Fortress Conservation:

Green Development W. M. Adams, 2003-09-02 This revised and updated new edition retains the clear and powerful argument which characterized the original It gives a valuable analysis of the theory and practice of sustainable development and suggests that at the start of the new millennium we should think radically about the challenge of sustainability Fully revised this latest edition includes further reading chapter outlines chapter summaries and new discussion topics and explores the roots of sustainable development thinking and its evolution in the last three decades of the twentieth century the dominant ideas within mainstream sustainable development the nature and diversity of alternative ideas about sustainability the problems of environmental degradation and the environmental impacts of development strategies for building sustainability in development from above and below Offering a synthesis of theoretical ideas on sustainability based on the industrialized economies of the North and the practical applied ideas in the South which tend to ignore First World theory this important text gives a clear discussion of theory and extensive practical insights drawn from Africa Latin America and Asia

Encyclopedia of Environment and Society Paul Robbins, 2007-08-27 As befits the topic this beautifully packaged wonderfully illustrated interdisciplinary resource has more than 1200 entries written by specialists A helpful reader's guide groups topics like agriculture conservation and ecology movements and regulations politics pollution and society A resource guide chronology glossary and list of the UN's economic indicators complete the set Library Journal this important work gives a well focused snapshot of environmentalism in the early 21st Century and it will remain valuable into the future both for its content and as a yardstick to measure progress toward sustainability and conservation Summing Up Recommended Undergraduates and general readers CHOICE Booklist Editors Choice 2008 This superb interdisciplinary work should find a place on the shelves of every public and academic library that has the least bit of interest in environment issues which should mean just about all Booklist Starred Review Where does the environment leave off and society begin When expanding production and consumption drives greenhouse gas emissions that warm the planet which in turn influence the conditions of economic expansion it is unclear where the climate ends and the economy begins This fact is not new to our era however our social and natural sciences have only recently come to grips with the incredible complexity of the world described by understanding the environment and society as being of a piece As a result in the last decade there has been an unprecedented explosion of new concepts theories facts and techniques that follow from such an understanding The Encyclopedia of Environment and Society brings together multiplying issues concepts theories examples problems and policies with the goal of clearly explicating an emerging way of thinking about people and nature With more than 1 200 entries written by experts from incredibly diverse fields this innovative resource is a first step toward diving into the deep pool of emerging knowledge The five volumes of this Encyclopedia represent more than a catalogue of terms Rather they capture the spirit of the moment a fascinating time when global warming and genetic engineering represent only two of the most obvious examples of socio environmental issues Key Features Examines many new ideas about how the world works what creates the daunting problems of our time and how such issues might be addressed whether by regulation markets or new ethics Demonstrates how theories of environmental management based on market efficiency may not be easily reconciled with those that focus on population and both may certainly diverge from those centering on ethics justice or labor Offers contributions from experts in their fields of specialty including geographers political scientists chemists anthropologists medical practitioners development experts and sociologists among many others Explores the emerging socio environmental problems that we face in the next century as well as the shifting and expanding theoretical tools available for tackling these problems Covers regions of North America in greater detail but also provides a comprehensive picture that approaches as effectively as possible a cohesive global vision Key Themes Agriculture Animals Biology and Chemistry Climate Conservation and Ecology Countries Geography History Movements and Regulations Organizations People Politics Pollution Society Packed with essential and up to date information on the state of the global socio environment the Encyclopedia of Environment and Society is a time capsule of its historic moment and a record of where we stand at the start of the 21st century making it a must have resource for any library These inspiring volumes provide an opportunity for more new ways of thinking behaving and living in a more than human world Regulating the Sea Margherita

Pieraccini,2022-12-22 The book explores English marine protected areas regulation linking the regulatory landscape to key theoretical themes in environmental social sciences Political Ecology Tor A. Benjaminsen,Hanne Svarstad,2021-02-08

