What Do Pictures Want? W. J. T. Mitchell,2013-12-23 Why do we have such extraordinarily powerful responses toward the images and pictures we see in everyday life Why do we behave as if pictures were alive possessing the power to influence us to demand things from us to persuade us seduce us or even lead us astray According to W J T Mitchell we need to reckon with images not just as inert objects that convey meaning but as animated beings with desires needs appetites demands and drives of their own What Do Pictures Want explores this idea and highlights Mitchell s innovative and profoundly influential thinking on picture theory and the lives and loves of images Ranging across the visual arts literature and mass media Mitchell applies characteristically brilliant and wry analyses to Byzantine icons and cyberpunk films racial stereotypes and public monuments ancient idols and modern clones offensive images and found objects American photography and aboriginal painting Opening new vistas in iconology and the emergent field of visual culture he also considers the importance of Dolly the Sheep who as a clone fulfills the ancient dream of creating a living image and the destruction of the World Trade Center on 9 11 which among other things signifies a new and virulent form of iconoclasm What Do Pictures Want offers an immensely rich and suggestive account of the interplay between the visible and the readable A work by one of our leading theorists of visual representation it will be a touchstone for art historians literary critics anthropologists and philosophers alike A treasury of episodes generally overlooked by art history and visual studies that turn on images that walk by themselves and exert their own power over the living Norman Bryson Artforum Object-Based Learning and Well-Being Thomas Kador,Helen Chatterjee,2020-11-26 Object Based Learning and Well Being provides the first explicit analysis of the combined learning and well being benefits of working with material culture and curated collections Following on from the widely acclaimed Engaging the Senses this volume explicitly explores the connection between the value of material culture for both learning and well being Bringing together experts and practitioners from eight countries on four continents the book analyses the significance of curated collections for structured cultural interventions that may bring both educational and well being benefits Topics covered include the role of material culture in relation to mental health sensory impairments and general student and teacher well being Contributors also consider how collections can be employed to positively address questions of identity and belonging relating to marginalisation colonialism and forced displacement Object Based Learning and Well Being should be a key first point of reference for academics and students who are engaged in the study of object based learning museums heritage health and well being The book will be of particular interest to practitioners working in higher education or those working in the cultural heritage museums and health sectors Interactive Storytelling Lissa Holloway-Attaway,John T. Duchamp and Man Ray Remaking the Readymade reveals the underlying and previously unexplored processes and rationales for the collaboration between Duchamp, Man Ray and Arturo Schwarz on the replication of readymades and objects. The 1964 editioned replicas of the readymades sent shock waves through the art world. Even though the replicas undermined ideas of authorship and problematized the notion of identity and the artist they paradoxically shared in the aura of the originals becoming stand ins for the readymades. Scholar poet dealer Arturo Schwarz played a crucial role opening the door to joint or alternate authorship an outstanding relationship between artist and dealer. By unearthing previously unpublished correspondence and documentary materials and combining this material with newly conducted exclusive interviews with key participants Remaking the Readymade details heretofore unrevealed aspects of the technical processes involved in the re creation of iconic long lost Dada objects. Launched on the heels of the centenary of Duchamp's Fountain this new analysis intensifies and complicates our understanding of Duchamp and Man Ray initial conceptions and raises questions about replication and authorship that will stimulate significant debate about the legacy of the artists the continuing significance of their works and the meaning of terms such as creativity originality and value in the formation of art.

Arts-Based Research Across Textual Media in Education Jason DeHart, Peaches Hash, 2023-11-06 In company with its sister volume Arts Based Research Across Textual Media in Education explores arts based approaches to research across media including film and comics related material from a variety of geographic locations and across a range of subdisciplines within the field of education. This first volume takes a textual focus capturing process poetic and dramaturgical approaches. The authors aim to highlight some of the approaches that are not always centered in arts based research. The contributors represent a variety of arts based practices and methods and they weave this marrying of artistic and scientific expertise and experience into the fabric of the chapters themselves. Authors from international contexts speak to the importance of utilizing artistic approaches for research processes. From multimodal field notes to poetic forms to the dramaturgical chapters in this book represent steps forward in educational inquiry to bringing together both the creative and credible. The book includes multiple images and rich descriptions shared from the field. This first volume covers amongst other topics co created narratives creative fiction in research analytic portraits dramatic representation and critical poetic inquiry. It would be suitable for graduate students and scholars interested in qualitative inquiry and arts based methods in education and the social sciences.
