Government Accountability Office, 2005 The U S Census Bureau conducted the Count Question Resolution CQR program to correct errors in the count of housing units as well as dormitories and other group living facilities known as group quarters GAO was asked to assess whether CQR was consistently implemented across the country paying particular attention to whether the Bureau identified census errors that could have been caused by more systemic problems GAO also evaluated how well the Bureau transitioned to CQR from an earlier quality assurance program called Full Count Review The CQR program which ran from June 30 2001 to September 30 2003 played an important role in improving the quality of data from the 2000 Census in that it corrected numbers affecting 47 states and over 1 180 governmental units Although this is a small percentage of the nation s more than 39 000 government entities the count revisions impacted private homes prisons and other dwellings and in some cases were significant For example when the Bureau deleted duplicate data on students at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and made other corrections that state s head count dropped by 2 828 people Similarly CQR found that more than 1 600 people in Morehead Kentucky were counted in the wrong location GAO identified several shortcomings with the CQR program including inconsistent implementation by the Bureau s regional offices and the posting of inaccurate data to the Bureau s Web based errata report Moreover while CQR found the counting of group quarters to be particularly problematic the Bureau did not perform an active nationwide review of these known trouble spots and thus missed an opportunity to potentially improve the accuracy of the data for these dwellings Further because CQR had more stringent documentation requirements compared to a preceding program called Full Count Review CQR rejected hundreds of unresolved full count issues missing another opportunity to improve the data As its plans proceed for the 2010 Census it will be important for the Bureau to address the operational issues GAO identified Moreover because the data for apportionment and redistricting were later found to be flawed for some jurisdictions it will be important for the Bureau to develop a count correction program that is designed to systematically review and correct these essential figures Norm

Clusters of Non-State Armed Groups Will Jamison Wright, 2023-12-01 The proliferation of non state armed groups and non international armed conflicts since the end of the Second World War has challenged the legal frameworks which govern conduct in armed conflict While aspects of international humanitarian law apply to such conflicts international law can only go part of the way to explaining behaviour by armed groups This book seeks to refocus discussion on the limits to armed conflict in such settings by examining the norms that underpin international humanitarian law as espoused by these armed groups to give a clearer picture as to the collectively constructed appropriateness of certain behaviours in or limits to warfare The specific research question is What are the norms of armed conflict as identified by non state armed groups Using Winston s norm cluster model this study seeks to examine and map the ideations and behavioural prescriptions that constitute the armed conflict norm cluster as defined by non state armed groups To do this it utilises a qualitative content analysis of documents from non state armed groups coded to identify the different elements of this norm cluster as well as the frequency pervasiveness and connections between these elements The findings showed that while international humanitarian law is universal these norms limiting armed conflict are not with no norm being seen across all contexts examined Core norms of international humanitarian law especially those supported by norm entrepreneurs were seen to be the focus of sub clusters and the emergence of new parts of the norm cluster could be observed over time The findings suggest that further work with the conceptualisation of limits to armed conflict as norms could be useful in improving the embeddedness of norms amongst non state armed groups and could be useful in reconceptualising limits to armed conflict in cases where broadly accepted norms face growing contestation Small-area Data Notes United States. This book explores how geography conditions scientific collaboration and how collaboration affects the spatiality of science. This book offers a complex analysis of the spatial aspects of scientific collaboration, addressing the topic at a number of levels: individual, organizational, urban, regional, national and international. Spatial patterns of scientific collaboration are analysed along with their determinants and consequences. By combining a vast array of approaches, concepts and methodologies, the volume offers a comprehensive theoretical framework for the geography of scientific collaboration. The examples of scientific collaboration policy discussed in the book are taken from the European Union, the United States and China. Through a number of case studies, the authors analyse the background, development and evaluation of these policies. This book will be of interest to
