

Descartes claims that his certainty in the proposition I exist is due to the fact that it is a clear and distinct idea. Having a clear and distinct idea is not simply a feeling of certainty though- it is a recognition that its impossible for the proposition to be false. So Descartes says that I exist is true because you can think it

Arguments for the existence of God

The trademark argument

1. I have a concept of God
2. My concept of God is the concept of something infinite and perfect
3. But I am a finite and imperfect being
4. The cause and effect must have at least as reality as the effect
5. So the cause of my concept of God must have as much reality as what the concept is about
6. So the cause of my idea of God must be an infinite and perfect being

To summarise this the trademark argument is called as such because DESCARTES ARGUES THAT THE CONCEPT OF GOD IS LIKE AN INNATE TRADEMARK PLACED IN OUR MINDS. DESCARTES POINT IS ESSENTIALLY THAT ITS IMPOSSIBLE THIS TRADEMARK- OF AN INFINITE AND PERFECT BEING-IS SOMETHING HE COULD HAVE CREATED HIMSELF. Whatever caused descartes idea of God must be an infinite and perfect being because of premise 4 above.

Descartes then continues his process of intuition and deduction to argue that because god exists, his perception can be trusted . these perceptions are of an external world of physical objects and, because Descartes can trust his perceptions, he can trust that the external world exists

The key points are as follows

1. I have perceptions of an external world with physical objects
2. My perceptions cannot be caused by my own mind because they are involuntary (Descartes argument for this is like Locke's argument)
3. So, the cause of my perceptions must be something external to my mind
4. God exists (trademark argument)
5. If the cause of my perceptions is God and not the physical objects themselves, then God has created me with a tendency to form false beliefs (because premise 1)
6. But god is a perfect being by definition( ontological argument) and so would not create me with a tendency to form false beliefs from my perceptions
7. So I can trust my perceptions
8. So given 1-7 above , I can know the external world of physical objects can exist

The Secular is Sacred A.B. Collins, 2012-12-06 This book presents a philosophical position examined philosophically Although it does not go beyond the confines of Ficino's perspective and is governed by standards of historical accuracy it makes explicit in its explanation of Ficino's text the enduring philosophical questions which are at issue there True the book examines in some detail Ficino's relation to his Platonic and Scholastic sources and this is an issue of primary interest to those who study the history of culture or the historical development of philosophy However in Ficino's thought this issue is also a philosophical issue Ficino chooses Platonism as his guide because this philosophy retains an explicit and essential orientation to religion When he takes Platonism as the primary instance of philosophy he is taking a stand on the nature of philosophy itself Philosophy necessarily points toward the divinity and hence is necessarily related to the veneration and worship of its object Christian theology joins Platonic philosophy in this movement toward God developing more completely the implications of its fundamental insights And the splendour of Christian theology is Thomas Aquinas Therefore to examine the relationship between Platonism and Thomism in Ficino's thought is to examine Ficino's position on the unity of philosophy and theology Scholars writing about Ficino have pointed to three major influences on his thought The influence of Plato and the neo Platonists of course is readily recognized
