Developing an All-School Model for Elementary Integrative Music Learning Carol E. Reed-Jones, 2014-03 The purpose of this study was to investigate the potential for increasing informal music making in elementary school culture and create a model of such music making Precedence for this model can be found in the literature of ethnomusicology educational psychology and learning theory multicultural music education and cultural anthropology Literature from four distinct traditions and contexts of music making in integrative sociocultural contexts sub Saharan African ngoma and Community Music as manifested in New Orleans second lines old time music and dance and summer camp music making was parsed with a philosophical lens to determine and assess possible areas of intersection between these four participatory cultures and North American public school culture Each of these five areas was examined through a comprehensive review of literature to define their salient characteristics These characteristics were sorted to determine commonalities between areas and the zones of intersection became the basis for a speculative model of integrative music learning featuring the inclusion of musical opportunities and interludes throughout the school day thus taking school music beyond the confines of the music room Instruction in music classes would still continue enhanced in this model by supplemental learning opportunities inspired by the informal learning of traditional world musics the participatory practice of New Orleans second line parades old time music and dance and summer camp music culture This model of integrative learning is also informed by current educational best practices such as child centered learning peer tutoring experiential learning and multicultural perspectives It acknowledges the diversity of traditions consulted while aiming for the unity in their seemingly disparate disciplines Five universal characteristics were uncovered in the search for areas of intersection between North American elementary school culture child culture ngoma music making and Community Music style music making in New Orleans old time music and dance and summer camp contexts a Song b play c informal learning as evidenced by oral tradition peer tutoring self learning d kinesthetic learning and e contextualized learning as evidenced in the sociocultural uses of music and situated learning This model strives for the enactment of school music as a vital and integral part of daily school culture The Origins and

Foundations of Music Education Gordon Cox, Robin Stevens, 2011-11-03 This book is available as open access through the Bloomsbury Open Access programme and is available on www.bloomsburycollections.com This landmark collection explores the origins and foundations of music education across five continents and considers the inclusion of music as part of the compulsory school curriculum in the context of the historical and political landscape the aims objectives and content of the music curriculum teaching methods the provision and training of teachers of music the experiences of pupils Contributors have been carefully selected to represent countries which have incorporated music into compulsory schooling for a variety of differing reasons giving a diverse collection which will guide future actions and policy Transforming Music Education Estelle R. A Concise Survey of Music Philosophy Donald A. Hodges, 2016-10-04 A Concise Survey of Music Philosophy helps music students choose a philosophy that will guide them throughout their careers The book is divided into three sections central issues that any music philosophy ought to consider e g beauty emotion and aesthetics secondly significant philosophical positions exploring what major thinkers have had to say on the subject and finally opportunities for students to consider the ramifications of these ideas for themselves Throughout the book students are encouraged to make choices that will inform a philosophy of music and music education with which they are most comfortable to align Frequently music philosophy courses are taught in such a way that the teacher as well as the textbook used promotes a particular viewpoint A Concise Survey of Music Philosophy presents the most current prevalent philosophies for consideration Students think through different issues and consider practical applications There are numerous musical examples each with links from the author's home website to online video performances Examples are largely from the Western classical canon but also jazz popular and world music styles In the last two chapters students apply their views to practical situations and learn the differences between philosophy and advocacy Hodges has written an excellent resource for those wanting a short but meaningful introduction to the major concepts in music philosophy Applicable to a number of courses in the music curriculum this much needed book is both accessible and flexible containing musical examples tables and diagrams and additional readings that make it particularly useful for a student's general introduction to the topic I especially like the emphasis on the personal development of a philosophical position which makes the material especially meaningful for the student of music Peter R Webster Scholar in Residence Thornton School of Music University of Southern California USA

The Art of Teaching Music Estelle R. Jorgensen, 2008-03-19 Opens a conversation about the life and work of the music teacher The author regards music teaching as interrelated with the rest of lived life and her themes encompass pedagogical skills as well as matters of character disposition value personality and musicality She urges music teachers to think and act artfully