This textbook introduces political ecology as an interdisciplinary approach to critically examine land and environmental issues Drawing on discourse and narrative analysis Marxist political economy and insights from natural science the book points at similarities differences and inter connections between environmental governance in the global North and South A wide range of carefully curated case studies are presented with a particular focus on Africa and Norway Key themes of power justice and environmental sustainability run through all chapters The authors challenge established views and leading discourses and present research findings that may surprise readers Chapters cover topics including wildlife conservation climate change and conflicts land grabbing the effects of population growth on the environment jihadism in the African Sahel bioprospecting feminist political ecology and struggles around carbon mitigation within a fossil fuel based economy This introductory text provides tools and examples for both undergraduate and postgraduate students to better understand on going struggles about some of the world s most urgent challenges This Land Is Not For Sale Lotte Meinert,Susan

Reynolds Whyte,2023-01-13 Although violent conflict has declined in northern Uganda tensions and mistrust concerning land have increased Residents try to deal with acquisitions by investors and exclusions from forests and wildlife reserves Land wrangles among neighbours and relatives are widespread The growing commodification of land challenges ideals of entrustment for future generations Using extended case studies collaborating researchers analyze the principles and practices that shape access to land Contributors examine the multiplicity of land claims the nature of transactions and the management of conflicts They show how access to land is governed through intimate relations of gender generation and belonging Grassroots Responses to Extractivism Samuel Leguizamon Grant,Felix Mantz,Mariko Frame,2025-01-23 This volume makes visible the many innovative resistances and solutions emanating from the Global South in response to the injustices of the current global ecological crises Rooted in contemporary ecological imperialism these crises are subjecting marginalized communities in the Global South to the worst socio ecological repercussions worldwide whilst mainstream environmental policies and solutions reproduce market based approaches premised on a hegemonic Western world view The book details a wide variety of case studies from across Asia Africa and the Americas such as deforestation activism in Cambodia and grassroots community organisation against large scale land transactions in Liberia among many others The contributors composed of a mix of academics and activists propose bottom up solutions to the current ecological and climate crises This work highlights how anti capitalist anti colonial and anti anthropocentric alternatives and movements are realistic holistic and appropriate in the face of global ecological crises The Future of Heritage as Climates Change David Harvey,Jim Perry,2015-04-24 Climate change is a critical issue for heritage studies Sites objects and ways of life all are coming under threat requiring alternative management or requiring specific climate change adaptation Heritage is key to interpreting the societal significance of climate change notions and images of the past are crucial to our understanding of the present and are used to prompt actions that help society define and achieve a specific and desired future Relatively little attention has been paid to the critical intersections between heritage and climate change The Future of Heritage as Climates Change frames the intellectual context within which heritage and climate change can be examined presenting cases and sub fields in which the heritage climate change nexus is being examined and provides synthetic analyses through five overarching themes The heritage of change among coastal communities liminality and the politics of engagement Dwelling materials processes and possibilities Environmental heritage meanings of the past prospects for the future Blurring the boundaries of nature and culture the politics of anticipation Climate change and heritage practice adaptation and resilience The Future of Heritage as Climates Change provides scholars managers policy makers and students with a much needed examination of heritage and climate change to help make critical decisions in the next several decades Carbon Conflicts and Forest Landscapes in Africa Melissa Leach,Ian Scoones,2015-06-05 Amidst the pressing challenges of global climate change the last decade has seen a wave of forest carbon projects across the world designed to conserve and enhance forest carbon stocks in order to reduce carbon emissions from deforestation and offset emissions elsewhere Exploring a set of new empirical case studies Carbon Conflicts and Forest Landscapes in Africa examines how these projects are unfolding their effects and who is gaining and losing Situating forest carbon approaches as part of more general moves to address environmental problems by attaching market values to nature and ecosystems it examines how new projects interact with forest landscapes and their longer histories of intervention The book asks what difference does carbon make What political and ecological dynamics are unleashed by these new commodified marketized approaches and how are local forest users experiencing and responding to them The book s case studies cover a wide range of African ecologies project types and national political economic contexts By examining these cases in a comparative framework and within an understanding of the national regional and global institutional arrangements shaping forest carbon commoditisation the book provides a rich and compelling account of how and why carbon conflicts are emerging and how they might be avoided in future This book will be of interest to students of development studies environmental sciences geography economics development studies and anthropology as well as practitioners and policy makers Dictablanda Paul Gillingham, Benjamin T. In 1910 Mexicans rebelled against an imperfect dictatorship after 1940 they ended up with what some called the perfect dictatorship A single party ruled Mexico for over seventy years holding elections and talking about revolution while overseeing one of the world s most inequitable economies The contributors to this groundbreaking collection revise earlier interpretations arguing that state power was not based exclusively on hegemony corporatism or violence Force was real but it was also exercised by the ruled It went hand in hand with consent produced by resource regulation political pragmatism local autonomies and a popular veto The result was a dictablanda a soft authoritarian regime This deliberately heterodox volume brings together social historians anthropologists sociologists and political scientists to offer a radical new understanding of the emergence and persistence of the modern Mexican state It also proposes bold multidisciplinary approaches to critical problems in contemporary politics With its blend of contested elections authoritarianism and resistance Mexico foreshadowed the hybrid regimes that have spread across much of the globe Dictablanda suggests how they may endure Contributors Roberto Blancarte Christopher R Boyer Guillermo de la Pe a Mar a Teresa Fern ndez Aceves Paul Gillingham Rogelio Hern ndez Rodr guez Alan Knight Gladys McCormick Tanal s Padilla Wil G Pansters Andrew Paxman Jaime Pensado Pablo Piccato Thomas Rath Jeffrey W Rubin Benjamin T Smith Michael Snodgrass Beyond Borders Brian

