Investing in Children Ariel Kalil, Ron Haskins, Jenny Chesters, 2012-05-03 Investing in Children Work Education and Social Policy in Two Rich Countries presents new research by leading scholars in Australia and the United States on economic factors that influence children s development and the respective social policies that the two nations have designed to boost human capital development The volume is organized around three major issues parental employment early childhood education and child care and postsecondary education All three issues are intimately linked with human capital development Since both Australia and the United States have created extensive policies to address these three issues there is potential for each to learn from the other s experiences and policies This volume helps fulfill that potential The authors demonstrate that in both nations the effects of low family income and income inequality emerge early in life and persist However policies that increase parental employment augment family income and promote quality preschool and postsecondary education can boost children s development and at least partially offset the negative developmental effects of family economic disadvantage

Fathers and Mothers: Dilemmas of the Work-Life Balance Margret Fine-Davis, Jeanne Fagnani, Dino

Giovannini, Lis Højgaard, Hilary Clarke, 2004-03-03 At the risk of sounding frivolous there is a good case to be made for the argument that women constitute the revolutionary force behind contemporary social and economic transformation It is in large part the changing role of women that explains the new household structure our altered demographic behaviour the growth of the service economy and as a consequence the new dilemmas that the advanced societies face Most European countries have failed to adapt adequately to the novel challenges and the result is an increasingly serious disequilibrium Women explicitly desire economic independence and the societal collective too needs to maximise female employment And yet this runs up against severe incompatibility problems that then result in very low birth rates Our aging societies need more kids yet fertility levels are often only half of what citizens define as their desired number of children No matter what happens in the next decade we are doomed to have exceedingly small cohorts that in turn must shoulder the massive burden of supporting a retired baby boom generation Hence it is tantamount that tomorrow's adults be maximally productive and yet the typical EU member state invests very little in its children and families

Is There a Father in the House?
