct not always commendable of the barons and the persistent discontent within the army as well as a celebration of his own deeds as a diplomat and a military commander Sharing Expertise Mark S. Ackerman, Volkmar Pipek, Volker Wulf, 2003 The field of knowledge management focuses on how organizations can most effectively store manage retrieve and enlarge their intellectual properties The repository view of knowledge management emphasizes the gathering providing and filtering of explicit knowledge The information in a repository has the advantage of being easily transferable and reusable But it is not easy to use decontextualized information and users often need access to human experts This book describes a more recent approach to knowledge management which the authors call expertise sharing Expertise sharing emphasizes the human aspects cognitive social cultural and organizational of knowledge management in addition to information storage and retrieval Rather than focusing on the management level of an organization expertise sharing focuses on the self organized activities of the organization s members The book addresses the concerns of both researchers and practitioners describing current literature and research as well as offering information on implementing systems It consists of three parts an introduction to knowledge sharing in large organizations empirical studies of expertise sharing in different types of settings and detailed descriptions of computer systems that can route queries assemble people and work and augment naturally occurring social networks within organizations Hostages in the Middle Ages Adam J. Kosto, 2012-06-21 Examines the changing situations in which hostages were used in the Europe and the Mediterranean world from the fifth to the fifteenth centuries touching on a wide range of topics in military diplomatic political social gender economic and legal history The Routledge Companion to Medieval Warfare Jim Bradbury, 2004-08-02 This comprehensive volume provides easily accessible factual material on all major areas of warfare in the medieval west The whole geographical area of medieval Europe including eastern Europe is covered including essential elements from outside Europe such as Byzantine warfare nomadic horde invasions and the Crusades Progressing chronologically the work is presented in themed illustrated sections with a narrative outline offering a brief introduction to the area Within each chronological section Jim Bradbury presents clear and informative pieces on battles sieges and generals The author examines practical topics including castle architecture with examinations of specific castles ship building techniques improvements in armour specific weapons developments in areas such as arms and armour fortifications tactics and supply Readable and engaging this detailed provides students with an excellent collection of archaeological information and clear discussions of controversial issues The Crusader States and their Neighbours Nicholas Morton, 2020-04-24 The Crusader States and their Neighbours explores the military history of the Medieval Near East piecing together the fault lines of conflict which entangled this much contested region This was an area where ethnic religious dynastic and commercial interests collided and the causes of war could be numerous Conflicts persisted for decades and were fought out between many groups including Kurds Turks Armenians Arabs and the crusaders themselves Nicholas

Morton recreates this world exploring how each faction sought to advance its own interests by any means possible adapting its warcraft to better respond to the threats posed by their rivals Strategies and tactics employed by the pastoral societies of the Central Asian Steppe were pitted against the armies of the agricultural societies of Western Christendom Byzantium and the Islamic World galvanising commanders to adapt their practices in response to their foes Today we are generally encouraged to think of this era as a time of religious conflict and yet this vastly over simplifies a complex region where violence could take place for many reasons and peoples of different faiths could easily find themselves fighting side by side