Doherty, Timothy Doyle, 2013-10-18 Globalisation is about transnational politics While nation state governments increasingly struggle with this new politics which moves beneath between and beyond national borders others entities like transnational corporations have flourished But it is not just business which increasingly bypasses these traditional boundaries Environmental groups are also moving though this transnational space and their politics are defined by such qualities as fluidity ambiguity and rapid changes in identity mission and structure In this book the politics of environmental movements are presented as particularly salient examples of these new phenomena Drawing on fieldwork from Europe Asia America Africa and the Middle East the contributors address a range of trans national processes efforts to construct common agendas transnationally the diffusion of new repertoires of environmental protest the role of environmental groups in the construction of new modes of environmental governance how neo liberalism affects local environmental activism evidence of transnational

Different Shades of Green Byron Caminero-Santangelo, 2014-07-16 Engaging important discussions about social conflict environmental change and imperialism in Africa Different Shades of Green points to legacies of African environmental writing often neglected as a result of critical perspectives shaped by dominant Western conceptions of nature and environmentalism Drawing on an interdisciplinary framework employing postcolonial studies political ecology environmental history and writing by African environmental activists Byron Caminero Santangelo emphasizes connections within African environmental literature highlighting how African writers have challenged unjust ecologically destructive forms of imperial development and resource extraction Different Shades of Green also brings into dialogue a wide range of African creative writing including works by Chinua Achebe Ng g wa Thiong o Bessie Head Nadine Gordimer Zakes Mda Nuruddin Farah Wangari Maathai and Ken Saro Wiwa in order to explore vexing questions for those involved in the struggle for environmental justice in the study of political ecology and in the environmental humanities urging continued imaginative thinking in effecting a more equitable sustain able future in Africa

The Truth about Nature Bram Büscher, 2020-12-15 How should we share the truth about the environmental crisis At a moment when even the most basic facts about ecology and the climate face contestation and contempt environmental advocates are at an impasse Many have turned to social media and digital technologies to shift the tide But what if their strategy is not only flawed but dangerous The Truth about Nature follows environmental actors as they turn to the internet to save nature It documents how conservation efforts are transformed through the political economy of platforms and the algorithmic feeds that have been instrumental to the rise of post truth politics Developing a novel account of post truth as an expression of power under platform capitalism Bram B scher shows how environmental actors attempt to mediate between structural forms of platform power and the contingent histories and contexts of particular environmental issues Bringing efforts at wildlife protection in Southern Africa into dialogue with a sweeping analysis of truth and power in the twenty first century B scher makes the case for a new environmental politics that radically reignites the art of speaking truth to power

Participatory Planning in the Caribbean: Lessons from Practice Robert Potter, Jonathan Pugh, 2018-05-08 This title was first published in 2003 Until recently planning and development in the Caribbean have been top down centre out and expert led For a few years now though the region has bowed to the global trend and has experimented with participatory planning methods Participatory planning is heralded by much of the development community as the most appropriate alternative strategy to the traditional approaches In this volume a range of experts drawn from the Caribbean the United Kingdom and the United States review the current achievements and future prospects for genuinely participative planning in the Caribbean region at the beginning of the 21st Century Bringing together a wide range of case studies from both the insular Caribbean as well as mainland

Central and South America the book examines issues such as protected area planning sustainable development councils gender and development inner city redevelopment and community empowerment Cultivating Peace Marty Branagan, Bert Jenkins, Helen Ware, 2014-04-11 Cultivating Peace Contexts Practices and Multidimensional Models moves away from negative connotations associated with the concept of post conflict peacebuilding It embraces a multiplicity of trans disciplinary approaches to peacebuilding mostly coinciding with the eco horticultural metaphor of peace cultivation Ultimately the idea of cultivating peace embodies love and compassion while utilising local knowledge expertise and wisdom to do no harm Using various case studies from across the world the narratives and insights in this book present diverse facets of peacebuilding yet all contribute constructive lessons The chapters cover three general themes Some examine the structural and discursive causes of violence and how to improve situations where violence is evident or to prevent it from breaking out Others deal with the aftermath of violence and how to reconcile and restore shattered lives and societies The third group deals with positive social change by nonviolent means which is much more constructive than the negative peace of ceasefires and peace enforcement used to manage direct violence Promoting the ideal of peace cultivation this volume emphasises ways to improve things to suggest alternatives and to employ initiatives to plant and grow positive changes both during the fighting and in the aftermath of violent conflicts Asia's Heritage Trend Jongil Kim, Minjae Zoh, 2023-09-20 Kim and Zoh bring together a team of contributors to analyse the role of heritage studies across Asia and its impact on Asia and its constituent countries Is there such a thing as Asian heritage Is it more helpful to understand Asia as a single unit or as a set of sub regions What can we learn about Asia's present through its archaeology and heritage Covering a wide range of countries including Afghanistan Cambodia China Korea Laos Myanmar Japan Taiwan Thailand and Vietnam the contributors to this book address these key questions In doing so they look at a number of critical issues such as UNESCO World Heritage status cultural propaganda cultural erasure and difficult heritage While addressing Asia's past they also observe key issues within present day Asia further providing conceptual and practical insights into the methods that are being applied to the study of Asia's heritage today A valuable resource for scholars and students of Asian history and culture archaeology heritage studies anthropology and religious studies Grounding Urban Natures Henrik Ernstson, Sverker Sorlin, 2019-09-03 Case studies from cities on five continents demonstrate the advantages of thinking comparatively about urban environments The global discourse around urban ecology tends to homogenize and universalize relying on such terms as smart cities eco cities and resilience and proposing a science of cities based largely on information from the Global North Grounding Urban Natures makes the case for the importance of place and time in understanding urban environments Rather than imposing a unified framework on the ecology of cities the contributors use a variety of approaches across a range of locales and timespans to examine how urban natures are part of and are shaped by cities and urbanization Grounding Urban Natures offers case studies from cities on five continents that demonstrate the advantages of thinking comparatively about urban environments The contributors consider the diversity of urban natures analyzing urban ecologies that range from the coastal delta of New Orleans to real estate practices of the urban poor in Lagos They examine the effect of popular movements on the meanings of urban nature in cities including San Francisco Delhi and Berlin Finally they explore abstract urban planning models and their global mobility examining real world applications in such cities as Cape Town Baltimore and the Chinese eco city Yixing Contributors Mart n vila Amita Baviskar Jia Ching Chen Henrik Ernstson James Evans Lisa M Hoffman Jens Lachmund Joshua Lewis Lindsay Sawyer Sverker S rlin Anne Whiston Spirn Lance van Sittert Richard A Walker The Other World Craig Arceneaux,Anika Leithner,Sara Lopus,Benjamin F. genetics in biodiversity conservation Social contexts and global justice including conservation and community conflicts and biodiversity and cultural values Biodiversity and other environmental values How does biodiversity relate to other values like ecological restoration or ecological sustainability Essential reading for students and researchers in philosophy environmental science and environmental studies and conservation management it will also be extremely useful to those studying biodiversity in subjects such as biology and geography

'African Potentials' for Wildlife Conservation and Natural Resource Management Toshio Meguro, Chihiro Ito, 2021-10-01 This book focuses on two specific areas wildlife conservation policies and projects and the interaction between local societies and the surrounding environment in Africa Against the internationally dominant approach that regards Africa as being a state of deficiency this book demonstrates based on fieldwork concerning various natural resources e.g. wildlife forests fruit fish and land as well as many famous protected areas that African people are collectively and actively trying to solve the environmental problems they are facing by strategically utilising both indigenous means and new extrinsic opportunities Meanwhile it also becomes clear that wildlife conservation still continues to cause local societies a multitude of problems and the potentials of local people and societies are existing but unnoticed and suppressed by powerful outsiders and therefore remaining informal and invisible

To Purge the Forest by Force: Organized violence against Batwa in Kahuzi-Biega National Park Robert Flummerfelt, 2022-04-05 The Kahuzi Biega National Park in the Democratic Republic of the Congo a protected area and UNESCO World Heritage site that has received funding and material support from the German and US governments among other international supporters has long been celebrated as one of the most biodiverse places on the planet However park authorities there have engaged in a three year program of violent forced expulsions targeting the original human inhabitants of the park the indigenous Batwa of Kahuzi Biega who are among the most marginalized groups in the country This report To Purge the Forest by Force documents the highly organized grievous and widespread human rights abuses jointly carried out by park guards and Congolese Army soldiers against Batwa between 2019 and 2021 In October 2018 after four decades of broken promises of resettlement reparations and justice from the Congolese government and other stakeholders segments of Batwa communities returned to the park rebuilding villages on their ancestral lands Their return was met with swift and devastating violence by park authorities The report presents evidence of park guards and soldiers conducting three large scale operations between 2019-2021 targeting at least seven highly populated Batwa inhabited villages inside the park along with numerous smaller scale evictions and acts of repression Among other abuses dozens of Batwa have been killed injured arbitrarily detained or subjected to violent group rape in what amounts to a systematic campaign of violence designed to terrorize Batwa and drive them out of the park These large scale operations are illustrative flashpoints in the decades long process of marginalization and brutalization visited upon Batwa in the name of conservation Ongoing violence is rooted in the original expulsion from their ancestral homeland to pave the way for the creation of the park in the 1970s forcing an already marginalized indigenous community into decades of grinding impoverishment landlessness and displacement The story of the Batwa of Kahuzi Biega is not an isolated incident Instead it is emblematic of the widespread systemic violence inherent in the rigidly colonial conservation model widely used in East and Central Africa funded and facilitated by a network of international entities with deadly consequences for indigenous peoples and local communities living in the vicinity of protected areas The tragic events detailed in this report have been made possible by a culture of impunity that devalues indigenous life in service of a highly militarized approach inherent in the fortress conservation model excluding the land's original inhabitants in violation of international law
